Joins State, Private Officers in Inquiry on Sabotage Dynamiting of Three Installations.

SALT LAKE CITY, May 29 (UPI)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation, state and private authorities worked together today trying to solve the sabotage dynamiting of three microwave and cable relay towers in Utah. The explosions set off a National Guard and police alert at other key telephone installations in the nation.

The explosions at two unmanned microwave stations and a cable relay station in western Utah yesterday were deliberate, a police official said.

"It is definitely not the work of a crackpot," said Supt. Lyle Hyatt of the Utah Highway Patrol. "It looks like a professional job. It was too well planned and too well co-ordinated, and each blast was in a critical area."

The first blast, at 4:55 a.m., demolished a microwave tower three miles west of Wendover on the Utah-Nevada line. The second, 55 minutes later, felled a cable relay station at Knolls, Utah, 40 miles east. The third, 55 minutes later, crippled a microwave tower at Cedar Mountain, 20 miles farther east in Utah.

Guardsmen Called Out.

Hundreds of guardsmen were called out in six states to protect vital American Telephone and Telegraph Co. communications facilities after the explosions. The troops—in Utah, Idaho, Colorado, Nevada, Wyoming and New Mexico—were being replaced today by private watchmen in many instances. Additional private watchmen, state police and sheriff's deputies or a combination of the three were called yesterday to help watch stations in California, Michigan, Arkansas, Illinois, Arizona, Missouri and Kansas.

There have been fears that attempts would be made to cut off communications elsewhere in the nation, but reports of bombs at Denver and Maine proved unfounded.

National defense communications affected by the blasts were switched to alternate routes immediately by automatic equipment.

Emergency radio relay trucks were flown into Utah and arrived at the remote western desert sites of the blasted facilities today. They were pulled into position, their generators started and the units switched on to take over the relay function of the damaged stations.

Service Normal Soon.

It was expected normal service would be resumed on the facilities by tonight although many months would be needed to put the stations back into permanent operation.

Arthur Richards, a telephone company employe at Elko, Nev., picked up chunks of TNT wrapped in olive drab covers near the Wendover station and it was surmised this type of explosive may have been used.

Howard Blood, spokesman for the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Co. at Salt Lake City, said damage at the three blasted stations was estimated at $850,000.

CHICAGO, May 29 (AP)—There were 302 traffic deaths today with the extended Memorial day weekend more than half over. This was an average of more than four highway deaths an hour. In addition there were 37 drownings, 24 died in boating accidents and 56 from miscellaneous causes for a total of 419.

In Missouri seven highway fatalities, one drowning and one boating death were recorded and in Illinois there were 20 traffic deaths, four drownings and three from miscellaneous causes.

(United Press International said the council estimated there would be 415 traffic deaths in the 102 hours beginning at 6 p.m. yesterday and ending at midnight Tuesday.)

The council said traffic deaths would average 385 over a nonholiday period covering 102 hours from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Tuesday.

CITY HALL BIRDS SHY AWAY AFTER SHOCKING ADVENT

Pigeons, starlings and other birds which have made the ledges of City Hall their personal perches, shied away from them today because of a new electric device.

A network of wires and rods, called Electroscat and carrying low amperage current, has been installed on the ledges of the building at cost of $15,400. A similar system is being installed on the Municipal Courts building at a cost of $14,773.

A City Hall observer noted that when a bird lands on the electrified wires on a ledge and brushes against a rod, it immediately flies away and is not inclined to return.

"The birds get a low-amperage shock of electricity when they make contract," the observer said. "It's not enough to kill them, but is sure does discourage them."

$1,732,018 on the Cuff, London Tailor to Start Sending Bills

LONDON, May 29 (AP)—One of London's most famous tailors has decided to violate custom by asking its customers to pay debts totaling $1,732,018.

Britain's tailors long have refrained from billing their customers. Many a young man has boasted at the size of his tailor's bill. Some tailors were offended if offered cash.

This must end, says Gieves, a house founded 175 years ago. The letters it sent to its customers are models of discretion but they announce that starting next year interest will be charged on unpaid balances.

"One must move with the times, I'm afraid," says Rodney Gieve.

GAS MAIN BLAST INJURES TWO AND DAMAGES HOMES

An explosion today ripped a new high-pressure gas main leading to Laclede Gas Co's. underground facility in north St. Louis county, injuring two residents and damaging five homes in the area. The blast, at 8:10 a.m., was accompanied by a pillar of flame.

The break in the 20-inch main alongside New Jamestown road tore a crater 75 by 50 feet in the earth and rendered the macadem roadway impassable. Excited residents as far away as Alton telephoned police stations, seeking information about the blast.

Mrs. Edward Hoelzeman, 1919 New Jamestown road, and Mrs. Harvey Niehaus, 1927 New Jamestown, talking in their yards about 300 feet from the center of the explosion, were burned by the flash of flame. Both were taken to Faith Hospital suffering from first degree burns and shock.

Paint was scorched, shingles melted and glass was cracked in the Hoelzeman and Niehaus homes and three other nearby homes.

County Patrolman George Randolph, driving on U. S. Highway 67 at New Jamestown road, reported seeing a pillar of flame several hundred feet high. He also observed two sections of the gas main thrown about 100 feet in the air. The fire burned out quickly.

Telephone cable and electric wires strung above the road were torn down. Brush and grass was burned and a hole 15 to 20 feet deep was blasted in the earth. Ropes were stretched around the blast area and an immediate investigation was started to determine the cause.

Fire departments from Blackjack, Spanish Lake and Riverview were dispatched to the scene. St. Louis county police and the Highway Patrol moved in to take charge of traffic. Gas company emergency crews hurried to shut off the flow of gas, which is under 800 pounds pressure.

ROBERT KENNEDY ASKS ICC TO BAN SEGREGATION IN BUSSES, DEPOTS

Seeks Expeditious Ruling — Request Covers Waiting Rooms, Rest Rooms, Restaurants.

WASHINGTON, May 29 (UPI)—Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy asked the Interstate Commerce Commission today to issue regulations banning segregation in interstate bus transportation and terminal facilities.

Kennedy petitioned the commission to issue the regulations "as expeditiously as practical."

The Attorney General said it is "the unquestioned right of all persons to travel through the various states without being subjected to discrimination."

Kennedy's petition specifically asked the commission to issue regulations spelling out a ban on segregation at such terminal facilities used by interstate motor carriers as waiting rooms, rest rooms and restaurants.

The Attorney General noted in the petition that both the ICC and the Supreme Court have ruled out racial segregation aboard interstate busses and interstate trains, and that the Supreme Court ruled last December that a segregated restaurant in the Richmond (Va.) bus terminal violated the Interstate Commerce Act.

Nevertheless, he said, "Recent events that have taken place in certain states have disclosed a breakdown of guarantee of nondiscriminatory transportation to passengers in interstate commerce."

Aids reported that the Attorney General felt a general set of regulations putting into one document the previous commission and court decisions in this field would have to be accepted as applying to all parts of the country, and in that sense would be broader than a district court order in one federal district.

17 MORE FREEDOM RIDERS FACE TRIAL

JACKSON, Miss., May 29 (AP) — Seventeen more segregation-defying Freedom Riders go on trial in city court today amid report a fifth group would leave soon for Jackson in an attempt to crack the Deep South's Jim Crow barriers.

In Forest Park, Pa., the Freedom Riders' chief co-ordinator, Marvin Rich of New York, said a bus trip would be made to Jackson from New Orleans today or tomorrow.

In Jackson, 22 of 27 Freedom Riders convicted of breach of peace charges Friday were transferred today to the county farm. They will work their fines off at rate of $3 a day. Five had posted bond earlier and were released.

The 17 newly arrested Freedom Riders, 13 Negroes and four whites, go on trial on the same charges as the other 27.

Four separate groups of bus riders attempting to desegregate bus terminals through the South have arrived in Jackson since last Wednesday.

Two busloads from Montgomery, Ala., traveling about four hours apart from that riot-torn city, arrived and were arrested after entering white waiting rooms and failing to obey police orders to leave.

Sunday two more groups arrived — one from Montgomery and the other from Memphis. Both had left Nashville late Saturday.

The Memphis-to-New Orleans bus group, seven Negroes and two whites, were arrested in the morning. Eight more, six Negroes and two whites, were arrested on arrival in the afternoon. One of the latter contingent did not participate in the desegregation test and was not arrested.

MAJOR CONCESSION MADE BY WEST ON NUMBER OF BOMB-TEST INSPECTIONS

Kennedy Aids in Paris Optimistic About Accord With De Gaulle

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, May 29—Having hardened his position, President De Gaulle was ready today to accord President Kennedy all the pomp and circumstance that France knows how so well—out of the days of imperial splendor—to spread before the visitor of state.

The contrast between the grandeur of the outward show and the thin vein of agreement that the two men may reach in their private talks starting Wednesday was a wry commentary on the intensive efforts, the days of planning that have gone into this visit. But those closest to Mr. Kennedy who have come in advance to prepare the ground remain moderately optimistic.

They believe De Gaulle is bound to be impressed by the President's sincere desire to go as far as possible to reach an understanding with the lonely, lofty individual who speaks today for France. To substantiate their optimism they speak of Mr. Kennedy's success with Chancellor Adenauer and Prime Minister Macmillan.

But De Gaulle, as he is only too well aware, is in a class by himself. Some recent history taken in connection with a current rumor makes that abundantly clear.

After the Camp David talks with Premier Khrushchev in September 1959, former President Eisenhower projected a "four-power summit meeting to be held in December of that year. But De Gaulle insisted on having his own personal encounter with Khrushchev before a summit.

Eisenhower publicly expressed his disappointment over the delay enforced by De Gaulle. Khrushchev came to France in March of the following year, the U-2 fell over Sverdlovsk on May

LOBBYING GETS RIGHT DOWN TO LOWER LEVELS

© New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, May 29—Solid fuel rocket manufacturers appear to be carrying their lobbying at Capitol Hill right down to the secretarial level. When Representative Overton Brooks (Dem.), Louisiana, chairman of the House Space Committee, recently issued a statement on accellerated efforts to develop solid fuel rockets, one manufacturer wrote praising his foresight and courage.

To reinforce his point, the manufacturer sent copies of his letter by airmail special delivery to every member of the committee staff and its secretaries.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, incidentally, expressed the opinion the other day that too many manufacturers appeared to be spending too much advertising money on products that they sell only to the Defense Department. An action to investigate this situation, which troubled former President Eisenhower, appears imminent.

IRON CURTAIN DIPLOMAT DIGS U.S. HUMOR

© New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, May 29—In the process of widening Sixteenth street, N.W., and in relocating subterranean facilties beforehand, the District of Columbia government has dug a network of trenches and holes in front of the Soviet embassy.

The depth of the holes and the industry of the workers has led some observers to the sneaky thought that street widening may be a cover-up and that the Central Intelligence Agency may be digging another tunnel—it had one under East Berlin in 1957—under the Soviet chancery.

Asked about this the other day, a non-Russian but Iron Curtain diplomat replied with a straight face that this could not be the case because the workmen really were Soviet agents and they were tunneling under the CIA many blocks away.

PARIS, May 29 (UPI)—The United States embassy had to relax its request today that a meeting Thursday between Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and a group of French and American journalists be an all-feminine gathering.

JOHN G. TOWER, REPUBLICAN, NEW TEXAS SENATOR

Former Professor Is First in G.O.P. to Gain Seat From State Since 1877.

DALLAS, Tex., May 29 (AP)—John G. Tower has been elected the first Republican Senator in Texas since 1877 in Civil War Reconstruction days.

Tower, a 35-year-old former college professor, won Saturday's special United States Senate race by 8000 votes over William A. Blakley, a Democrat who holds the Senate seat by an interim appointment.

He had 444,815 votes or 50.45 per cent of the 881,630 votes counted to Blakley's 436,815. Approximately 7600 votes, not enough to change the outcome, still were unreported.

When Lyndon B. Johnson, who had campaigned successfully both for the vice presidency and for re-election as Senator in November, resigned his Senate seat early this year, Tower was one of the first to announce for the special April 4 election.

Was Political Unknown.

Tower was a political unknown when he quit as professor at Midwestern University last year to run on the Republican ticket against Johnson. Last fall Tower piled up 926,653 votes against Johnson's 1,306,625. It was the largest vote ever given a Texas Republican in a state race.

Tower was the only Republican in the April 4 election and the state Republican organization threw its full force into the campaign.

More than 70 Democrats, including Blakley and four others with proven support, ran in the same election. Blakley and Tower tried to outdo each other in bidding for the conservative vote.

Political professionals say that the Democrats made their first mistake when they failed to recognize Tower's strength and failed to narrow the field of candidates before the April 4 election. If such an effort was made, it failed.

Had the Democrats been able to concentrate on a moderate who could have appealed to both liberal and conservative wings of the party, Blakley might not have won the nomination.

Tsarapkin Says Offer Doesn't Appear Important but He Will Submit It to Moscow for Study.

GENEVA, May 29 (UPI)—The United States and Britain made a major concession to the Soviet Union today in the long-stalled negotiations for a treaty banning nuclear testing. The Western conferees offered to reduce the number of nuclear test ban on-site inspections from 20 to a minimum of 12.

The proposal was submitted by the chief United States delegate, Arthur H. Dean, in an effort to get the conference moving ahead with some progress after months of stalemate.

Details of Proposal.

Dean offered a plan, which would apply to all three countries, to permit a sliding scale of 12 to 20 inspections each year. He said the plan would call for 12 inspections on a nation's territory each year for the first 60 unidentified underground disturbances.

For every five additional unidentified underground disturbances, Dean said, there would be one additional inspection. Under the British-American plan there would be a minimum of 12 each year.

Semyon K. Tsarapkin, chief Soviet delegate, said the Western proposal "did not appear important."

The previous Western position at the 2½-year-old conference has been that each nation should submit to 20 on-site inspections. The Soviet Union has contended that there should be only three inspections.

Called Important Step.

Dean called the Anglo-American offer today a "major step forward" in attempts to get a nuclear test ban treaty.

The on-site inspection question has been an important one here. But the main stumbling block since the conference resumed March 21 after a recess has been the Soviet demand for a three-man board to head the control commission.

"The West has slightly modified its position, but of course I will send it to Moscow for study," he told reporters after today's two-hour meeting. "I cannot comment on it until I have studied it more carefully."

Polish Catholics Defy Reds.

NEGRO STRIKE IN SOUTH AFRICA SAID TO BE SHORT OF FULL SUCCESS

Roads Blocked and Workers' Busses Stoned as Three-Day Walkout Starts — Many Off Jobs.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, May 29 (AP)—A three-day strike called by political leaders of South Africa's Negro, voteless majority opened today but not with universal success. The strike is due to run until South Africa cuts ties with Britain and becomes a republic Wednesday.

South African police and troops were mobilized to protect Negroes, mulattos and Indians who wanted to work, and many of them chose to report as usual.

Thousands, however, stayed at home in Johannesburg, Port Elizabeth, Durban and some other major cities.

Roads Are Blocked.

On the eve of the strike, Negro mobs blocked roads in the Durban and Port Elizabeth areas and stoned the busses of workers. Road blocks were formed of gasoline drums, poles and rocks.

A Negro bus driver was shot and wounded while driving through a stone-throwing gang in Port Elizabeth.

Frightened drivers wanted to quit but police promised them protection, and escorted the busses through.

The government-controlled South African radio quoted police and military officials as saying, "The natives are going to work as usual. . . . There is no support for the strike call in Johannesburg."

However, a high percentage of the Negroes employed in Johannesburg obviously stayed away from their jobs. Hardly any were to be seen on the streets that normally are crowded with them in the morning rush hour. The railroad station was almost deserted when it should have been jammed.

The South African Press Association estimated only a fifth of the usual number of Negro workers came in by train.

Strength in Cities.

The strike showed strength in Port Elizabeth, a major industrial and shipping center in Cape Province. The press association reported a large percentage of the Negroes were striking. However, elsewhere in Cape Province Negro and mixed blood workers generally ignored the strike call.

The strike was timed to reach a climax Wednesday, when South Africa becomes a republic outside the British Commonwealth. The demonstration was in protest against Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd's refusal to discuss demands that the right to vote and serve in the government be extended from the country's 3,000,000 whites to its 11,000,000 Negroes, 1,500,000 persons of mixed blood and 500,000 Indians.

All police and troops in South Africa, plus 5000 reservists called up for the emergency, were mobilized to back up Verwoerd's promise that any Negro wanting to work would be given protection.

Whites Armed.

White families were armed for self-defense, and had food supplies against any shortage.

To avoid crossing picket lines many Africans came to Johannesburg by train last night from outlying Negro settlements and spent the night in their employers' factories and stores.

Africans had been told that if they struck, they would lose their jobs and might be deported from the cities to faraway reserves.

African organizations were divided over the walkout. The African National Congress favored it. The Pan Africanist Congress opposed it. There was no clear indication that the racially mixed groups (called "coloreds" in South Africa) and the Indians would take part.

The strike was handicapped because most of the experienced African leaders were in jail. Ten thousand had been arrested in recent weeks.

13 ARE KILLED IN R.A.F. PLANE CRASH AT SINGAPORE

SINGAPORE, May 29 (UPI)—A Royal Air Force four-engine cargo plane caught fire and crashed here today, killing 13 persons. An R.A.F. spokesman said there were no survivors among the five crewmen and eight British soldiers.

The plane was taking part in an air exercise, flying from Changi air base to nearby Seletar air base when the accident occurred. Both bases are on Singapore island.

NIKE ZEUS RADAR TRACKS AN ATLAS SUCCESSFULLY

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—Target-tracking radar for the Nike Zeus anti-missle system has been tested successfully against a fast traveling intercontinental ballistic missile, the Defense Department announced today.

The radar equipment, on Ascension island in the South Atlantic, tracked an Atlas missile fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Saturday. Ascension is about 4500 miles downrange from Canaveral, midway between South American and Africa.

The target-tracking radar is one of the key elements in the complex Zeus system, which is designed to send a missile to destroy oncoming enemy I.C.B.M. before they can reach United States targets. The Zeus system has not yet been fully tested. The Kennedy administration has declined to allow any production work on the antimissile until this has been done.

OWEN (BERT) BRENNAN DIES; ADVISER TO HOFFA

DETROIT, May 29 (AP) — Owen (Bert) Brennan, an international vice president of the Teamsters and adviser of James R. Hoffa in his climb to the top of the union, died of cancer yesterday in a hospital. He was 57 years old.

He was president of Dertoit Local 337 of the Teamsters. A business agent in the building trades union 30 years ago, he shifted to the Teamsters about the time Hoffa, then a grocery warehouse worker, was organizing fellow warehousemen into Local 299 of the Teamsters. They became fast friends and remained so.

Hoffa became president of Local 299 and when he won control of Detroit Teamsters he installed his friend as Local 337 president.

2 Dead in Storm in Japan.

TOKYO, May 29 (AP)—Tropical Storm Betty ripped through Tokyo today and across Japan, leaving two dead and 65 injured. With winds up to 84 miles an hour, the storm snarled land and sea traffic. As a full-scale typhoon, it killed seven and injured 197 on Formosa Friday.

POLAND DENIES HIGH OFFICIAL FLED TO WEST

WARSAW, May 29 (AP)—The Polish Foreign Ministry described as "pure nonsense" today Western reports that Deputy Interior Minister Antoni Alster has fled to the West.

Friends of the security official also denied the reports. They said Alster is recuperating in Warsaw from an automobile crash eight or nine months ago. He suffered multiple injuries and is unable to go to his office regularly but does most of his work at home, these informants said.

A London newspaper quoted Polish emigre sources in London as saying Alster fled 10 weeks ago through West Berlin and is now in Washington. The United States Embassy in Warsaw denies any knowledge of the matter.

(In Washington the Central Intelligence Agency said it would have no comment on the report.)

BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY TO VISIT U.S. JUNE 13 TO 16

LONDON, May 29 (UPI)—Foreign Secretary Lord Home will visit the United States June 13 to 16, the Foreign Office announced today.

He will meet with United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold in New York and with Secretary of State Dean Rusk in Washington.

Home will make an address in Chicago to the Council on Foreign Relations. Foreign Office sources said the British government wants the Foreign Secretary to have the opportunity to appear before audiences in the Midwest, a section that is regarded in Britain as having a key voice in the molding of American public opinion.

The tower near Wendover was left standing after the explosion, but the one near Cedar mountain was knocked to a leaning position. Only one wall was left standing at the repeater station near Knolls.

The microwave stations compose a form of radio communication used in place of wires. There are hundreds throughout the nation that relay signals on line-of-sight transmission. A microwave channel can carry up to 1800 different conversations or messages. Repeater stations are used to boost signals along an underground cable.

Supt. Hyatt said huge charges were set off inside the relay tower buildings and in one case quick drying cement was used to seal ventilators to confine the blast and increase damage.

BUDGET FOR USIA CUT $16,690,000 BY COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—President Kennedy's request for a bigger budget for the United States Information Agency was turned down today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The reduced budget did not, however, affect the Voice of America, the information agency's program of foreign broadcasting.

The President originally sought $151,480,000 for the USIA, this country's foreign propaganda organization. Last Thursday, in a special message to Congress, he asked that "the funds previously requested for this effort not only be approved in full but increased." The requested increase amounted to about $3,000,000.

Action on Other Budgets.

The committee action was included in a $751,300,000 bill financing the State and Justice Departments, the USIA, the federal courts and the Civil Rights Commission for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The Civil Rights Commission, which expires next November unless Congress extends its life, was given the $302,000 it requested.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation received the entire $127,200,000 it sought, including funds for employment of 50 more agents. It was the tenth consecutive year that the FBI budget was allowed in full.

The $134,780,000 alloted the USIA called for cuts in many operations. But even with the reduction, the USIA would get $3,080,000 more than it received this year.

"With more effective and efficient use of the resources now available to this agency," the committee said, "the total amount should be ample to carry on an expanded program in Africa and Latin America as well as a more creditable program in the other areas of the world."

Stage Project Questioned.

The committee questioned the advisability of spending $950,000 to stage plays in Europe and South America with actors' salaries running as high as $2500 a week.

The committee approved a request for $1,850,000 to build immediately a portable relay broadcasting station for possible use in Liberia pending completion of a permanent station there. It rejected additional funds to construct the Liberian project six months ahead of schedule on an overtime labor basis.

The State Department's share of the bill was $267,480,000, a cut of $31,890,000 from presidential request.

The department's foreign building program was cut $10,800,000 as the committee complained about "unrealistic and exorbitant" construction plans for houses and buildings in Ankara, Turkey, and Kabul, Afghanistan.

The entire $61,580,000 for United States contributions to international organizations was approved. Largest item was $28,450,000 for the United Nations and its specialized agencies.

Other State Department allotments included $10,000,000 to build a second international storage dam on the Rio Grande at Amistad, $33,600,000 for international educational exchange programs, and $1,000,000 for work on the Rama road in Nicaragua.

Supreme Court Holds Sunday Blue Laws Are Constitutional

Rules on Restrictive Legislation in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—The Supreme Court upheld today constitutionality of Sunday blue laws.

Blue laws, which restrict Sunday activities in many states, originated in colonial America to compel observance of the Sabbath.

Lawyers attacking the statutes said they have become "a lethal weapon in the economic war of competition" among retailers. The lawyers also argued the laws were religious statutes, enforcement of which violated the United States Constitution.

The advent of the Sunday super-market, the super-drug store, and giant discount emporiums in suburbs and along major highways brought vigorous complaints from downtown business interests, along with demands for enforcement of Sunday closing laws.

Some church organizations also sought stricter enforcement of the laws, while some Orthodox Jews and Seventh Day Adventists who observe Saturday as the Sabbath opposed what was termed interference in religion.

The Supreme Court upheld Sunday closing laws in decisions in the last century. Those decisions were based on a "day of rest" doctrine whcih held the laws were essentially civil rather than religious in nature.

In recent years the court has rejected various appeals challenging blue laws. It said no substantial federal question was presented.

Another blue law appeal was by eight employes of a corporation called "Two Guys From Harrison, Inc.," who worked in a branch highway store of that firm in the Glen Burnie area of Anne Arundel county, Md.

The eight were convicted of illegal Sunday sale of items such as floor wax, looseleaf notebook and a toy submarine. Each was fined $5 and the Maryland law was upheld on their appeal to the Maryland Court of Appeals.

Chief Justice Warren, in upholding the Maryland law, said that the court was not saying that Sunday legislation may not be a violation of the constitutional ban against government aid to religion.

Warren said that if it were demonstrated that the purpose was to use a state's coercive power to aid religion, the legislation would be unconstitutional.

Justice William O. Douglas dissented in the Maryland case, as he did in all of the blue law decisions today.

In other actions today, the Supreme Court:

Held that the Federal Government cannot be compelled to pay damages to a home-buyer if a Federal Housing Administration appraisal of the property turns out to be wrong. The majority said Congress did not intend to make such an appraisal "a warranty of value."

Agreed to review a Florida Supreme Court decision upholding Florida's loyalty oath as applied to teachers.

KENNEDY VETOES FIRST BILL

WASHINGTON, May 29 (UPI)—President Kennedy has vetoed his first bill, the White House reported today.

The bill he rejected, sending it back to the House, was a private relief bill. Its aim was to forgive repayment to the government of pension checks received by a World War I veteran who was not eligible for them. In a message to the House, Kennedy said the veteran, William Joseph Vincent of Albany, N.Y., should have known he was not eligible.

MUTINY LEADER COLLAPSES AT TRIAL IN PARIS

PARIS, May 29 (AP)—Former Gen. Andre Zeller, on trial for his life for leading a military insurrection in Algeria, collapsed today when he tried to speak in his own defense. He was carried from the courtroom.

The 63-year-old former army chief of staff was almost incoherent as he began his defense. He started to speak after co-defendant Maurice Challe completed his own defense. Both men were stripped of their rank as generals after the rebellion.

Zeller collapsed but resumed his testimony after a short recess. He had begun again when he slumped back in his chair once more with his hands over his eyes.

Challe had testified, "You can count those who flatly refused to follow us on the fingers of your two hands."

Defending his opposition to the Algerian policies of President De Gaulle, whom he hoped to topple from power, Challe said the French army now "is only united in its despair."

He said officers in Algeria no longer have any faith in anything. He laid failure of the generals' revolt last month to hesitation of some army leaders and to supposed Communist influence among French draftees who in general opposed the coup.

Challe and Zeller gave themselves up after the rebellion failed. Their two companions in the military uprising, Gen. Raoul Salan and Gen. Edwond Jou-

KENNEDY OFFERS BILL TO RETRAIN JOBLESS AND RELOCATE THEM

WASHINGTON, May 29 (UPI)—President Kennedy asked Congress today for legislation to permit retraining of unemployed workers.

They would be paid while they learn new skills, and the federal government would foot up to half their bills moving to new locations where jobs can be found.

The President sent Congress his draft of a bill to carry out the retraining program which he outlined in general terms in his extraordinary State of the Union message ao the House and Senate last Thursday.

"The need for prompt enactment of this legislation is clear," Mr. Kennedy said in identical letters to Speaker Sam Rayburn and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, the president of the Senate.

President's Appeal.

"The unemployed whose skills have been rendered obsolete by automation and other technological changes must be equipped with new skills enabling them to become productive members of our society once again," he said.

He asserted also that "the skills of other workers must also be improved to enable them to meet the more demanding requirements of modern industry."

If the legislation is passed, Mr. Kennedy said he contemplates the training and retraining of several hundred thousand workers over a four-year period.

He gave no cost estimate of the program. Earlier the White House had indicated that about $60,000,000 would be spent in the first 12 months.

Letter From Goldberg.

Along with his own letter and the text of the bill, the President sent a copy of a letter from Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg in which Goldberg said, "This legislation is of the utmost importance in dealing with the problems of unemployment and in meeting the occupational demands of the nation."

Under terms of the bill, jobless workers could get up to 52 weeks of training for new work.

Where the training is given on the job, employers' payments also could be supplemented by the Government. No supplementary payments would be made, however, which would bring the trainee's total weekly compensation to more than $46.

EAST MISSOURI, SOUTHERN ILLINOIS IS DISASTER AREA

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 29—President Kennedy today designated all of eastern Missouri and southern Illinois, including the St. Louis metropolitan area, a disaster area as a result of the May 5-9 storms and tornadoes.

The action means that local governments in the disaster area can obtain federal assistance to repair roads, bridges, public buildings, levees, sewers and water facilities, among other things. The governments will be eligible also for reimbursement for money spent on emergency measures.

In Jefferson City, Dean Lupkey, Missouri director of civil defense, said counties and municipalities eligible for federal aid, should forward ther damage estimates to state civil defense headquarters by next Wednesday.

A 17-day strike of 600 Rexall Drug Co. employes ended yesterday when union members approved a contract providing for a 16-cents-an-hour increase over a two-year period.

Robert Bickel, district director of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers, Local 8-136, said employes returned to their jobs today at the drug firm's plant at 3915 Kingshighway and warehouse at 153 Brown street, Hazelwood.

Bickel said the agreement calls for a 10-cent increase retroactive to May 10, a 6-cent boost next May 10, an improved pension plan and other contract improvements. He said the new contract was ratified by a vote of 354 to 70.

PARADES, PICNICS ARE PLANNED FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Parades, wreath-laying ceremonies and picnics are among Memorial Day activities planned in the St. Louis area. Generally fair skies and slightly cooler temperatures are expected tomorrow, the Weather Bureau said.

A parade through the downtown area will begin at 2:30 p.m., followed by ceremonies honoring America's war dead at Soldiers Memorial, Thirteenth and Locust streets.

Another ceremony will begin at 10:30 a.m. at Jefferson Barracks with a parade to the National Cemetery. Many memorial services and ceremonies will be conducted by veterans and patriotic organizations throughout the St. Louis area.

Picnickers were cautioned by Dr. J. Earl Smith, director of St. Louis health and hospitals, to be sure the water they drink is free of contamination. Water should be boiled for at least 10 minutes if there is any doubt of its purity, he said.

All members of the Missouri Highway Patrol will be on duty tomorrow in an effort to reduce accidents by strictly enforcing traffic regulations. Helicopters of the patrol will be used for observing highways in the state.

MANCHESTER FIRE VOLUNTEERS SEEK FULL-TIME STATUS

The 53-year-old Manchester Volunteer Fire Department would become a full-time paid department under a petition filed at Clayton today for its incorporation as the Manchester Fire Protection District.

Facilities valued at $78,000, including the firehouse at Manchester road and Henry avenue and two pumper trucks would be taken over by the new department, its was stated. Operating cost of about $20,000 a year would be defrayed by a tax of 20 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation.

The district to be served, including the municipalities of Manchester and Winchester, has about 5500 population, 3000 business, residential and farm properties and an assessed valuation totaling about $10,000,000, the petition said. The proposed fire district would be the twenty-third of its kind in St. Louis county.

C. Kenneth Thies, attorney for the petitioners, said: "The day of the volunteer fire department is about over in St. Louis county. The present organization has 27 volunteer firemen, but this is not sufficient for the kind of protection the community now needs."

of Chain-of-Rocks Bridge to the underground storage facility on Sinks road northwest of the intersection of State Route 140 and Old Jamestown road. The line is buried an average of three feet below the surface, varying somewhat with the terrain, a company spokesman said. The depth at the scene of the blast was about 10 feet, it was stated.

Company engineers said the explosion apparently was caused by the rupture of a lengthwise seam in a section of pipe. There was no effect on service, as the line was being used only to carry gas for storage in the underground facility for use in the next heating season.

GRADUATING GIRLS SPEND NIGHT IN OPEN AS STUNT

About 100 students who participated were favored by the weather. The low was a mild 57 degrees. Some girls pitched tents while others slept in sleeping bags. All returned to classes this morning.

The girls said the object of the stunt was to have fun without vandalism.

Three years ago the school received unfavorable publicity when two senior boys felled a large cypress tree on the campus as an April Fool's day prank. The 100-year-old tree was valued at $2500.

MRS. MARGARET WILHELM ARRESTED IN ABORTION CASE

A warrant charging criminal abortion will be sought against Mrs. Margaret Wilhelm, 70 years old, of the 3900 block of South Grand boulevard, on complaint of a 40-year-old southwest St. Louis woman, police said today.

Mrs. Wilhelm, a former midwife, was arrested at her home last night after the younger woman reported the alleged illegal operation to physicians at City Hospital, where she had gone for treatment earlier in the day. She said she paid Mrs. Wilhelm $300 for the operation last Thursday.

Mrs. Wilhelm denied the allegation. She has been arrested about 12 times since 1934 as an abortion suspect. In 1946 she was fined $500 in circuit court on her plea of guilty of performing an illegal operation.

CITY STILL HAS CHANCE TO GET SHEPARD CAPSULE

St. Louis still has a chance to get the space capsule in which Astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. made his historic flight last May 5, an assistant to President Kennedy stated in a letter received today by Mayor Raymond R. Tucker.

The letter said it has not yet been determined where the capsule will be housed, and that "your invitation to display the capsule in your new planetarium will most certainly be considered when the final decision is made."

The letter, written by Frederick G. Dutton, noted that a proposal has been made that the Smithsonian Institution in Washington would be the most suitable repository for the space capsule. Project Mercury officials earlier had said that that capsule has been promised to the Smithsonian.

Mayor Tucker sent a written request to President Kennedy that the capsule be lodged in St. Louis. The Mayor suggested that the new planetarium under construction in Forest Park would make the best setting. The capsule was built here by McDonnell Aircraft Corp.

AUTO THEFT SUSPECT CAUGHT AFTER CHASE

An automobile theft was interrupted early today by a Brentwood police officer, setting off a high-speed chase in three municipalities. Police arrested one man, but another got away. One shot was fired by police in the pursuit.

The episode began at 4 a.m. when Brentwood Patrolman Joseph Stark saw one car pushing another south in the 1500 block of Brentwood boulevard. As Stark approached, a man slipped from behind the wheel of the car in front and hurriedly entered the second vehicle, which then sped away.

The officer began chasing the fleeing car south on Brentwood and east on Rose avenue. A large object thrown into his path caused Stark to swerve and apply his brakes. By the time he recovered, the other car was out of sight.

The object in the road was a tool chest which police later learned had been stolen from the Nickl Auto Body Co., 1105 South Brentwood boulevard, Richmond Heights.

Stolen From Auto Company.

Minutes after Stark dropped out of the chase, Richmond Heights Police Capt. James Riley and Patrolman Lee Andrews saw a car traveling east on Dale avenue at a high rate of speed and with the headlights off. They chased the car at speeds up to 80 miles an hour.

The pursuit came to an end at Bredell avenue and Manchester boulevard in Maplewood when the car in front skidded to a stop. The two occupants began to run.

Riley, close behind, fired a shot in the air and called to the men to halt. One man did and was arrested. The other man escaped, despite a search by Richmond Heights, Maplewood and Brentwood police who converged on the intersection. Smoky, a police dog of the Brentwood department, tracked the fugitive for five blocks before losing the scent.

Refuses to Make Statement.

The arrested man, Robert Lawrence, 20 years old, of the 8100 block of Hicks avenue, Richmond Heights, refused to make a statement. He was booked suspected of automobile theft, burglary and several traffic charges.

Lawrence has been arrested twice before in the last three months. On Feb. 28, he was charged with resisting arrest in St. Louis in a melee after someone shot at Patrolman Stanley Beck at a tavern at 1440 North Broadway. Beck was knocked down but uninjured by the bullet, which struck a button on his uniform coat. Police were unable to learn who fired the shot.

St. Louis county police say Lawrence has admitted being one of three men who beat and robbed John Bitzer of 319 Jefferson avenue, Valley Park, on March 24. The robbers forced Bitzer's car off Marshall road south of Kirkwood, threatened him with a pistol, beat him and took $70, five cases of beer and a case of whisky, vodka and wine.

Lawrence has been charged in a warrant with first-degree robbery.

LIQUOR STORE ON EASTON HELD UP BY ARMED MAN

Sam Karsh, owner of a package liquor store at 5190 Easton avenue, was robbed of an undetermined amount of money today by an armed man, police said.

Karsh told police the man displayed a revolver after asking for a pint of liquor and a package of cigarettes. The man instructed Karsh to empty the cash register and a floor safe before fleeing from the store. Karsh, who said he has been robbed six times in the past two years, declined to estimate the amount taken. He was alone at the time of the robbery.

Declares Renewal Projects Lead Only to Rearranging Slum Areas

A massive urban redevelopment project can result in nothing more than a rearrangement of slum neighborhoods because those displaced by the renewal projects are usually forced into a single neighborhood, David J. Pittman, director of the Social Science Institute at Washington University, said last night.

In most cases, urban renewal projects are carried out in predominately Negro neighborhoods, Pittman observed. However, he noted, Negroes do not have free access to all of the available housing in the St. Louis area.

Consequently, those displaced by a renewal project flood one neighborhood where they can obtain housing, with the sudden crowding leading to deterioration of the neighborhood, he said.

The unwillingness of many families displaced by redevelopment programs to move into public housing aggravates the "spillover" problem, the speaker said, adding that a basic study of the reasons for the lack of appeal of public housing for many who are eligible is needed.

Pittman called for greater emphasis on neighborhood rehabilitation so as to eliminate "incipient slum areas." Planning for massive urban renewal projects should be coupled with planning for slum prevention in other areas of the community if urban redevelopment is to succeed, he said.

Up to now, the speaker related, officials have displayed a lack of imagination in trying to combat blight. Pittman noted that the city has spent less than $500,000 of the $4,000,000 earmarked for neighborhood rehabilitation in the 1955 municipal bond issue.

"Throughout the last decade, here and in other cities, major reliance has been on urban renewal and public housing," Pittman said. "There is now a serious question whether this is the correct long-term solution to urban problems."

If another "massive, bulldozing urban redevelopment project is undertaken in St. Louis," the speaker said, the result will be the collapse "of the social organization and structure of north St. Louis," where the uprooted families will pour in in great numbers.

The Justice Department is asking United States District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. for an injunction to compel police in the two cities to protect freedom riders and other interstate bus passengers in the future.

The Justice Department has charged that police authorities here and in Birmingham deliberately failed to prevent threatened mob violence.

Meanwhile, Gov. John Patterson announced that martial rule in Montgomery will end at midnight tonight. The Governor called out National Guard troops eight days ago after a mob stormed a Negro church to climax racial violence over the arrival of Freedom Riders.

Three Nominations Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, May 29 (UPI)—The Senate confirmed today by voice vote the following diplomatic nominations: Thomas E. Estes to be ambassador to Upper Volta, Parker T. OLD PARKS FIELD WILL BE AIRPORT FOR EXECUTIVES

East St. Louis C. of C. Says Oliver L. Parks Will Be Manager at $1 a Year.

The old Parks Metropolitan Airport south of East St. Louis will be reopened as a field for executive aircraft, probably within a few months, the East St. Louis Chamber of Commerce announced today.

J. H. Reed, manager of the chamber, said existing facilities at the field will be improved. He said the chamber has obtained options on the535-acre airport property plus 136 acres of adjacent land.

Reed indicated that the property probably will be used at first on a lease basis. He said the Federal Aviation Authority has approved plans for the airport. The F.A.A. will set the date when the field can open, he said, adding that he expected a report "in a matter of weeks."

Owned by National Homes.

The airport now is owned by Indiana National Homes, Inc., a subsidiary of National Homes, Inc., which is a firm dealing in prefabricated homes. When the property was sold in 1958, it was to be used for development of a subdivision. However, the development never took place.

Reed said the proposed field will have three runways eventually. Surveys indicate that they will range from 7700 to 12,000 feet, he said. The present runways are 4000 and 3500 feet long.

Non-Profit Corporation.

The airport will be operated temporarily by an Illinois not-for-profit corporation, the Southwest Metropolitan Memorial Airport Association, Inc., and will be managed by Oliver L. Parks, who once owned the airport. Reed said Parks will receive $1 a year for his services.

Incorporators are Reed; Harold G. Baker, president of the chamber; Robert E. Hackmann, vice president; Robert E. Solden, chairman of the chamber's airport committee; Mayor Leo J. Sauget of Monsanto; Mayor Orville Bremer of Cahokia and Mayor Alvin G. Fields of East St. Louis.

Reed said the field may be able to be expanded into a major airport eventually to relieve commercial traffic at Lambert-St. Louis Field.

NEGRO STRIKE IN SOUTH AFRICA SAID TO BE SHORT OF FULL SUCCESS

Roads Blocked and Workers' Busses Stoned as Three-Day Walkout Starts — Many Off Jobs.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, May 29 (AP)—A three-day strike called by political leaders of South Africa's Negro, voteless majority opened today but not with universal success. The strike is due to run until South Africa cuts ties with Britain and becomes a republic Wednesday.

South African police and troops were mobilized to protect Negroes, mulattos and Indians who wanted to work, and many of them chose to report as usual.

Thousands, however, stayed at home in Johannesburg, Port Elizabeth, Durban and some other major cities.

Roads Are Blocked.

On the eve of the strike, Negro mobs blocked roads in the Durban and Port Elizabeth areas and stoned the busses of workers. Road blocks were formed of gasoline drums, poles and rocks.

A Negro bus driver was shot and wounded while driving through a stone-throwing gang in Port Elizabeth.

Frightened drivers wanted to quit but police promised them protection, and escorted the busses through.

The government-controlled South African radio quoted police and military officials as saying, "The natives are going to work as usual. . . . There is no support for the strike call in Johannesburg."

However, a high percentage of the Negroes employed in Johannesburg obviously stayed away from their jobs. Hardly any were to be seen on the streets that normally are crowded with them in the morning rush hour. The railroad station was almost deserted when it should have been jammed.

The South African Press Association estimated only a fifth of the usual number of Negro workers came in by train.

Strength in Cities.

The strike showed strength in Port Elizabeth, a major industrial and shipping center in Cape Province. The press association reported a large percentage of the Negroes were striking. However, elsewhere in Cape Province Negro and mixed blood workers generally ignored the strike call.

The strike was timed to reach a climax Wednesday, when South Africa becomes a republic outside the British Commonwealth. The demonstration was in protest against Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd's refusal to discuss demands that the right to vote and serve in the government be extended from the country's 3,000,000 whites to its 11,000,000 Negroes, 1,500,000 persons of mixed blood and 500,000 Indians.

All police and troops in South Africa, plus 5000 reservists called up for the emergency, were mobilized to back up Verwoerd's promise that any Negro wanting to work would be given protection.

Whites Armed.

White families were armed for self-defense, and had food supplies against any shortage.

To avoid crossing picket lines many Africans came to Johannesburg by train last night from outlying Negro settlements and spent the night in their employers' factories and stores.

Africans had been told that if they struck, they would lose their jobs and might be deported from the cities to faraway reserves.

African organizations were divided over the walkout. The African National Congress favored it. The Pan Africanist Congress opposed it. There was no clear indication that the racially mixed groups (called "coloreds" in South Africa) and the Indians would take part.

The strike was handicapped because most of the experienced African leaders were in jail. Ten thousand had been arrested in recent weeks.

SINGAPORE, May 29 (UPI)—A Royal Air Force four-engine cargo plane caught fire and crashed here today, killing 13 persons. An R.A.F. spokesman said there were no survivors among the five crewmen and eight British soldiers.

The plane was taking part in an air exercise, flying from Changi air base to nearby Seletar air base when the accident occurred. Both bases are on Singapore island.

NIKE ZEUS RADAR TRACKS AN ATLAS SUCCESSFULLY

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—Target-tracking radar for the Nike Zeus anti-missle system has been tested successfully against a fast traveling intercontinental ballistic missile, the Defense Department announced today.

The radar equipment, on Ascension island in the South Atlantic, tracked an Atlas missile fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Saturday. Ascension is about 4500 miles downrange from Canaveral, midway between South American and Africa.

The target-tracking radar is one of the key elements in the complex Zeus system, which is designed to send a missile to destroy oncoming enemy I.C.B.M. before they can reach United States targets. The Zeus system has not yet been fully tested. The Kennedy administration has declined to allow any production work on the antimissile until this has been done.

OWEN (BERT) BRENNAN DIES; ADVISER TO HOFFA

DETROIT, May 29 (AP) — Owen (Bert) Brennan, an international vice president of the Teamsters and adviser of James R. Hoffa in his climb to the top of the union, died of cancer yesterday in a hospital. He was 57 years old.

He was president of Dertoit Local 337 of the Teamsters. A business agent in the building trades union 30 years ago, he shifted to the Teamsters about the time Hoffa, then a grocery warehouse worker, was organizing fellow warehousemen into Local 299 of the Teamsters. They became fast friends and remained so.

Hoffa became president of Local 299 and when he won control of Detroit Teamsters he installed his friend as Local 337 president.

POLAND DENIES HIGH OFFICIAL FLED TO WEST

WARSAW, May 29 (AP)—The Polish Foreign Ministry described as "pure nonsense" today Western reports that Deputy Interior Minister Antoni Alster has fled to the West.

Friends of the security official also denied the reports. They said Alster is recuperating in Warsaw from an automobile crash eight or nine months ago. He suffered multiple injuries and is unable to go to his office regularly but does most of his work at home, these informants said.

A London newspaper quoted Polish emigre sources in London as saying Alster fled 10 weeks ago through West Berlin and is now in Washington. The United States Embassy in Warsaw denies any knowledge of the matter.

(In Washington the Central Intelligence Agency said it would have no comment on the report.)

BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY TO VISIT U.S. JUNE 13 TO 16

LONDON, May 29 (UPI)—Foreign Secretary Lord Home will visit the United States June 13 to 16, the Foreign Office announced today.

Home will make an address in Chicago to the Council on Foreign Relations. Foreign Office sources said the British government wants the Foreign Secretary to have the opportunity to appear before audiences in the Midwest, a section that is regarded in Britain as having a key voice in the molding of American public opinion.

The tower near Wendover was left standing after the explosion, but the one near Cedar mountain was knocked to a leaning position. Only one wall was left standing at the repeater station near Knolls.

The microwave stations compose a form of radio communication used in place of wires. There are hundreds throughout the nation that relay signals on line-of-sight transmission. A microwave channel can carry up to 1800 different conversations or messages. Repeater stations are used to boost signals along an underground cable.

Supt. Hyatt said huge charges were set off inside the relay tower buildings and in one case quick drying cement was used to seal ventilators to confine the blast and increase damage.

BUDGET FOR USIA CUT $16,690,000 BY COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—President Kennedy's request for a bigger budget for the United States Information Agency was turned down today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The reduced budget did not, however, affect the Voice of America, the information agency's program of foreign broadcasting.

The President originally sought $151,480,000 for the USIA, this country's foreign propaganda organization. Last Thursday, in a special message to Congress, he asked that "the funds previously requested for this effort not only be approved in full but increased." The requested increase amounted to about $3,000,000.

Action on Other Budgets.

The committee action was included in a $751,300,000 bill financing the State and Justice Departments, the USIA, the federal courts and the Civil Rights Commission for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The Civil Rights Commission, which expires next November unless Congress extends its life, was given the $302,000 it requested.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation received the entire $127,200,000 it sought, including funds for employment of 50 more agents. It was the tenth consecutive year that the FBI budget was allowed in full.

The $134,780,000 alloted the USIA called for cuts in many operations. But even with the reduction, the USIA would get $3,080,000 more than it received this year.

"With more effective and efficient use of the resources now available to this agency," the committee said, "the total amount should be ample to carry on an expanded program in Africa and Latin America as well as a more creditable program in the other areas of the world."

Stage Project Questioned.

The committee questioned the advisability of spending $950,000 to stage plays in Europe and South America with actors' salaries running as high as $2500 a week.

The committee approved a request for $1,850,000 to build immediately a portable relay broadcasting station for possible use in Liberia pending completion of a permanent station there. It rejected additional funds to construct the Liberian project six months ahead of schedule on an overtime labor basis.

The State Department's share of the bill was $267,480,000, a cut of $31,890,000 from presidential request.

The department's foreign building program was cut $10,800,000 as the committee complained about "unrealistic and exorbitant" construction plans for houses and buildings in Ankara, Turkey, and Kabul, Afghanistan.

The entire $61,580,000 for United States contributions to international organizations was approved. Largest item was $28,450,000 for the United Nations and its specialized agencies.

Other State Department allotments included $10,000,000 to build a second international storage dam on the Rio Grande at Amistad, $33,600,000 for international educational exchange programs, and $1,000,000 for work on the Rama road in Nicaragua.

Supreme Court Holds Sunday Blue Laws Are Constitutional

Rules on Restrictive Legislation in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—The Supreme Court upheld today constitutionality of Sunday blue laws.

Blue laws, which restrict Sunday activities in many states, originated in colonial America to compel observance of the Sabbath.

Lawyers attacking the statutes said they have become "a lethal weapon in the economic war of competition" among retailers. The lawyers also argued the laws were religious statutes, enforcement of which violated the United States Constitution.

The advent of the Sunday super-market, the super-drug store, and giant discount emporiums in suburbs and along major highways brought vigorous complaints from downtown business interests, along with demands for enforcement of Sunday closing laws.

Some church organizations also sought stricter enforcement of the laws, while some Orthodox Jews and Seventh Day Adventists who observe Saturday as the Sabbath opposed what was termed interference in religion.

The Supreme Court upheld Sunday closing laws in decisions in the last century. Those decisions were based on a "day of rest" doctrine whcih held the laws were essentially civil rather than religious in nature.

In recent years the court has rejected various appeals challenging blue laws. It said no substantial federal question was presented.

Another blue law appeal was by eight employes of a corporation called "Two Guys From Harrison, Inc.," who worked in a branch highway store of that firm in the Glen Burnie area of Anne Arundel county, Md.

The eight were convicted of illegal Sunday sale of items such as floor wax, looseleaf notebook and a toy submarine. Each was fined $5 and the Maryland law was upheld on their appeal to the Maryland Court of Appeals.

Chief Justice Warren, in upholding the Maryland law, said that the court was not saying that Sunday legislation may not be a violation of the constitutional ban against government aid to religion.

Warren said that if it were demonstrated that the purpose was to use a state's coercive power to aid religion, the legislation would be unconstitutional.

Justice William O. Douglas dissented in the Maryland case, as he did in all of the blue law decisions today.

In other actions today, the Supreme Court:

Held that the Federal Government cannot be compelled to pay damages to a home-buyer if a Federal Housing Administration appraisal of the property turns out to be wrong. The majority said Congress did not intend to make such an appraisal "a warranty of value."

Agreed to review a Florida Supreme Court decision upholding Florida's loyalty oath as applied to teachers.

KENNEDY VETOES FIRST BILL

WASHINGTON, May 29 (UPI)—President Kennedy has vetoed his first bill, the White House reported today.

The bill he rejected, sending it back to the House, was a private relief bill. Its aim was to forgive repayment to the government of pension checks received by a World War I veteran who was not eligible for them. In a message to the House, Kennedy said the veteran, William Joseph Vincent of Albany, N.Y., should have known he was not eligible.

MUTINY LEADER COLLAPSES AT TRIAL IN PARIS

PARIS, May 29 (AP)—Former Gen. Andre Zeller, on trial for his life for leading a military insurrection in Algeria, collapsed today when he tried to speak in his own defense. He was carried from the courtroom.

The 63-year-old former army chief of staff was almost incoherent as he began his defense. He started to speak after co-defendant Maurice Challe completed his own defense. Both men were stripped of their rank as generals after the rebellion.

Zeller collapsed but resumed his testimony after a short recess. He had begun again when he slumped back in his chair once more with his hands over his eyes.

Challe had testified, "You can count those who flatly refused to follow us on the fingers of your two hands."

Defending his opposition to the Algerian policies of President De Gaulle, whom he hoped to topple from power, Challe said the French army now "is only united in its despair."

He said officers in Algeria no longer have any faith in anything. He laid failure of the generals' revolt last month to hesitation of some army leaders and to supposed Communist influence among French draftees who in general opposed the coup.

Challe and Zeller gave themselves up after the rebellion failed. Their two companions in the military uprising, Gen. Raoul Salan and Gen. Edwond Jou-Salan and Gen. Edmond Jou-

KENNEDY OFFERS BILL TO RETRAIN JOBLESS AND RELOCATE THEM

WASHINGTON, May 29 (UPI)—President Kennedy asked Congress today for legislation to permit retraining of unemployed workers.

They would be paid while they learn new skills, and the federal government would foot up to half their bills moving to new locations where jobs can be found.

The President sent Congress his draft of a bill to carry out the retraining program which he outlined in general terms in his extraordinary State of the Union message ao the House and Senate last Thursday.

"The need for prompt enactment of this legislation is clear," Mr. Kennedy said in identical letters to Speaker Sam Rayburn and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, the president of the Senate.

President's Appeal.

"The unemployed whose skills have been rendered obsolete by automation and other technological changes must be equipped with new skills enabling them to become productive members of our society once again," he said.

He asserted also that "the skills of other workers must also be improved to enable them to meet the more demanding requirements of modern industry."

If the legislation is passed, Mr. Kennedy said he contemplates the training and retraining of several hundred thousand workers over a four-year period.

He gave no cost estimate of the program. Earlier the White House had indicated that about $60,000,000 would be spent in the first 12 months.

Letter From Goldberg.

Along with his own letter and the text of the bill, the President sent a copy of a letter from Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg in which Goldberg said, "This legislation is of the utmost importance in dealing with the problems of unemployment and in meeting the occupational demands of the nation."

Under terms of the bill, jobless workers could get up to 52 weeks of training for new work.

Where the training is given on the job, employers' payments also could be supplemented by the Government. No supplementary payments would be made, however, which would bring the trainee's total weekly compensation to more than $46.

EAST MISSOURI, SOUTHERN ILLINOIS IS DISASTER AREA

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 29—President Kennedy today designated all of eastern Missouri and southern Illinois, including the St. Louis metropolitan area, a disaster area as a result of the May 5-9 storms and tornadoes.

The action means that local governments in the disaster area can obtain federal assistance to repair roads, bridges, public buildings, levees, sewers and water facilities, among other things. The governments will be eligible also for reimbursement for money spent on emergency measures.

In Jefferson City, Dean Lupkey' Missouri director of civil defense, said counties and municipalities eligible for federal aid, should forward ther damage estimates to state civil defense headquarters by next Wednesday.

A 17-day strike of 600 Rexall Drug Co. employes ended yesterday when union members approved a contract providing for a 16-cents-an-hour increase over a two-year period.

Robert Bickel, district director of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers, Local 8-136, said employes returned to their jobs today at the drug firm's plant at 3915 Kingshighway and warehouse at 153 Brown street, Hazelwood.

Bickel said the agreement calls for a 10-cent increase retroactive to May 10, a 6-cent boost next May 10, an improved pension plan and other contract improvements. He said the new contract was ratified by a vote of 354 to 70.

PARADES, PICNICS ARE PLANNED FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Parades, wreath-laying ceremonies and picnics are among Memorial Day activities planned in the St. Louis area. Generally fair skies and slightly cooler temperatures are expected tomorrow, the Weather Bureau said.

A parade through the downtown area will begin at 2:30 p.m., followed by ceremonies honoring America's war dead at Soldiers Memorial, Thirteenth and Locust streets.

Another ceremony will begin at 10:30 a.m. at Jefferson Barracks with a parade to the National Cemetery. Many memorial services and ceremonies will be conducted by veterans and patriotic organizations throughout the St. Louis area.

Picnickers were cautioned by Dr. J. Earl Smith, director of St. Louis health and hospitals, to be sure the water they drink is free of contamination. Water should be boiled for at least 10 minutes if there is any doubt of its purity, he said.

All members of the Missouri Highway Patrol will be on duty tomorrow in an effort to reduce accidents by strictly enforcing traffic regulations. Helicopters of the patrol will be used for observing highways in the state.

MANCHESTER FIRE VOLUNTEERS SEEK FULL-TIME STATUS

The 53-year-old Manchester Volunteer Fire Department would become a full-time paid department under a petition filed at Clayton today for its incorporation as the Manchester Fire Protection District.

Facilities valued at $78,000, including the firehouse at Manchester road and Henry avenue and two pumper trucks would be taken over by the new department, its was stated. Operating cost of about $20,000 a year would be defrayed by a tax of 20 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation.

The district to be served, including the municipalities of Manchester and Winchester, has about 5500 population, 3000 business, residential and farm properties and an assessed valuation totaling about $10,000,000, the petition said. The proposed fire district would be the twenty-third of its kind in St. Louis county.

C. Kenneth Thies, attorney for the petitioners, said: "The day of the volunteer fire department is about over in St. Louis county. The present organization has 27 volunteer firemen, but this is not sufficient for the kind of protection the community now needs."

of Chain-of-Rocks Bridge to the underground storage facility on Sinks road northwest of the intersection of State Route 140 and Old Jamestown road. The line is buried an average of three feet below the surface, varying somewhat with the terrain, a company spokesman said. The depth at the scene of the blast was about 10 feet, it was stated.

Company engineers said the explosion apparently was caused by the rupture of a lengthwise seam in a section of pipe. There was no effect on service, as the line was being used only to carry gas for storage in the underground facility for use in the next heating season.

GRADUATING GIRLS SPEND NIGHT IN OPEN AS STUNT

About 100 students who participated were favored by the weather. The low was a mild 57 degrees. Some girls pitched tents while others slept in sleeping bags. All returned to classes this morning.

The girls said the object of the stunt was to have fun without vandalism.

Three years ago the school received unfavorable publicity when two senior boys felled a large cypress tree on the campus as an April Fool's day prank. The 100-year-old tree was valued at $2500.

MRS. MARGARET WILHELM ARRESTED IN ABORTION CASE

A warrant charging criminal abortion will be sought against Mrs. Margaret Wilhelm, 70 years old, of the 3900 block of South Grand boulevard, on complaint of a 40-year-old southwest St. Louis woman, police said today.

Mrs. Wilhelm, a former midwife, was arrested at her home last night after the younger woman reported the alleged illegal operation to physicians at City Hospital, where she had gone for treatment earlier in the day. She said she paid Mrs. Wilhelm $300 for the operation last Thursday.

Mrs. Wilhelm denied the allegation. She has been arrested about 12 times since 1934 as an abortion suspect. In 1946 she was fined $500 in circuit court on her plea of guilty of performing an illegal operation.

CITY STILL HAS CHANCE TO GET SHEPARD CAPSULE

St. Louis still has a chance to get the space capsule in which Astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. made his historic flight last May 5, an assistant to President Kennedy stated in a letter received today by Mayor Raymond R. Tucker.

The letter said it has not yet been determined where the capsule will be housed, and that "your invitation to display the capsule in your new planetarium will most certainly be considered when the final decision is made."

The letter, written by Frederick G. Dutton, noted that a proposal has been made that the Smithsonian Institution in Washington would be the most suitable repository for the space capsule. Project Mercury officials earlier had said that that capsule has been promised to the Smithsonian.

Mayor Tucker sent a written request to President Kennedy that the capsule be lodged in St. Louis. The Mayor suggested that the new planetarium under construction in Forest Park would make the best setting. The capsule was built here by McDonnell Aircraft Corp.

AUTO THEFT SUSPECT CAUGHT AFTER CHASE

An automobile theft was interrupted early today by a Brentwood police officer, setting off a high-speed chase in three municipalities. Police arrested one man, but another got away. One shot was fired by police in the pursuit.

The episode began at 4 a.m. when Brentwood Patrolman Joseph Stark saw one car pushing another south in the 1500 block of Brentwood boulevard. As Stark approached, a man slipped from behind the wheel of the car in front and hurriedly entered the second vehicle, which then sped away.

The officer began chasing the fleeing car south on Brentwood and east on Rose avenue. A large object thrown into his path caused Stark to swerve and apply his brakes. By the time he recovered, the other car was out of sight.

The object in the road was a tool chest which police later learned had been stolen from the Nickl Auto Body Co., 1105 South Brentwood boulevard, Richmond Heights.

Stolen From Auto Company.

Minutes after Stark dropped out of the chase, Richmond Heights Police Capt. James Riley and Patrolman Lee Andrews saw a car traveling east on Dale avenue at a high rate of speed and with the headlights off. They chased the car at speeds up to 80 miles an hour.

The pursuit came to an end at Bredell avenue and Manchester boulevard in Maplewood when the car in front skidded to a stop. The two occupants began to run.

Riley, close behind, fired a shot in the air and called to the men to halt. One man did and was arrested. The other man escaped, despite a search by Richmond Heights, Maplewood and Brentwood police who converged on the intersection. Smoky, a police dog of the Brentwood department, tracked the fugitive for five blocks before losing the scent.

Refuses to Make Statement.

The arrested man, Robert Lawrence, 20 years old, of the 8100 block of Hicks avenue, Richmond Heights, refused to make a statement. He was booked suspected of automobile theft, burglary and several traffic charges.

Lawrence has been arrested twice before in the last three months. On Feb. 28, he was charged with resisting arrest in St. Louis in a melee after someone shot at Patrolman Stanley Beck at a tavern at 1440 North Broadway. Beck was knocked down but uninjured by the bullet, which struck a button on his uniform coat. Police were unable to learn who fired the shot.

St. Louis county police say Lawrence has admitted being one of three men who beat and robbed John Bitzer of 319 Jefferson avenue, Valley Park, on March 24. The robbers forced Bitzer's car off Marshall road south of Kirkwood, threatened him with a pistol, beat him and took $70, five cases of beer and a case of whisky, vodka and wine.

Lawrence has been charged in a warrant with first-degree robbery.

Sam Karsh, owner of a package liquor store at 5190 Easton avenue, was robbed of an undetermined amount of money today by an armed man, police said.

Karsh told police the man displayed a revolver after asking for a pint of liquor and a package of cigarettes. The man instructed Karsh to empty the cash register and a floor safe before fleeing from the store. Karsh, who said he has been robbed six times in the past two years, declined to estimate the amount taken. He was alone at the time of the robbery.

Declares Renewal Projects Lead Only to Rearranging Slum Areas

A massive urban redevelopment project can result in nothing more than a rearrangement of slum neighborhoods because those displaced by the renewal projects are usually forced into a single neighborhood, David J. Pittman, director of the Social Science Institute at Washington University, said last night.

In most cases, urban renewal projects are carried out in predominately Negro neighborhoods, Pittman observed. However, he noted, Negroes do not have free access to all of the available housing in the St. Louis area.

Consequently, those displaced by a renewal project flood one neighborhood where they can obtain housing, with the sudden crowding leading to deterioration of the neighborhood, he said.

The unwillingness of many families displaced by redevelopment programs to move into public housing aggravates the "spillover" problem, the speaker said, adding that a basic study of the reasons for the lack of appeal of public housing for many who are eligible is needed.

Pittman called for greater emphasis on neighborhood rehabilitation so as to eliminate "incipient slum areas." Planning for massive urban renewal projects should be coupled with planning for slum prevention in other areas of the community if urban redevelopment is to succeed, he said.

Up to now, the speaker related, officials have displayed a lack of imagination in trying to combat blight. Pittman noted that the city has spent less than $500,000 of the $4,000,000 earmarked for neighborhood rehabilitation in the 1955 municipal bond issue.

"Throughout the last decade, here and in other cities, major reliance has been on urban renewal and public housing," Pittman said. "There is now a serious question whether this is the correct long-term solution to urban problems."

If another "massive, bulldozing urban redevelopment project is undertaken in St. Louis," the speaker said, the result will be the collapse "of the social organization and structure of north St. Louis," where the uprooted families will pour in in great numbers.

Segregation

dent at Tennessee A. & I. at Nashville, was the first witness at a federal court hearing growing out of racial violence in Montgomery May 20 and in Birmingham six days earlier.

The Justice Department is asking United States District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. for an injunction to compel police in the two cities to protect freedom riders and other interstate bus passengers in the future.

The Justice Department has charged that police authorities here and in Birmingham deliberately failed to prevent threatened mob violence.

Meanwhile, Gov. John Patterson announced that martial rule in Montgomery will end at midnight tonight. The Governor called out National Guard troops eight days ago after a mob stormed a Negro church to climax racial violence over the arrival of Freedom Riders.

Three Nominations Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, May 29 (UPI)—The Senate confirmed today by voice vote the following diplomatic nominations: Thomas E. Estes to be ambassador to Upper Volta. Parker T. Hart as minister to Yemen in addition to his duties as ambassador to Saudi Arabia. John S. Badeau as ambassador to the United Arab Republic.

OLD PARKS FIELD WILL BE AIRPORT FOR EXECUTIVES

East St. Louis C. of C. Says Oliver L. Parks Will Be Manager at $1 a Year.

The old Parks Metropolitan Airport south of East St. Louis will be reopened as a field for executive aircraft, probably within a few months, the East St. Louis Chamber of Commerce announced today.

J. H. Reed, manager of the chamber, said existing facilities at the field will be improved. He said the chamber has obtained options on the 535-acre airport property plus 136 acres of adjacent land.

Reed indicated that the property probably will be used at first on a lease basis. He said the Federal Aviation Authority has approved plans for the airport. The F.A.A. will set the date when the field can open, he said, adding that he expected a report "in a matter of weeks."

Owned by National Homes.

The airport now is owned by Indiana National Homes, Inc., a subsidiary of National Homes, Inc., which is a firm dealing in prefabricated homes. When the property was sold in 1958, it was to be used for development of a subdivision. However, the development never took place.

Reed said the proposed field will have three runways eventually. Surveys indicate that they will range from 7700 to 12,000 feet, he said. The present runways are 4000 and 3500 feet long.

Non-Profit Corporation.

The airport will be operated temporarily by an Illinois not-for-profit corporation, the Southwest Metropolitan Memorial Airport Association, Inc., and will be managed by Oliver L. Parks, who once owned the airport. Reed said Parks will receive $1 a year for his services.

Incorporators are Reed; Harold G. Baker, president of the chamber; Robert E. Hackmann, vice president; Robert E. Solden, chairman of the chamber's airport committee; Mayor Leo J. Sauget of Monsanto; Mayor Orville Bremer of Cahokia and Mayor Alvin G. Fields of East St. Louis.

Reed said the field may be able to be expanded into a major airport eventually to relieve commercial traffic at Lambert-St. Louis Field.

Kennedy

1 and Eisenhower's hopes for the beginning of an end to the cold war went glimmering.

Today despite official denials there can be little doubt that De Gaulle is offended that the President should have decided to go on from Paris to meet Khrushchev in Vienna and from there to London for a luncheon with Macmilian. To try to take away some of the sting, Secretary of State Dean Rusk will fly directly from Vienna to Paris when the Kennedy-Khrushchev talks are ended to give De Gaulle a complete briefing on what took place.

Report of Return Visit.

But now comes the report, still in the rumor stage as this is written, that the President of France will accept an invitation from Khrushchev to pay a return visit to the Soviet Union. If this does come about, and Khrushchev might be very happy to play such a game, De Gaulle would in effect be saying "you see, Mr. Kennedy, if you can make your separate arrangements with the Kremlin, so can I."

De Gaulle has let it be known that the two divisions he intends to bring back from Algeria in connection with the abatement of the war against the Moslem rebels there will not be put under NATO command. He has a lofty scorn for Gen. Lauris Norstad, the four-star American Air Force general who is commander of NATO forces in Europe.

He is said to have agreed with Adenauer during their conversation in Bonn 10 days ago to ask Mr. Kennedy for an assurance that any Soviet move against Berlin must meet with an immediate readiness on the part of the West for military action to defend the city. If he were so minded, Mr. Kennedy could in his turn ask what De Gaulle means to contribute to the defense of Berlin, since the French contingent there amounts to little more than a corporal's guard.

Waiting for Answer.

De Gaulle will tell Mr. Kennedy, according to reports from official sources here, that he is still waiting for an answer to his memorandum to Washington of the fall of 1958. In that memorandum De Gaulle called for a tripartite consultative body, England, France and the United States, with authority to pass on all decisions taken anywhere in the world by any one of the three.

When he talked with De Gaulle in Paris two years ago, Eisenhower is reported to have said, "Surely you do not mean, Mr. President, that you are asking for a veto on any action we might take wherever it might be." "Yes," De Gaulle is said to have replied, "that is exactly what I am asking."

Because of his doubts as to whether an American president would order a nuclear attack in response to a threat to Berlin, thereby possibly sacrificing New York, Washngton and a dozen other American cities for Berlin, De Gaulle will reportedly propose to Mr. Kennedy that an autonomous NATO nuclear force be composed of the British nuclear potential plus that whch France is seeking to bring into being. This woul dbe entirely independent of America's nuclear deterrent. But whether the British would want to become part of such a separate and autonomous force is highly doubtful.

Discord on Laos.

In southeast Asia, France will propose a far greater degree of neutralism, including a neutral South Viet Nam, than American policy has currently contemplated. Recent differences over Laos have been sharp, with the French, and the British as well, convinced that the American approach which provides for vast amounts of military aid could not possibly succeed.

To American policy makers it sometimes seems that De Gaulle's objective is to frustrate NATO and indeed to block American objectives in the western alliance. As did his predecessor before him, President Kennedy will confront a resolute General with demands as fixed as his conviction that France's destiny is no less than it was in the era of King Louis XIV of the days of Napoleon's sweep across all of Europe.

To argue with such majesty is hardly conceivable and yet the American President cannot in his talks here evade the grim realities looming so large on the near horizon. Will Khrushchev pose the challenge to Berlin which is a challenge to war in the months just ahead?

While those close to him say it is not contemplated, conceivably out of the talks in Vienna could come an invitation to the American President to visit Moscow in late October or November, in a sense in return for the Khrushchev visit to the United States. That would at least freeze the current situation for another six months in the present mood of uncertainty and doubt this might seem a significant gain.

KENNEDY MARKS 44TH BIRTHDAY

HYANNISPORT, Mass., May 29 (AP)—President Kennedy turned 44 today in the seclusion of his family home on the chilly south shore of Cape Cod. He put in more homework on his crucial meetings with French President De Gaulle and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The youngest President ever elected to the office boned up on this week's European conferences while anticipating a giant birthday celebration in Boston tonight with personal and political friends.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger reported the President remained on the grounds of the Kennedy compound of homes yesterday except for a drive to mass in the nearby village of Hyannis.

Birthday wishes loaded the wires in this summer resort. Hundreds were delivered yesterday and it appeared Mr. Kennedy would get 1000 before going to Boston tonight for a Democratic fund-raising birthday dinner in his honor.

Mr. Kennedy was chipper and smiling as he acknowledged shouts of "happy birthday" on leaving St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic church yesterday morning. Hundreds of worshippers filled the white frame church and hundreds more flocked to the streets outside.

Texas

April 4 race to 49.55. Some liberals had said they would vote for Tower because it would strengthen the position of the senior Texas Senator, Ralph Yarborough, a liberal Democrat. Some ultra liberal Democrats campaigned against Blakley on the theory that Tower would be easier to beat 5½ years from now than Blakley.

Many other liberals "went fishing" on election day. Some conservatives who might have voted for Blakley on April 4 to keep a moderate or liberal out of the runoff, apparently found Tower's brand of conservatism more to their liking in the second election.

What happened state-wide has had a parallel in Dallas county for a number of years. Bruce Alger, the only Republican Congressman from Texas, has won three terms because of the split among Democrats. If a conservative wins the Democratic nomination, the liberals sit on their hands election day. If a liberal gets the nomination, the conservative Democrats vote Republican.

Albert Bel Fay of Houston, national G.O.P. committeeman, said the Republicans had a big advantage in that the entire Republican organization was able to concentrate on a single candidate in a single race.

"We did a lot of doorbell ringing and that helped," Fay said.

"We've just been working," said Peter O'Donnell, Dallas county Republican chairman, who attributed the victory also to telephone calls, door-to-door canvassing, and hundreds of precinct workers who put up signs, distributed car bumper stickers, and recruited other campaigners.

Tower Strong in Cities.

Tower's greatest strength came from the big cities.

Harris county (Houston) gave Tower a 38,758-ballot margin. In Dallas his lead was 12,577, and he led comfortably in Fort Worth, El Paso, San Antonio and their environs.

Tower expects to take his Senate seat by June 15, two days after the state election board certifies his election.

"It would be the function of the presiding officer of the Senate to swear me in," Tower said. He said, however, that perhaps Vice President Johnson would not be available to fulfill that function. In that case, Senator Carl Hayden (Dem.), Arizona, President pro tem of the Senate, would do the job.

In Washington, Senator Thruston B. Morton, the retiring Republican national chairman, said Tower's victory "not only signals a new era in Texas politics but a rebirth of Republicans in the Solid South."

"It is proof," Morton said in a statement, "that the Republican party is enjoying a national resurgence of strength that will sweep it to victory in the vital congressional races in 1962."

Morton said the "stunning defeat of the Democratic candidate, in my opinion, shows a snowballing distaste for the reckless spending program of the new Administration, invasion of states' rights, and its ineffectual policies in foreign affairs."

MAN CHARGED IN FATAL FIRE DIES IN DRUNK TANK

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29 (UPI)—Raymond T. Gorman, who vowed to stop drinking after a hotel fire that started in his room killed 20 persons, died yesterday in the drunk tank at city prison.

It was in a drinking bout in Gorman's room at the Thomas Hotel last January that someone—Gorman or one of his visitors—dropped a lighted cirgarette on a bed. Twenty persons died in the resulting fire that swept the old building.

Gorman, who escaped unhurt and was cleared of a manslaughter charge, vowed, "I'm never going to take another drink."

TSHOMBE TAKEN TO LEOPOLDVILLE; WAVES TO CROWD

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo, May 29 (AP)—Katanga's captive President Moise Tshombe was brought by riverboat to Leopoldville today guarded by 200 soldiers.

Tshombe, taken prisoner when he tried to walk out of the Coquilhatville conference of Congolese politicians, smiled faintly as he stepped onto the Leopoldville dock.

His shoulders were hunched but otherwise he appeared in good health. He waved to the crowd clustered behind rows of armed guards. He showed no signs of the nervous breakdown which Katanga authorities said he suffered while captive in Coquilhatville. The Congolese central government accuses Tshombe of treason.

Tshombe was hustled into a blue sedan and driven five miles through jeering crowds to Camp Binza on the outskirts of town. The Katanga delegates who accompanied him to Coquilhatville were taken to the Leopoldville jail. With Tshombe was his foreign minister, Everiste Kimba.

KENNEDY SIGNS BILL FOR MEDAL FOR DR. DOOLEY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 29—President Kennedy today signed a bill authorizing the posthumous award of a $2500 gold medal to Dr. Thomas A. Dooley of St. Louis, medical missionary.

The legislation provides for the President to present the medal and authorizes the production and sale of bronze duplicates.

Dr. Dooley died last January of cancer after working in the jungles of Laos for almost seven years providing medical care to residents.

He was a co-founder of MEDICO, world-wide organization devoted to bringing medical assistance to the peoples of impoverished nations.

SECOND SUSPECT ADMITS PART IN KILLING OF WOMAN

PLAINFIELD, N.J., May 29 (AP)—Joseph Maxey, 23 years old, who had steadfastly denied participating in the rape-killings of two prominent women, broke down yesterday and confessed—corroborating the story given earlier by Lorelle Parks, 22. The two, who have been charged with abduction, rape and murder, were to have a preliminary hearing today in Plainfield municipal court.

In his confession, Maxey admitted he had killed Mrs. Elliott C. Ewell, 49, of Plainfield, by running over her with her own automobile when she attempted to escape.

Parks admitted Friday night that he had strangled Mrs. Robert Tyson, 50, also of Plainfield, after raping her. He had implicated Maxey but Maxey repeatedly denied the accusations despite the evidence gathered by detectives.

MEMORIAL TO WOMAN WHO AIDED MINERS DEDICATED

A memorial inscribed "The Good Samaritan of the Coal Fields" was dedicated yesterday to the late Mrs. Catherine DeRorre at Holy Cross Lutheran Cemetery, Collinsville.

Mrs. DeRorre, known as Sister Katie, was an organizer and leader of the Progressive Mine Workers of America Auxiliary. During the depression she set up soup kitchens and fed as many as 500 miners and their families daily in DuQuoin, Ill. She died last January in Collinsville.

The memorial stone is three feet high and eight feet long. Among the speakers at the dedication were State Senator James O. Monroe of Collinsville; Circuit Judge Quinten Spivey of Belleville, and Irving Dilliard of Collinsville, former editor of the editorial page of the Post-Dispatch.

TWO ROBBERS STEAL $165 IN EAST ST. LOUIS TAVERN

A total of $165 was taken today from Lou and Cecil's Tavern, 400 South Tenth street, East St. Louis, by two men, one of whom was armed with a pistol, police reported.

The bartender, George Lawler, 38 years old, told police he was alone in the establishment at 1:45 a.m. when the men entered. They forced Lawler to hand them the money from the cash register, ordered him to lie on the floor, and fled.

HILLARY EXPEDITION GIVES UP ATTEMPT TO SCALE MAKALU

KATMANDU, May 29 (AP)—Sir Edmund Hillary's attempt to scale 27,790-foot Makalu peak has been abandoned, it was announced yesterday. The climbers were en route to the Nepal capital carrying four sick and frostbitten members. The four included a United States Air Force surgeon, Capt. Tom Nevison. Nevison was said to be suffering from pneumonia but out of danger.

Makalu is the world's fifth highest peak. Nevison and a New Zealand sub-lieutenant, Peter Mulgrew, attempted to reach the top without oxygen equipment. The expedition received its first serious blow when Hillary suffered a slight cerebral stroke May 7.

NEW ASSESSMENT UP, LINDENBUSCH FOR BOARD OUSTER

Ben H. Lindenbusch, automobile dealer and unsuccessful Republican candidate for mayor, said today the city's Board of Equalization should "resign." The assessed valuation of his home at 6471 Westway road has been increased from $24,000 to $25,700, records showed at City Hall.

The original assessed valuation on the property was $4000 for the land and $20,000 for the building. City Assessor Harold Jaeger re-evaluated the land at $4900 and reduced the value of the building to $19,700.

Lindenbusch appealed to the Board of Equalization last May 19. The board now has re-evaluated the land at $6000 and left the value of the building the same, he said.

"The board is not fit to serve in the public trust," Lindenbusch said. "They ought to resign. These people make Hitler, Stalin and Castro look like Boy Scouts. It's time the people petition for their recall."

BOWLES SAYS CASTRO WILL EVENTUALLY DIE ON VINE

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—Under Secretary of State Chester A. Bowles told a television audience yesterday that Fidel Castro "will eventually die on the vine" if the United States works with Latin America "to build free, democratic going societies."

Bowles added in the recorded TV program (ABC-Issues and Answers) that he thought the government should stay out of the rebels-for-tractors deal with Castro.

Castro "is having a rather uncomfortable time" and has been "hurt a great deal" by his offer to trade rebels for tractors," Bowles said.

The under secretary warned, however, that if the United States should fail to work with Latin Americans to build better societies "then Castro may be a very important fact of history because he may be the first of a succession of Castros."

$1000 STOLEN FROM SAFE AT CLEANING SHOP

Theft of $1000 from South Side Standard Cleaners, 3444 Gravois avenue, was discovered last night after a passing policeman noticed that the safe had been moved from its accustomed place.

Sgt. Fred Roseberg investigated and found a side window forced. The safe had been rolled toward the back, out of view of passersby. The combination had been pried off and the contents stolen.

Employes reporting for work today at the American National Insurance Co., 3444 Gravois avenue, next door to the cleaning establishment, discovered the safe had been forced open and $250 stolen. Police think the same burglars were responsible for both thefts. Entrance to the office was by breaking a window and forcing an inner door.

A robbery suspect was arrested early yesterday after Joseph Bertelsmeyer, a truck driver, reported to a passing policeman that he had been held up and robbed of $1 and two cigarette lighters by a man wearing a trench coat. Patrolman Joseph Rakonick Jr., arrested a man in a trench coat a short distance away. The suspect, who tossed two cigarette lighters under a parked car, denied the holdup, although identified by the victim and a witness.

Jack Henerforth, 3822 Shaw boulevard, was robbed of $1 when walking near his home last night by a man who asked for a match, then struck the victim in the face and on the head with a hard object. The robber fled in a car. Henerforth was treated at City Hospital for contusions.

Waitress Robbed.

Mrs. Elsie Hackworth, a waitress, told police she was robbed of $73 by a man she befriended Saturday night. Mrs. Hackworth said she permitted the man, a former neighbor, to cook some food in her apartment at 2023 Park avenue. When she returned home later two strange men knocked her down, and the three men fled with her purse, containing $73.

Purses were stolen yesterday from Mrs. Katherine Jones, 79 years old, 4533 Westminster place, who was accosted by a youth of whom she had asked directions in the 3600 block of Grandel square, and from Mrs. Nevra Young, 1318 Chambers street, robbed of $3 in the 2500 block of North Fourteenth street.

Theft of $50 from the cash register in a service station at 7209 Lansdowne avenue was discovered last night. The combination was knocked off a safe, which contained only papers.

Two men were arrested Saturday night after a night watchman at St. Louis University told a policeman he saw them tampering with parking meters in the 3600 block of Lindell boulevard. The suspects, described by police as narcotic addicts, had $13 in nickels, 20 pennies and tools in their possession. They denied robbing the meters.

Ice Cream Store Robbed.

Mrs. Shirley Oldham, a clerk at a Velvet Freeze Store, 5205 Gravois avenue, reported that she was robbed of an undetermined sum Saturday night by a man armed with a revolver. She said the man bought a quart of sherbet, then displayed the weapon and ordered her to give him the money from a cash register. He forced her and a woman customer to lie on the floor before he fled.

Mrs. Ruth Hollander, 6923 Heege road, Affton, said two youths grabbed her purse, which contained about $100, while she was walking back of 2701 Eugenia street Saturday. As the youths were fleeing across a parking lot, the purse opened and some of the money fell out. She told police she recovered about $60.

Thomas L. Richardson, 10512 Earl drive, Moline Acres, reported to police that he was robbed of $59 by a man and woman he met in a tavern on North Broadway Saturday night. After leaving the tavern with them, the man drew a revolver and took his money, he said.

Glenn Ashworth, owner of a confectionery at 2822 Osage street, was robbed of $75 Saturday night by an armed man.

Ashworth told police the man entered the store, pointed a pistol at him and told him to fill a paper bag with money. Ashworth emptied the cash register and his wallet. The man then ordered him to go to his living quarters back of the store and get more money. Ashworth complied, taking several dollars from a desk. The man fled south on Oregon avenue.

MOTHER, CHILD SHOT, WOUNDED; SUSPECT HELD

Mrs. Bernice Guy, 23 years old, and her daughter, Ronda, 5, were shot and seriously wounded early today when in bed in an apartment at 1342 Temple place.

Shortly after the shooting, police arrested Daniel Jackson, 20, near his home in the 2700 block of North Jefferson avenue. In pursuing Jackson, police fired eight shots at him.

Police said Jackson admitted the shooting at the time of his arrest, but later denied he had done it. Jackson said he is a student at Harris Teachers College.

Police were told that Mrs. Guy and Jackson had been going together and had broken up Saturday night.

At 3:30 a.m. today, police said, Jacksoin went to the Temple place apartment, rapped on the door and was admitted by a woman who shares the lodging with Mrs. Guy. Police said Jackson walked into the living room where Mrs. Guy was lying in bed with Ronda and a son, Terry, 6.

Without a word, Jackson, opened fire, police said. He fired five to eight shots.

As Jackson started to leave by a rear door, he saw Miss Gwendolyn Williams, a sister of Mrs. Guy, getting out of her bed in another room. Jackson shot at her, but missed.

Mrs. Guy was hit in the left side of the head and in the left shoulder. Ronda was shot in the left hip and right leg. Both were taken to Homer G. Phillips Hospital. Terry was not hit.

Other residents of the building recognized Jackson. They gave police his name, address and description. Not long after the shooting, Patrolmen Thomas Mooney and William Donohue saw the suspect driving on St. Louis avenue near Prairie avenue.

Jackson tried to get away when the officers sounded their siren. He drove at speeds up to 50 miles an hour toward his home on North Jefferson, they said.

Two other officers were waiting outside Jackson's apartment. They saw the speeding car approaching. One of the waiting policemen fired six shots and Donohue fired two more. Jackson stopped his car.

Police found a loaded pistol on the seat of the car. Jackson was booked suspected of assault with intent to kill, carrying a concealed weapon, resisting arrest and several traffic violations.

TWAIN HIGHWAY'S STEEL GUARD RAIL BEING REPLACED

Center guard rails on the Mark Twain Expressway between Emerson avenue in St. Louis and Carson road in St. Louis county are being replaced by a contractor because they failed to meet minimum weight specifications, Roy M. Rucker, district engineer for the Missouri Highway Department, said today.

The weight deficiency, about 5 per cent under the requirement, was discovered by the state about two months ago as installation was getting under way and was called to the attention of the contractor, Rucker said.

However, the contractor, Millstone Construction Co., decided to proceed with installation on the 4.1-mile stretch, relying on assurances by the supplier, an Ohio firm, that the one-foot-wide steel rails met specifications, Rucker said.

Replacement began after the highway department notified Millstone that no payment would be made on the $86,480 contract unless the rails met requirements, it was stated.

OKLAHOMA-TO-ST. LOUIS GAS PIPELINE BEING CONSIDERED

Construction of a 550-mile pipeline to bring natural gas to St. Louis from northwest Oklahoma is under consideration, it was announced today by Fish Enginneering Corp. of Houston, Tex. Pan American Petroleum Corp., an affiliate of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, may participate in the project.

The pipeline would begin near Woodward, Okla., gathering gas from the Anadarko basin where Pan American holds leases on several hundred thousand acres. The line would follow a route through northern Oklahoma and southeast Kansas, then run diagonally across Missouri. Plans call for a Mississippi river crossing near St. Louis to take gas into western Illinois.

Ray C. Fish, board chairman of Fish Engineering Corp., said preliminary engineering and design work for the pipeline is under way, but as yet no application has been made to the Federal Power Commission for a certificate of public convenience and necessity.

Stevenson, Preparing to Tour South America, Already Has Social Reform Plan for Area

By RICHARD DUDMAN
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 29.

ADLAI E. STEVENSON, being sent by President Kennedy on a good will tour of South America this week, is on record with a detailed plan for rapid reform in the area as an offset to Communism. Announcement of the Stevenson mission was made yesterday.

Stevenson set forth his views in a confidential memorandum submitted at the request of the Kennedy Administration before the inauguration, when task forces were drawing up plans and policies.

The former Governor of Illinois and two-time Democratic presidential nominee, now United States ambassador at the United Nations, held no public office then. He based his findings partly on a tour of Latin America he made last year.

SUMMING UP the problem of United States policy in Latin America, Stevenson wrote: "We must get out of the position in which we are today, where the majority of the Latin Americans feel that we do not support their aspirations for basic social reform and in general identify us with the dominant oligarchies."

He said the problem had been aggravated by "The general inadequacy of the staff in the Department of State concerned with Latin American affairs and of our embassies in the 20 republics."

"Instead of seeking means whereby we can identify ourselves with internal elements in these countries whose political aspirations and economic objectives are similar to our own, the United States has become associated in the Latin American mind with the oligarchies, the ruling classes, who have only their own interests at heart," he wrote.

Stevenson observed that popular enthusiasm for Cuban social reforms helped explain why most Latin Americans have not shared United States concern with Cuba's growing Communist orientation.

He emphasized the point that United States problems in Latin America are more political than economic.

"Any shift in a Latin American government that bears promise for us should at once be supported, both materially and morally," he wrote. "In this connection, it is important that we be more realistic about our policy of non-intervention. It has become almost a doctrine that the United States should encourage the status quo, however unsatisfactory to the local population."

ON ECONOMIC AID, Stevenson said the $500,000,000 program since approved by Congress "is probably inadequate in amount and comes late." He added that its timing was unfortunate, since it supported the Latin American suspicion that we regard aid as a weapon against Soviet penetration first and against poverty only second.

The memorandum called for an increased flow of public capital "and, where appropriate, private capital" into Latin America. He warned that a large flow of private capital can sometimes create problems rather than solve them.

Stevenson noted that relations with some Latin American countries have suffered from the fact that private United States capital controls basic areas of their economies, such as mining, petroleum, public utilities or key agricultural commodities for export.

He recommended that the United States prevent such excessive domination in the future and liquidate or reduce such domination where it exists.

"We have not developed any mechanism for gradually turning over on an equitable basis large-scale direct investments to the host country or to some international financial institution," he wrote. "We therefore invite forcible expropriation, since no provision for peaceful change is made."

He suggested that the Administration might consider such proposals as withholding grant guarantees from firms investing in basic fields.

"Moreover, in the past we have refused governmental assistance for the development of certain government-owned industries on the grounds that such industries should be reserved to private enterprise, particularly American."

He suggested that in the future the United States should not withhold financing from state-run oil companies. The new Administration already has made this change, starting with a grant to the Bolivian government oil corporation.

STEVENSON SAID a well-organized and comprehensive land reform program is essential to the further economic and social advancement in Latin America.

Many Latin American governments "pay lip service to land reform but have no intention of engaging in it," he wrote. He suggested that the Administration consider means of persuading these countries to make such reform.

On State Department organization, Stevenson called Latin America the stepchild of the department. He said a man of stature and authority should be appointed to head Latin American affairs in the department. The post now is vacant.

"We should appoint younger ambassadors to Latin American countries and adopt a policy that our representatives there must associate with all elements of the country, particularly with the new intellectuals, who hold ideals and aspirations similar to our own," he said.

ON RELATIONS with Panama, Stevenson suggested that careful consideration be given either to internationalizing the Panama canal or else to assigning part of the canal tolls to the economic development of the Latin American countries.

Stevenson's comments on Cuba gave credence to reports that he knew nothing in advance of the United States sponsorship of the Cuban invasion last month.

He suggested that the Administration consider the possibility of using a Brazilian offer of good offices in trying to find some area of agreement with Fidel Castro.

"We might indicate privately to the Brazilians early next year (1962) a willingness to end the economic embargo as an indication of our hope for reaching some accommodation with the Cubans," Stevenson said.

By the Associated Press.

Stevenson told reporters he intended to visit all 10 South American capitals before the inter-American economic conference July 15 to formally launch Mr. Kennedy's Alliance for Progress program. He said the question of whether Mr. Kennedy would attend the conference had not been finally decided.

While Stevenson's itinerary has yet to be worked out in detail, he said he probably would be in South America for about 17 days.

Junior Senator From Texas and Family

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., May 29.

"MY NAME IS TOWER—but you can see that I don't."

That is John G. Tower's favorite ice-breaker with political crowds. It always gets a laugh because, by the greatest stretch of facts, or of Tower, he stands 5 feet and 6 inches. He looks some tall Texans, as one put it, "straight in the belt buckle."

His stature, however, proved of Davidian force Saturday against the Goliath-like Southern tradition of "one-party" Democratic politics in which Republicans get short shrift.

A year's energetic spreading of the message that G.O.P. conservatism is a more accurately labeled product than the Dixiecrat version paid off in the balloting for Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's old Senate seat. Tower edged out Senator William A. Blakley, the interim Democratic appointee, to become Texas's first Republican Senator since 1877.

He also put a sizable dent in the notion that one of the last places to look for political timber is in a college faculty. Tower, 35 years old, gave up an associate professorship of political science at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls just a year ago to enter politics.

He gave Johnson a good run for his money in last November's regular senatorial contest, and came back undaunted by this defeat to emerge top man in the free-for-all special senatorial primary in April.

DAPPER and dynamic, a former radio announcer and a former salesman, Tower looks less like a pedagogue than a member of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, which he is. His membership in the American Association of University Professors is counterpointed by membership in Kiwanis, and he has concerned himself energetically with the Wichita Falls Symphony Association and the Wichita Falls Playhouse. He is a member of the board of stewards of the First Methodist Church and a Sunday school teacher.

He is a genial, outgoing ultraconservative, as opposed to the grim-lipped school toward which Senator Blakley inclines. He is neither bitter nor apologetic as he advocates "right-to-work" (open shop) laws, assails "welfare-statism" and insists that civil rights (racial) legislation be tailored to regional "custom and tradition." He has also marked political know-how.

Although Texas's Republican organization has been small, obscure, and not very effective on the state level, Tower organizers saw that crowds were on hand for his rallies, produced a campaign of a scope not seen before. Tower is also handy with such rhetorical curve-balls as "I will fight for the free enterprise system under which my opponent was able to become a multimillionaire."

CONTRARY to some views that he should broaden his appeal to encompass as much of the ideological spectrum as possible, Tower stuck to the strategy of standing or falling as an ultra-conservative. He declined the proffered middle-road campaign assistance of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon—who almost swung Texas in the presidential race—and relied on the G.O.P.'s arch-conservative Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona as his main ally on the stump.

("Goldwater and I are close personal friends," Tower told the Associated Press. "I believe basically in the same things he believes in. But I am not joining any faction of the Republican Party because I don't believe the party has factions.")

His keynote against Senator

Isolationist Spirit Found in London, Paris

Europe Appears Willing to Let U.S. Carry Load Against Reds.

By JAMES RESTON
© New York Times News Service

LONDON, May 29.

THE ATTITUDE toward the United States in this part of the world — westen Europe as well as Britain — has changed almost beyond recognition in the last generation.

The isolationist spirit is not dead, as we are always telling ourselves in America. It has merely been taken over by our old friends in London and Paris, who used to deplore American isolation before World War II.

Maybe this was inevitable. Just as we lived our own isolated lives behind the British navy in the Nineteenth century, so the British are now living in their own parochial way behind the U. S. Air Force and rockets.

Not only that, but the attitudes of mind have crossed the Atlantic, too. For just as we used to enjoy and resent British leadership in the world in the 1930s both at the same time, so they are now resenting our leadership and secretly enjoying our mistakes in Cuba, Laos and elsewhere.

In much of the press and even in much of the private conversation one hears in this part of the world now, the great issue is not philosophical or political, but merely a struggle between two rather awkward and distasteful giants, the Soviet Union and the United States.

GEOGRAPHY HAS NOT changed. Europe remains where it was before, with a population larger than Russia's. It is more prosperous and more populous than before the last war. But it no longer asks that we make common cause with them against the power that threatens their freedom. It expects, instead, that we replace them, and many of them not only expect this, but resent us for agreeing to do so.

Nobody here would deny that President Kennedy's new defense and foreign aid messages last week are important to the security of Britain and the rest of the West, but outside of one or

Murrow Says Castro Prisoner Offer Disgusts Latin America

USIA Chief Asserts Cuban Has 'Blustered His Way Into Major Blunder' — Upholds Acceptance of Deal.

WASHINGTON, May 29.

EDWARD R. MURROW, director of the United States Information Agency, said today a "ground swell of disgust" in Latin America had greeted Fidel Castro's tractors-for-prisoners offer.

Citing press reaction in Latin America, Murrow said it was clear that Castro had "blustered his way into a major blunder."

Murrow disclosed that he had been asked by the White House within a few hours of Castro's May 17 offer for his opinion as to "the thrust of this move."

"Fortunately, I was not completely wrong," he said.

The USIA director called a press conference to assail Castro's offer to trade 1214 prisoners taken in the unsuccessful April 17 invasion for 500 heavy tractors. Murrow upheld acceptance of the deal, by a committee headed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Walter P. Reuther and Dr. Milton Eisenhower, as a major propaganda coup.

THE PRESS conference was called after mounting objection in Congress and elsewhere against what was called paying ransom of blackmail to Castro and against exempting contributions to the fund from federal income taxes. President Kennedy has said this exemption can be expected.

Murrow's strong language led reporters to ask whether the Administration had decided it did not care whether Castro backed out of the proposed deal.

Murrow said he did not know whether it would be better for the United States if Castro backed out or went through with the trade. He said it would depend on the manner in which the arrangement might be canceled.

Asked to appraise the transaction from Castro's point of view, Murrow said:

"He gains the tractors, obviously. He loses stature in the free world. He demonstrated that his concern for human beings is less than his concern for machines."

Presenting a 17-page sampling of Latin American opinion, mainly newspaper excerpts, Murrow said almost without exception, "The Press and radio of the free world has drawn the obvious parallel between his proposal and that of the Germans when they offered to trade Jews for trucks."

"CASTRO REVEALED himself for what he is, and United States reaction reflected what we are," Murrow said.

He said that Castro had "damaged the cause of Communism" and that "his senior partners in Moscow and Peiping have not supporting him."

Communist radio stations hesitated more than a week and then began calling Castro's offer an act of humanitarianism, Murrow said, but the Communist press, particularly in Latin America, has maintained "what can only be described as embarrassed silence."

Murrow said it was his own idea to hold a press conference. He said, however, that the White House was aware of the conference.

He said USIA, including the Voice of America, would continue to report the controversy in the United States over the tractor exchange.

But Murrow declined to criticize any of those who have objected to accepting Castor's proposal.

"I have neither the mandate nor the appetite to participate in domestic politics," he said.

Lesson of the Great Elm

Your news report of the perhaps fatal damage by wind of historic "Logan Elm" near Circleville, O., makes timely the sharing with your readers of a classic utterance in American history.

As markings about the area reveal, it was by that tree in 1774 that the forces of Lord Dunmore, then Royal Governor of Virginia, signed a peace treaty with the chiefs of the Northwestern Indian tribes, following the bloody battle of Point Pleasant, W.Va. This treaty opened the Northwest Territory to settlement.

It was on that occasion, under the now stricken elm, that Logan, chief of the Mingoes and friend of the whites—"a noble man of savage race"—delivered an oration "unequaled for eloquence, lofty sentiment, solemn truth and poignant sorrow." As recorded there, Logan said:

"I appeal to any white man to say, if ever he entered Logan's cabin hungry and he gave him not meat; if ever he came cold and naked and he clothed him not. During the course of the last long and bloody war, Logan remained idle in his cabin, an advocate for peace. Such was my love for the whites that my countrymen pointed as they passed and said, 'Logan is the friend of the white men.'

"I had even thought to live with you but for the injuries of one man. Col. Cresap, the last spring, in cold blood and unprovoked, murdered all the relatives of Logan; not sparing even his women and children. There runs not a drop of my blood in the veins of any living creature. This called on me for revenge. I have sought it. I have killed many. I have fully glutted my vengeance.

"For my country I rejoice at the beams of peace. Do not harbor the thought that mine is the joy of fear. Logan never felt fear. He will not turn on his heel to save his life. Who is there to mourn for Logan? Not one."

According to another marker, Logan erred in identifying Col. Cresap with the perpetrator of those crimes against his family. Still, we might ponder: "But for the injuries of one (white) man (against one man of color) . . ." How often this has been sadly true!

Gibson 'Si', Martini 'No!'

Advertising's easy disregard for truth and accuracy has seldom been better exemplified than in a current series of displays recommending a particular gin for a "bone-dry martini." The text lists onions among other ingredients along with the gin. Never! Dictionaries and bar recipe books define a martini as a mixture of gin and vermouth usually served with an olive or a twist of lemon peel. No vodka, no onions. Gin and vermouth mixtures with onions are Gibsons. A man may drink what he likes, but he should not mix up the mixologist. Neither should the Messrs. Seagram. H.M.T.

Strike at a Shrine

You are to be complimented on your complete coverage of the dispute between members of Local 309 International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the Oblate Fathers at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows in Belleville.

All too frequently unfortunate matters such as this have a tendency to reach a magnitude well beyond the real issue under consideration. In the event that statements attributed to me in your May 24 report of the strike settlement might be misinterpreted I would like to make clear that Norman Elliott, business manager of Local 309, and myself have arrived at a common understanding of the position of each party, hence the conclusion of the dispute.

The conditions agreed upon by both parties resulting in a settlement of the dispute should not be misconstrued as a victory or defeat for those concerned but rather as a mutual reconciliation of the situation. Rev. Edwin J. Guild O.M.I.

'As Guilty as Castro'

By approving the "tractors for prisoners" exchange, the President of the United States establishes a new low in leadership. Further, his blessing of this ransom makes the United States as guilty as is Castro. We can't pay off blackmailers without losing our self-respect, and without encouraging more such acts. It's time we stand up for principles. Indignant

In a Changing Age

Everywhere the old order changeth, and happy those who can change with it.
Sir William Osler, M.D.

Our world in our age has been changing as it never changed before. Some among us saw the horse displaced by the automobile, and some may see the airplane displaced by rockets carrying men to the moon. Discoveries have wrought as many changes in medicine as in any other field—perhaps more. But some of us are not benefiting as we might because there has been a "lag in the assimilation of the newer forms of medical practice into the official councils of organized medicine. Although nearly 30 per cent of all doctors are now on salary and 10 per cent in group practice, the official voice remains largely that of the solo fee-for-service practioner," especially in "the financing of medicine."

Such is the blunt conclusion of a three-year study by Professor and Mrs. Herman Somers, financed by the Ford Foundation and now published by the Brookings Institution. Much of this 576-page report may not be new, but rarely has truth been so well documented. So amid the debate on President Kennedy's old-age health proposals the report demands the attention of legislators, laymen, and especially doctors. In making a case for changes, including the pending legislation, it helps to dissipate irrationalities now all too prevalent.

Since the turn of the century, according to the report, the number of those over 65 has more than doubled—with a consequent increase in chronic disease and residual disability. Yet the cost of medical care now is so high that "millions of our senior citizens face their twilight years haunted by fears of the cost of illness and the cost of dying—often overshadowing the fear of death itself."

The major approach to the alleviation of this fear—and the problem of medical care at all ages—has been private health insurance. This was actively opposed only 20 years ago. Now almost 70 per cent of the population has some coverage. Yet 28 per cent—or 49,000,000 persons, all "bad risks" for economic reasons—have no protection at all. The sharing of the cost of illness, further, is clouded by the 50 per cent rise in the price of medical care in the last 10 years, and by the fact that between 1948 and 1960 "medical prices were increasing more than three times as fast as general prices." As a consequence, "while the proportion of personal medical expenditures met through insurance increased threefold between 1948 and 1959, the amount paid for insurance increased sixfold." A continued rise of 4 per cent a year would bring "a crisis of revolt by irate consumers." Indeed one economist urges that "the entire medical profession be declared a 'public utility'" and regulated as such.

The Administration is not nearly so radical. Yet since 70 per cent of those over 65 have annual incomes of less than $2000—and 50 per cent have incomes under $1000—their situation seems hopeless unless the Social Security system is used to enable the largest practical number of citizens to provide for the medical needs of old age during their working years.

The Somers report has much to say about the causes of the high cost of medical care. It also warns against our increasing shortage of doctors. These matters are of vital concern to the public and the profession. The national welfare demands adaptations to changed conditions. Surely there could be no more reassuring beginning than the acceptance of the Kennedy old-age health insurance program. It would meet the worst problem first.

Mr. Diefenbaker on China

Prime Minister Diefenbaker's statement on Canadian diplomatic recognition of Communist China indicates a hardening of Canada's attitude. Mr. Diefenbaker says recognition now would be interpreted in Southeast Asia as "approval" of the Red regime, and he is probably right. No one wants to hand the Communists the slightest advantage; anything of this nature should be a bargain in which each side gains. The Prime Minister also thinks Red China would not accept membership in the United Nations unless the membership of the Formosa government was withdrawn; he opposes "sacrificing the Formosans." So does the United States. But this whole question should be debated in the U. N. A debate would bring out all the views. Perhaps a formula that would benefit everyone could be devised; the China problem cannot remain forever in a state of suspended animation.

Good Points in a Package

The constitutional package put up by the Missouri Senate's judiciary committee to cover three St. Louis and St. Louis county tax proposals has its good points as well as its bad. On balance it seems to us that the good outweighs the bad, and that the measure deserves to be passed.

It can be argued with some force that it might be better to submit each issue separately. On the other hand, that procedure would tend to clutter up the state-wide ballot, especially if several other constitutional changes also are submitted. The three city-county proposals deal with the same constitutional subsection, and two of them already had been combined in a resolution that has already passed the House.

These two pertain to schools. One would increase from 89 cents to $1 the basic St. Louis school tax rate that could be levied without voter approval. It is designed to prevent the loss of state aid for city schools in the event a higher levy failed at the polls. It has widespread support among St. Louis school people. County schools presently enjoy this authority.

The other school item would permit St. Louis county, after voter approval, to levy a special school tax of $1, with the revenue being apportioned among the school districts on the basis of pupils in average daily attendance. This too has widespread support among school people. St. Louis is a single school district, so the principle of equalized educational opportunity that the measure would permit in the county already operates in the city.

The third item would enable St. Louis county to increase its tax for general operating purposes from 35 to 50 cents. This is a necessary rise—in fact, a good case can be made for lifting the ceiling even higher—but in the nature of things it is bound to attract a certain amount of opposition. The county government could eliminate most of that opposition by moving to reform its patronage-ridden administrative setup. If it does not, then the people will have to act for reform on their own.

Reminder from Mr. Adams

The memoirs of Sherman Adams, now being published in Life magazine, re-emphasize the deficiency in our governmental structure that was brought to public attention at the time of President Eisenhower's heart attack. It is that we have no provision for delegating presidential authority when the President is unable to act.

Mr. Adams notes that for two months after the attack the government was managed by an informal committee of six. But he stresses that "all of us were well aware that a national or international emergency could have arisen during the President's illness to make this unofficial government by 'community of understanding' entirely inadequate." He continues:

> And so this interlude of sickness and uncertainty came to an end. But it left us uncomfortably aware of the Constitution's failure to provide for the direction of the government by an acting President when the President is temporarily unable to perform his functions. It was only good fortune that carried the government without crisis through that last week of September in 1955 when the President was lying under an oxygen tent in Denver.

Mr. Adams, who was The Assistant to the President and one of the committee of six, knows whereof he speaks. But despite repeated warnings during Mr. Eisenhower's tenure, nothing was done. Nor do we know of any move to take action now.

Nevertheless this important matter should not be kept on the shelf. Congress should establish a simple procedure to enable the Vice President to act during periods of presidential incapacity; and to answer the objections of some, a Constitutional amendment might also be submitted. The procedure when a President dies in office is clear; what to do when he is temporarily unable to fulfill his duties should be equally explicit.

In these days of conflict and crisis this is imperative. We cannot gamble on the luck of September, 1955.

For Pride and for Profit

Obviously with the St. Louis bicentenary in mind, Mayor Tucker has proposed a new bond issue for consideration by the Citizens' Bond Issue Supervisory Committee and, eventually, for approval by the voters. The money would be used within three years, or in time to complete much of the city's rehabilitation by 1964.

Part of the proposed new issue will have to be devoted to such delayed maintenance as street repairs, building improvements, slum clearance and the like.

Certain permanent enhancements, however, also are contemplated. For example, the new bonds would cover the city's share of the cost of relocating streets and providing parking facilities in connection with the riverfront stadium. There would be money for additions to the Art Museum, the Public Library and the Jefferson Memorial in Forest Park. A site would be made available within the city for the Museum of Transportation. There would be funds for a marina, for improvements to the zoo, for further expansion of the Memorial Plaza, and for the proposed new City-County airport.

The suggested projects add up to a total of $32,133,000. This is well within the $39,000,000 current limit on further general obligation bonds. And the Supervisory Committee, of course, may eliminate a project or two, and pare the amounts asked for others. The committee also ought to double-check to see whether all priority items have been included in the Mayor's list. Does the Police Department need capital funds for new police stations, for example?

St. Louis has made great strides. That was graphically shown in the recent Post-Dispatch pictorial supplement. But this also was a reminder of how much still must be done. While further federal and private funds are made available for housing and redevelopment, these should be supplemented by additional bond issue funds—especially for projects to be completed by 1964. This is a matter of civic pride. It should be remembered, too, that St. Louis will prosper in direct proportion to its rehabilitation. Improvement is a good investment.

Talking Transit in Illinois

Commissioners of the Bi-State Development Agency will get a chance Wednesday night in Granite City to discuss the transit problem with mayors of St. Clair and Madison county communities. We hope that all 10 commissioners will be on hand—the five from Missouri and the five from Illinois, not merely the two-member transit committee of Commissioners D. Richard Adams and C. M. Roos. There is nothing like getting information at first hand.

The problem for Bi-State and for the East Side municipal executives is whether the agency should act on the Gilman report's recommendation that it create a publicly-owned metropolitan system embracing Madison and St. Clair counties as well as St. Louis and St. Louis county. We think such a system is essential to the well-being of the whole metropolitan area, and that the practical economies of its operation dictate that it be publicly owned.

Public transit service cannot be improved unless it is relieved of the burden of supporting government—national and state governments as well as government at the local level. If taxpayers in St. Clair and Madison county communities must give up the aid of transit tax revenues they now enjoy, it seems reasonable to us that they should ask the private operators to give up their profits and sell out to a public agency such as Bi-State which would pay neither taxes nor dividends.

There is just not enough profit in the bus business to provide a reasonably high level of service plus dividends to stockholders plus tax support to all levels of government. A publicly-owned operation under Bi-State, using the same managers and bus drivers now employed by the private companies, would permit more of the fare-box take to be put into improved service. Bi-State is the only agency that has the power on its own motion to create a metropolitan system providing just that level of service improvement, and in our judgment it has an obligation to get going. What do the East Side mayors say?

The Real Danger in Wall Street

It Is Unrealistic Speculation, Especially in New Issues; Public Should Be Warned

An Editorial in Business Week

Everybody likes a bull market, and Wall Street is entitled to make the most of the boom in stocks that is now under way. But it is time that the responsible members of the financial community stepped back and took a long, hard look at some of the things that are going on in the securities markets today.

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Wall Street has spent a great deal of effort and money convincing the public of the merits of owning common stock. The public is now responding—in far greater numbers than Wall Street ever expected. Over the past five years, the number of shareholders in public corporations has jumped from 8,600,000 to an estimated 15,000,000—so that a substantial part of the population now has a direct stake in the market.

Indeed, the cult of equities is now in full swing. Common stocks are the newest of status symbols, with the greatest admiration—and envy—reserved for those who can boast of getting shares in hot new issues.

There is nothing wrong with informed investing or intelligent speculation. They are essential ingredients of a free enterprise economy. But evidence is accumulating that the public is beginning to believe that prices, particularly on new issues, can only rise. And when such a notion takes hold, moderation gives way to reckless excess that no appeal to reason can stop.

Already some warning notes have been sounded. The Securities and Exchange Commission is following up on its recent revelations of manipulation by two specialists on the American Stock Exchange with a full-scale investigation of the A.S.E. Keith Funston, the president of the New York Stock Exchange, has twice warned against the get-rich-quick attitude now in evidence, rebuking investors for putting money into shares of companies "whose names they can't identify, whose products are unknown to them, and whose prospects are, at best, highly uncertain."

BULL MARKET

—Post-Dispatch, Oct. 14, 1955.

Having Good Days and Bad Days

The magnetic lure of a capital gain is strongest in the new issues market. Almost every new offering, whatever its prospects, is heavily oversubscribed. Buyers do not care about values; they are simply betting that they can unload at higher prices to other bidders.

This sort of thinking was responsible in the eighteenth century for the Mississippi Mania, for the South Sea Bubble that followed. It was responsible for the New Era economics of the 1929 market. And it is at least partly responsible for the current demand for new issues.

As a result, the market is being flooded with stock offerings by new companies. Over 200 were marketed in the first quarter, and more are on the calendar. Some, of course, may turn out to be tomorrow's blue chips, but most buyers have no interest in future prospects of the companies. They are simply after a quick killing.

The apportioning of new issues now going on is reminiscent of the 1929 era, when each underwriting house had its preferred list of insiders who were assured of getting scarce stock that could be sold at an immediate profit. This does not mean that we are headed for another 1929. Today's securities markets are on a far sounder base. Margin requirements are high; trading is subject to regulation by both the SEC and the financial community itself. Wall Street has learned, the hard way, the virtue of living in a goldfish bowl, and it has been rewarded by a high degree of public confidence.

Most members of the financial community recognize — and privately deplore—the goings on in the new issues market, but they prefer to take refuge in the fact that the current wave of speculation has nothing to do with their own activities. This is a shortsighted view, one that is based on the theory that it is a mistake to rock the boat. But the boat may capsize if speculation gets out of hand.

The fact is that the public thinks of the financial community as a single entity. It makes no distinctions between one part of Wall Street and another. Thus, if trouble erupts in the new issues market, Wall Street's blind-eye attitude could result in a black eye for the financial community as a whole.

There is no way to legislate or regulate against human folly. But every house in Wall Street has a responsibility to the public—to insure that its own representatives are not involved in questionable activity, and to make clear that folly will not be rewarded.

Wall Street would be serving no more than its own self-interest if some of the well-known members of the financial community took the lead in speaking out publicly against the kind of speculative activity that has been going on. There is no guarantee that the public will take heed. But if the responsible men of Wall Street speak out often enough and loud enough it is bound to have a salutary effect—if not on the public then on those members of the financial community who have not realized that moderation is the golden rule in all things.

NARROW ROADS TO FREEWAYS

As the man said, narrow roads on which two cars could barely pass have been exchanged for freeways on which six or eight cars can easily be involved in one crash.

Between Book Ends Jaunt Through Sunny Spain

THE ROAD TO THE SNAIL, by William P. McGivern. (Dodd, Mead, 211 pgs., $3.50.)

Drudging along in his family hotel business, steady, reliable Dennis Campbell planned a glorious vacation in Spain—wonderful, lazy months in which he could lie in the sun or visit romantic sites and most of all be free of the unglamorous details, the dreary responsibilities of his daily unexciting job. It was a goal he set for himself, the scheme of several years.

McGivern

At last, when the time came and Dennis arrived in Mirimar, he was anxious that nothing should mar the perfection of his idea. He found and promptly leased a lovely old villa, the Snail, or to put it more euphemistictlly, the Caracol, set high on a mountainside above a sleepy and picturesque little village. The only drawback—the fact that there was no road to the Snail—promised an easy solution, for the Marquesa, who lived still higher on the mountain, had promised to construct a road, complete with towering shade trees and a wading pool for the village children, very soon.

An ominous note was struck when Dennis, having settled in the villa, found that the selfsame road had been promised by the father of the Marquesa and by her grandfather before him and that there was no immediate, nor even an eventual prospect of its actual construction.

It is here that each character in the story begins behaving in a manner exactly typical of his national stereotype. Dennis is smarting under the uncomfortable conviction that he has been made a fool of. Like a true Britisher who dies bravely defending a forlorn hope, wearing the old school tie and a stiff upper lip, he decides to build the road by himself. Kipling would understand; so would Maugham or Wodehouse. The Marquesa, impoverished but proud (and beautiful), conceals her destitution under a mantle of aristocratic Spanish courage, preferring criticism to pity.

Pye Littlejohn, the American, blunders in at this point. He is the veteran of a myriad of alphabetical fact-finding government agencies, redolent of greenbacks and anxious to scatter his funds among the lesser people of the earth. He has a genuine admiration for any spark of initiative and enterprise he might find, and is willing, even overwhelmingly eager to help it on with a little good old American know-how and capital.

There are even Russians murmuring off-stage, and how do they behave? Like Russians, of course, hiding their envy behind a mask of concern for the welfare of a people being exploited by the aggressive Americans.

"The Road to the Snail" is a pleasant little jaunt in sunny Spain, but there are cleverly constructed pitfalls of satire along its smooth surface which may give several jolts to the internationally minded traveler.

Kennedy Foes Fight Tractor Deal

WASHINGTON.

THE FIGHT IN CONGRESS against the "tractors-for-prisoners" exchange with Premier Fidel Castro of Cuba is a fight against Kennedy Administration policy. It may not die, therefore, but it will certainly lose much of its steam.

Fleeson

The President acted quickly and openly after protests mounted in Congress against "Castro blackmail." In the presence of Special Counsel Theodore C. Sorenson, Assistant White House Press Secretary Andrew Hatcher traced the President's course for reporters in some detail. The President did ask Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt, Walter Reuther and Dr. Milton Eisenhower to organize the tractor-prisoner swap and raise funds for it. He acted after hearing that a number of committees were springing up for the same purpose, which he supports as a charitable effort, worth making for itself and for its impact within this hemisphere.

He had first asked if it would be a violation of the Logan Act, forbidding individuals from negotiating with foreign governments, and was told it would not.

President May Give.

He also satisfied himself that contributions would be tax exempt, as are other funds given to charity and that export licenses in such matters were routinely granted.

Hatched capped this package with the observation that it appeared likely the President himself would contribute as a private person.

The President talked first to Mrs. Roosevelt, who was already exploring means of being helpful as a private person. When she mentioned tractors, he thought of Reuther and he himself added Dr. Eisenhower, both for the sake of bipartisanship and because Dr. Eisenhower has been a successful envoy to Latin America.

What the President seems to have neglected—and it is odd because he was in Congress and has gone to extreme lengths to conciliate his former colleagues in other ways—was to tip off key foreign policy lieutenants on The Hill.

Their indignation over being left out of Cuban invasion policy was never exactly a secret. Now, before those wounds have had time to heal, he has done it again.

Reliable Congressional sources say that the President gave his Senate and House leaders no inkling that he was so deeply involved in the Roosevelt-Reuther-Eisenhower committee when he met with them, as usual, last Tuesday. The Castro offer was mentioned, but only in passing.

Complaints Unforeseen.

Jt is hardly likely that Kennedy did not realize what a tempting target the three Americans he selected are to the right wing, both Republican and Democratic. It is automatic for the more inflammable members of that group to be against anything Mrs. Roosevelt, Reuther and Dr. Eisenhower are for.

Once they began to complain, the President had no choice but to speak up as he did. The wonder is that he did not foresee it, alert his allies on The Hill and, above all, keep his own staff in line.

For it is reliably said that Richard Goodwin, his chief Latin-American adviser in the absence of an Assistant Secretary of State for Latin-American Affairs, was the source of flat disclaimers that the White House was involved in the tractor-prisoner swap or that the President had requested Mrs. Roosevelt, Reuther and Dr. Eisenhower to take over.

ATTRIBUTES RED GAIN LARGELY TO WOMEN

Russia's technological breakthroughs have taken place because of the most active involvement of women, Sister Annette Walters C.S.J., executive secretary of the National Sister Formation Conference in Washington, said here yesterday.

Sister Annette, who is on leave as chairman of the psychology department of the College of St. Catherine, St. Paul, Minn., was principal speaker at commencement exercises at Fontbonne College.

Sixty-eight young women received degrees at the ceremony. Cardinal Joseph E. Ritter conferred the degrees on the graduates. The Very Rev. Paul C. Reinert S.J., president of St. Louis University, presented the candidates for the degrees.

Women Shaping History.

Women in a free Christian society must be equal in their intellectual accomplishment to their sisters in Communist countries, Sister Annette told the graduates. It is no secret in the post-Sputnik and post-astronaut days that one-half or more of the teachers in Russia are women, including science teachers, she declared.

"Women in all parts of the world are helping at this moment of history to shape the course of events as they have never before done," she continued. "In the forefront of world shaking social and political movements, women of rare gifts are emerging everywhere—in India, China and Africa—and in the newly developing countries perhaps even more than in western nations."

Sister Annette, an author, who has conducted two television series in the St. Paul-Minneapolis area on mental health, told the group there is "a great deal of confusion concerning the legitimate purpose of a college."

Major Purpose of a College.

"One misconception is that the college is a service station which supplants the family, the church and other agencies of education in teaching young people everything they need to know, such as how to conduct a meeting according to parliamentary law, how to repair vacuum cleaners and other home appliances," Sister Annette said.

"The college has one preeminent purpose above all others. Its primary and indispensable function is the cultivation of the intellectual virtues."

The most indispensable tool for the cultivation of the intellectual virtues is an excellent faculty, Sister Annette asserted. "You will remember," she advised the graduates, "that a college degree indicates only that you have learned how to approach problems in an intellectually sound and rewarding way."

Reliever Cicotte Stops Bucs; Cards Play Dodgers in L.A. Tonight

Birds Rout Haddix in First With Six Runs

By John J. Archibald

Al Cicotte has been bouncing around in baseball for 13 years, but he and his new teammates, the Cardinals, may have brighter days ahead because last summer Al came up with a new weapon — a sidearm pitch. At Busch Stadium yesterday Cicotte silenced Pittsburgh's angry bats in a long relief job and the Redbirds whipped the Pirates again, 8 to 4.

Tonight the Cardinals will be in Los Angeles, where they will begin a one-week trip with a game against the Dodgers starting at 10 o'clock, St. Louis time. Larry Jackson probably will face the Dodgers' Sandy Koufax.

Manager Solly Hemus and his men go into the series with the Dodgers with a three-game winning streak, all of the victories coming against the world champion Pirates. The final with the Bucs seemed to have been assured in the first inning when the Cardinals piled up a 6-0 lead by routing Harvey Haddix, but the visitors were threatening to take the ball park apart when Cicotte hurried to the rescue of starter Ray Sadecki.

Cicotte Ready for Task.

When Gino Cimoli followed Stuart's drive with a sharp single, Hemus called for Cicotte. It was just the second time in 30 days that the 31-year-old righthander had gone into a game, but the veteran had kept himself ready. For Pittsburgh the fun was over.

Cicotte allowed Don Hoak a hit, but he retired the next two batters to end the inning. Five scattered singles were all that Cicotte gave up in the remaining six frames. He walked two batters and struck out seven, as he improved his record to 2 and 2.

Nearly half of Cicotte's pitches came whistling in at Pittsburgh's righthanded batters sidearm, an angle which magnifies the advantage a righthanded hurler is assumed to have over such swingers. Al said he has been throwing that way for less than a year.

"I was pretty good with Toronto last season using the usual stuff—fast balls, curves, sliders—but every once in a while I'd sneak in a sidearm pitch," said Cicotte. "My catcher, Tim Thompson, told me I ought to use it more often. It wasn't hard for me to control, so I started sidearming more and more."

14-Hit Attack by Birds.

Just how much the new delivery was responsible no one can say, but Cicotte became the International League's best pitcher last season. His 16-7 record and 1.79 earned-run average aroused the interest of the Cardinal organization, among others, and he was obtained in a trade for three Redbird farmhands.

Sharing the hero role with Cicotte was Kenny Boyer, who delivered a three-run double in the first inning off starter Haddix and batted in another run in the fourth. Charlie James knocked in two runs in the initial frame with his first home run of the season, a liner that went well up into the left-field seats.

The Cardinals had 14 hits in all, with Curt Flood, Bill White, Daryl Spencer, Hal Smith and Boyer getting two apiece.

This is Cicotte's fourth season in the majors, but his first in the National League. After 10 seasons of minor league ball, plus two years in military service, Cicotte spent 1957 with the Yankees (won 2, lost 2), 1958 with the Senators and Tigers (3-4) and 1959 with the Indians (3-1). After that it was down to Toronto.

A Man Who Needed Work.

"Control was my chief problem," said Cicotte. "My bases on balls and strikeout totals were too nearly equal. During my three years in the American

Full Up With Bunt

BILL WHITE of Cardinals drops bat and heads for first after laying down bunt that went for hit and loaded the bases in first inning of baseball game with the Pittsburgh Pirates at Busch Stadium. The Pittsburgh catcher is HAL SMITH.

Flood Safe on Infield Hits Twice in Inning

The Cardinals loaded the bases in yesterday's first inning without hitting a ball out of the infield, a frame in which leadoff man Curt Flood twice beat out short hoppers to third baseman Don Hoak.

After Flood's first safety, Julian Javier bunted and the ball bounced so high that by the time it came down he was on first base. The Pirates were unable to make a play on either man.

Bill White then laid down a bunt and it did so well that he beat first baseman Dick Stuart's throw to pitcher Harvey Haddix. Kenny Boyer then drove in all three runners with his double to the wall in right-center.

A single by Daryl Spencer sent in Boyer and Charlie James's homer made it six men up and six men scored.

When Haddix hit the seventh batter, Joe Cunningham, in the ribs, Umpire Al Forman walked to the mound. He told Haddix that he was liable to the automatic $50 fine for deliberately throwing at a batter. Should the umpire, in his report to National League headquarters, state that, in his opinion, Haddix was guilty of deliberately throwing at a batter, the fine very likely would be assessed.

Reliever Fred Green, meanwhile, had a chance to warm up. When the argument subsided he took the place of Haddix on the mound for Pittsburgh.

Cunningham left the game in the fifth because of soreness in the side where he was hit, but he said after the game that it was nothing serious. . . . Attendance was 16,632. . . . Dick Groat lined a pitch against the wall in left-center in the first inning, but when he tried to stretch it into a triple he was out so far that he didn't even try to slide into third.

On the home stand the Cardinals won five and lost two. They have been the victors in seven of their last nine games, including the doubleheader in Chicago on May 21.—J.J.A.

Broad Jump Medal to Ron Valls

More than a week after the Missouri State Class A outdoor track meet, Ron Valls of St. Louis Sumner has been declared winner of the broad jump.

In actual competition, Valls was second to University's Bob Stratton, who leaped 22 feet, 5 inches, compared with the Sumner ace's jump of 21-11½. However, the Missouri High School Activities Association Board of Control ruled that Stratton's jump would not count.

The ruling said that a jump by Stratton, which had been called a practice leap at the state meet in Columbia on May 20, was an official jump and thus his leap of 22-5, which came on his last try at Columbia, did not count.

That cut University City's team total to 14 instead of 19, but that still was enough for the Indians to retain third place in the final team standings. Beaumont's first-place total of 29 remained unchanged. Soldan's second place total of 21 jumped one point when William Jones was moved up from fourth to third in the broad jump.

Judy Torluemke Defeated in British Golf

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, May 29 (AP)—Judy Torluemke, 16-year-old St. Louis, Mo., golfer today was knocked out of the British women's amateur championship—and finished her match in tears.

The American youngster started badly by taking four putts on the first green and was three down at the turn.

Then she fought back over this famous Scottish course where Ben Hogan won the British Open championship in 1953. She gained confidence and by the 16th was all square.

A second shot into the bushes saw her lose the 17th. The final hole was squared and Miss Torluemke had lost by that single hole.

Miss Barbara McIntire, the American Curtis Cup player who won the title last year, is not defending. The only other American entry, Mrs. Ann Stranahan of Iverness, Ohio received byes into the third round.

Boston Sets Record of 27 ft., ½ in.

MODESTO, Calif., May 29 (UPI)—Unassuming Ralph Boston, who still says that his favorite event is the hurdles, had to admit today that maybe he "just might" better stick to the broad jump.

Boston, 22-year-old bio-chemistry senior at Tennessee A. & I., became the first man in history to better 27 feet when he jumped one-half inch past that mark in the California Relays Saturday night.

"I didn't believe it," he said. "But somebody was going to do it sooner or later. I'm going to try and better that mark. But if I don't, I'm sure someone else will."

Boston thus broke one of the last major barriers in the track and field world. The 60-foot mark in the shot put, the seven-foot height in the high jump and the four-minute mark in the mile also are gone.

Boston gave a great performance. In six tries he went better than 26 feet. The measurements, in order, were: 26 5¾, 26 9¾, 26 5¼, 27½, 26 1¾ and 26 10¼. On his shorter jumps he was at least six inches behind the take-off spot.

Boston, who won the Olympic crown in Rome last summer, plans to stay in shape to jump in the 1964 games at Tokyo.

He needed his really fine showing to steal the spotlight from little Jim Beatty, the courageous miler from Santa Clara. Beatty was clocked in 3:58.8 in the mile and complained about the slowness of the race later.

There were some other outstanding performances. Hal Connolly, the hammer thrower, used a new four-turn formula and got a toss of 226 feet, 5½ inches, longest in the world this year.

Don Styron of Southern Illinois won the 220-yard low hurdles in the fast time of 22.1 seconds. His twin brother, Dave, took first in the 220-yard dash in 20.7 seconds.

St. Louisans Win Tennis Honors

Irene Johnson of St. Louis and Dianna Drummond of Kansas City won the girl (18-year-old division) doubles championship in the Kansas City (Kan.) Open holiday tennis tournament. They defeated Andrea Western of St. Louis and Barbara Wintroub in the final, 8-6, 6-2.

Miss Johnson and Mary Ann Eisel, also of St. Louis, reached the semifinal round in singles, where Miss Eisel lost to Patty Doane of Kansas City, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, and Miss Johnson was defeated by Miss Doane.

Top honors in a round robin for players 13 or under was taken by Andrea Western of St. Louis with a final 6-0, 6-0 victory over Jenny Wells of St. Louis.

A major upset in the junior boys' play was recorded by Frank Connor of Belleville, who defeated top-seeded Todd Ballinger of Kansas City in the second round, 6-0, 6-3. He lost to Ballinger, 6-3, 6-4, in the semifinals of the 15-year-old boys' division, Connor was eliminated in the semis in junior play by Dave Fearheller of Columbia, Mo., 6-1, 6-0.

Scots on a Binge

When Scotland sent its international soccer team over here 22 years ago, the Scots handed a humiliating 10-2 trimming to the best American professionals money could buy.

In addition to the imported players who had won national championships under a St. Louis banner, Phil Riley had brought in the aggressive Pittsburgh forward, Aldo (Buff) Donelli, now Columbia University football coach.

After the rout in which the Scots' center forward scored seven goals as easily as though he was tripping through the heather on the hill in his native Highlands, Dent McSkimming interviewed the visitors' manager.

The Scot couldn't understand the local defense. What was the St. Louis center halfback, Bill Watson, doing playing up near Scotland's penalty area rather than back on defense helping his fullbacks?

The explanation, of course, was that Watson, one of the finest Association football players in the land, merely was doing what came naturally in United States soccer.

Offense is more fun than defense, in any sport — more fun, though not nearly as consistent or, as a result, rewarding or even satisfying — and the typical American center halfback spent too much time up front and not enough in his own backfield.

Latest 'Model'

Back there in 1939 St. Louis learned a lesson in soccer tactics from Scotland, the difference between the uncertain two-back system and the more sound defense in which the center half really is a third fullback. European-style technique, subsequently taught here by the late Hans Strnadl, brought the United States up to date in strategy, if not ability or, more appropriately, soccer concentration and conditioning.

Now, apparently, we've fallen behind again in tactics, as Third Lanark, an old established Scottish team, probably will prove against the C.Y.C. All-Stars tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 at Public Schools Stadium.

The three-back system has been replaced at the international level by a four-man defensive backfield that was introduced by Brazil in the last few years and used so successfully, the London Times pointed out, in England's recent 8-0 rout of Mexico.

The 4-2-4 defense came in because in the ancient battle of wits between offense and defense, the attack had learned to counteract the 3-2-2-3.

Defense Pays

The one rub, as Bob Guelker found out when he tried to use the 4-2-4 against the Chicago All-Stars last week, is that the thinned out midfield puts considerable pressure on the two wing halfbacks assigned to cover the wide area between their four forwards and their four backs.

Using the "W" formation, the soccer synonym for the 3-2-2-3, the C.Y.C. team blanked Chicago the second half, thanks in large part to better balance because of the 2-2 (box) midfield. But the three-man front line didn't have the firepower necessary to overcome a five-goal deficit.

Even if the Scots administer a soccer lesson tomorrow—and the Memorial day attraction should be well worthwhile—the local players aren't likely to be humbled as much as were their professional predecessors, the bare-kneed football Hessians of 22 years ago.

They've learned here, as everywhere, you see that in international soccer as in American football, defense comes first, offense second. As Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson puts it, "A team has to avoid losing before it can think of winning."

Golf Winner

Fleming Cody shot 74-70—144 to win the Tyus golf tournament in Forest Park Sunday. Calvin Tanner was second with a 145 total. Mamie Blake captured women's honors with 167. Alfred Jones shot 85 to take the nine-hole junior boys' competition and Debra Rhodes won the junior girls' division with 64.

A's and Indians Wallop 10

NEW YORK, May 29 (UPI) — Major league big guns fired a record salvo of home runs yesterday to mark the approach of the Memorial day milestone.

There were 37 homers, surpassing the previous record of 34 for 11 games, which drew 154,756 fans.

And when it was all over, the Detroit Tigers and San Francisco Giants virtually were assured of occupying first place on the night of May 30—a fact which history says gives them a better-than-even chance to meet in the World Series next October.

26 A. L. Homers.

No less than 26 homers were hit in seven American League games and another 11 were hit in four National League contests. There were 10 homers hit in the Cleveland-Kansas City doubleheader and another nine belted in the Chicago-New York twin bill.

The Tigers, powered by three homers, walloped the Los Angeles Angels, 9-4, and took a 3½ game lead in the American League. They're assured of leading the league the night of May 30 no matter what happens in the next 48 hours.

The Giants overcame Ernie Banks's grand slam homer and beat the Chicago Cubs, 6-5. They now lead the National League by 2½ games and will have at least a share of first place tomorrow night if they don't lose three games in 36 hours to the Cincinnati Reds.

The New York Yankees scored a 5-3 victory after losing, 14-9, to the Chicago White Sox; the Cleveland Indians split with the Kansas City Athletics, winning, 9-1, then losing, 8-4; the Washington Senators topped the Minnesota Twins, 6-4, and the Boston Red Sox defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 5-0, in other A.L. games.

In the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers shaded the Milwaukee Braves, 4-3; the Cincinnati Reds downed the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-2, and the St. Louis Cardinals whipped the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, 8-4.

That reversed the results of Saturday night's game when rookie righthander Ken McBride scored his fifth straight victory with a five-hitter as the Angels dealt the Tigers their third consecutive loss, 10-1. Ted Kluszewski hit a three-run homer for the Angels and Hunt, who had a homer, two doubles and a single, also picked up three RBIs.

Pagan Wins Game.

Jose Pagan's ninth-inning single drove in the winning run for the Giants, who handed the Cubs their seventh consecutive defeat.

Stu Miller, who yielded a ninth-inning homer to Ed Bouchee, picked up his third victory of the season.

Home runs by Al Smith, Wes Covington and Floyd Robinson paced the White Sox to their opening-game victory that ended a six-game losing streak, but the Yankees split the doubleheader behind Jim Coates's six innings of shutout relief and a homer by Roger Maris.

Covington and pinch-hitter Bob Cerv hit grand-slams in the first game and Robinson also drove in four runs. Bill Skowron singled home the decisive run in the nightcap.

Homers by Vic Power and Johnny Romano paced the Indians to their first-game victory, but the Athletics squared matters in the nightcap on round-trippers by Leo Posada, Dick Howser, Norm Siebern and Joe Pignatano. Norm Bass pitched a six-hitter, including homers by Johnny Romano. Woodie Held and Jimmy Piersall, to win his third game for Kansas City in the nightcap.

Gene Green's two-run homer helped the Senators complete a three-game sweep of the Twins with Marty Kutyna receiving credit for his third straight win. Harmon Killebrew homered for the Twins.

Don Schwall turned in the best pitching effort of the day with a seven-hitter and eight strikeouts for the Red Sox. Frank Malzone's three-run fourth-inning homer was the big blow.

Burdette Fails.

Dick Farrell pitched six innings of shutout relief for the Dodgers, who beat Lew Burdette for the ninth time at Milwaukee since July, 1956. Hank Aaron drove in all the Braves' runs with a homer and a double. The game-winning blow was a fourth-inning single by Maury Wills.

Vada Pinson hit a pair of two-run homers and Bob Purkey pitched an eight-hitter for the Reds, who dealt Frank Sullivan his fifth defeat. Johnny Callison and Frank Herrera had two hits each for the Phillies.

Old Pro Mumm Puts Out Fire, Keeps Kutis North Unbeaten

By Dave Lipman

Nine years in professional baseball taught Don Mumm, a pitcher turned teacher, a great deal about getting opposing batters out.

The physical education instructor at Hanley Junior High in University City — who still pitches, but as an amateur now —dipped into that experience yesterday as Kutis North of the Muny Baseball Association's North-South Traveling League posted its fourth victory without a defeat. That is the only perfect record in Muny ball.

Mumm, who was in the Cardinal chain from 1949 until 1957 when he left to take up teaching, relieved Jay Dempsey in the last of the eighth against C.S.M.A.C. He shut off a three-run rally that tied the score, then scored the leading run in the top of the ninth on Tom McCormick's triple and blanked C.S.M.A.C. in the last of the ninth.

That gave Kutis North a 4-3 victory and a one-game lead over the Ceresias, 7-6 winner over Kutis South, in the league's North Side Division.

The Kimacks remained in first place in the league's South Side division with a 3-1 record by topping Union Printers, 8-3, behind the eight-hit pitching of Mal Murphy. Murphy had a shutout until the ninth.

Red Villas Win No. 5.

The Red Villas of the Muny Association's Heine Meine League gained their fifth victory in six starts as Fred Blasberg pitched a seven-hit, 4-1 victory ver the Vonder Haars at Meine Field.

Meanwhile, the Hoffmeisters, defending Muny playoff champions, pounded out 14 hits, six for extra bases, in a 9-1 breeze over the Connie Haefners.

Blasberg's second victory in two starts for the Red Villas was aided by Marty McCabe's four hits in five trips. The Vonder-Haars' Bob McLeod spoiled the no-hitter in the seventh with a homer.

Joe Mowry of the Hoffmeisters got two hits, including a triple, and drove in two runs. Teammate Ralph Hochgrebe had a double and a single and two RBIs.

The Diamonds of the North-South Traveling League finally got into the victory column after four straight defeats by stopping Borbein-Young, 13-10.

The Trojans and Clowns remained in a first place tie in the Curt Flood League, each with a 3-1 record, by defeating the Pelicans and Cats, respectively. William Harris and Carlton Spratt each had three hits in the Trojans' 12-10 victory, but the Pelicans' Henry Ashley took hitting honors with a homer, triple and double in three trips. The Clowns' Ken Lesley, who twice before has had three hits in a game, came up with a three-for-five afternoon as his team won, 10-5.

Monarchs Edge Giants.

Sylvester Cardwell's two-run homer was the difference as the Monarchs defeated the East St. Louis Giants, 13-12, in the Muny's Metropolitan League.

Willie Harris's three-run homer sent the Grays soaring to a 20-9 victory over the Rams. In the only tightly pitched game in the Metropolitan League, Loren Cunningham gave up just five hits while pitching the Robins to a 2-1 triumph over the Cubs. Rich Taylor had a home run and three singles in five trips and Ed Jones three doubles and a triple in five times at bat for the winners.

John Orlando of Vigus in the County League hit two home runs, two doubles and a single in his team's 18-3 decision over the Twin City Reds. The victory kept Vigus (4-1) one-half game behind Geisler-Jorgen (5-1), which defeated Manchester, 7-4, behind the six-hit pitching of Al Sona.

In other games, Walter Wielgus's three-run homer and three hits each by Dan Costello, Eddie Hopkins and Rich Ryan sparked the McAteers to an 18-12 victory over Granite City Sacred Heart; Wally Rosekranz had four-for-six, three RBIs and scored three runs as Collinsville stopped Carpenter, 14-4; Mercers edged Pocahontas, 4-2, and White City topped Troy, 7-4.

St. Agnes, which had won its first two games in the Bishop Winkelmann Senior League in the C.Y.C, Association, suffered its first defeat when St. Pius posted a 5-2 victory behind the four-hit pitching of Perry Jones, who fanned 12.

Ron Devolo's homer in the last of the seventh gave Our Lady of Sorrows a 7-6 victory over Epiphany in a Bishop Byrne Senior League game that was marked by a triple play. With men on first and second in the second, first baseman Clarence Moehl speared a line drive, stepped on second for a double play and threw to second baseman Don Nary, who stepped on the bag to complete the triple play.

Wayne Patton's two home runs, John Lamaer's homer and single and Bill Schacht's two for two, including a homer, were the high spots in a 15-5 triumph by Seven Holy Founders over St. Francis in the Bishop Winkelmann League. . . . Jim Gummersbach of Epiphany in the Juvenile Division pitchd a no-hit, 11-0 victory over St. Joan of Arc.

Len Lallay Steals Second and Home For 1-0 Victory

Third baseman Len Lallay of the Garrisons in the Khoury Baseball Association's Charles Shaw Senior League isn't a man to worry whether his teammates will advance him if he gets on base.

Against the Pirates yesterday at Heman Park No. 1, Lallay opened the last of the fifth with a single and promptly stole second. After being singled to third, he stole home. That was the only run in the game as the Garrisons defeated the Pirates, 1-0.

C.Y.C. Stars Face 45-Goal Scoring Forward Tomorrow

By Dent McSkimming

Scotland's Third Lanark team brings first-class soccer to St. Louis tomorrow in its match with the Catholic Youth Council squad of picked players. The 2:30 p.m. game at Public Schools Stadium is the seventh in the series of annual visits of leading European teams offered by the C.Y.C. in its soccer development program.

On the basis of its record in the final two months of the Scottish League season Third Lanark should give as fine a show as St. Louis fans have ever seen. Tied for sixth place in the 18-club First Division about 10 weeks before the season's close, Third Lanark put on a drive that earned a third-place finish. Had the drive started a little earlier the team probably would have taken the league title, Scottish writers agreed.

A leading force in that spectacular spurt was center forward Alex Harley, 24-year-old performer who broke a 30-year-old club scoring record by tallying 45 times. He is probably the most most prolific scorer ever to come up against St. Louis veteran center half-back, Charley Colombo.

Less colorful, perhaps, but no less efficient, has been the Third Lanark defense, tailored especially by Manager George Young who was, himself, Scotland's greatest right halfback and center forward. C.Y.C. players and team leaders expect to learn a thing or two about newest soccer tactics from this visit of Third Lanark.

This is the fifth game of Third's U.S.-Canada tour. After defeating English League Birmingham City at New York, 4-1, Third won at Philadelphia from the U.S. Open Cup holders, Ukrainian Nationals, 2-1, then defeated Fall River, Mass., 3-0, and, Saturday lost to Birmingham City, 3-2, at Toronto.

Cardinals

League I couldn't get enough work to sharpen my control."

Staying in shape while going for weeks without game competition with the Cardinals had Cicotte concerned. The postponed games and the effectiveness of the other Redbird pitchers made it possible for Lindy McDaniel to do most of the relief work.

"I pitched a little every day during workouts, but that isn't the same as a game, of course," Cicotte said. "Besides, you have to take it easy because you know you might get called into the game later that day, I did extra running, though, and anything else that I thought would keep me in condition."

In the last two innings it appeared that Cicotte might be losing a little of his stuff. A fine play by Spencer on Hoak's smash over second helped avert trouble in the eighth.

Pinch-hitter Bob Skinner, one of the few lefthanders to face Cicotte, single to start the ninth. Bill Virdon struck out and Dick Groat forced Skinner although he hit the ball well. Clemente smacked a line shot near third, but Boyer made the play of the day when he backhanded the ball and fired it over to second for a game-ending force-out.

"I would have only let Cicotte stay in for one more batter, because they were beginning to meet the ball pretty good," said Manager Hemus. "Lindy McDaniel was all warmed up. It wasn't a question of building Al's confidence — he did that during those other innings."

No-Hitter Pitched By Ted Schellhardt

Ted Schellhardt of St. Louis Photo pitched a five-inning no-hitter, stopping the Eagles, 7-0, at Heman Park No. 2 in a University City League encounter in the Khoury Association. He fanned eight and walked two. Photo's Ted Horton had three hits, including a home run.

The Waterson Seniors, defending Khoury champions, opened their season with a 10-4 victory over Florissant Khoury. . . . Mike Wilkerson of Art's Colts in the Khoury Midget Division pitched a perfect game as his team defeated R. B. Rice, 18-0.

The Flanagan Shamrocks of the Khoury Junior Division lost to the Waterson Leopards, 6-2, but came up with a triple play in the second inning. With Leopards on first and third, pitcher Billy Clayton grabbed a line-drive bunt, raced over toward third and tagged out the runner coming down the line there and then threw to first baseman Bill Flanagan, who stepped on the bag.

Ed Walker To Play for St. Louis U.

Ed Walker of Madison High School, a basketball player in whom several Big Ten schools were interested, has indicated his intention to attend St. Louis University next fall, Billiken Coach John Benington said today.

The six-foot-four athlete was all district player as a junior and lettered three years at Madison. Last season Madison was the fifth ranking school in the area.

Walker is the sixth basketball prospect announced by St. Louis U. in recent weeks. He is rated a good rebounder, excellent shooter and an outstanding defensive player.

Hakoah Defeats Saints

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29 (UPI)—Al Mendietta scored two second half goals to give the Hakoah A.C. eleven of San Francisco a 2-0 victory over the Saints of St. Louis, yesterday in the semifinals of the United States junior soccer championships.

Mendietta, the center forward, tallied seven minutes after the second half opened to break a scoreless tie. He added an insurance goal with three minutes of play remaining.

St. Louis applied the pressure in the final five minutes, getting away several good shots, but all attempts were blocked.

Hakoah, playing with the wind, dominated the first half, but St. Louis used eight defenders, and managed to prevent scores with outstanding saves by goalie Denny Stephens.

33 Drivers To Compete In Classic

INDIANAPOLIS, May 29 (AP)—A potential record-breaking field will thunder after a purse of $375,000 or more tomorrow in the golden anniversary 500-mile auto race.

There are 33 drivers, screened from 69 nominees by two weekends of time trials, awaiting the start of the Memorial Day classic.

The vanguard of tomorrow's potential crowd of 200,000 was especially high in its praise of two newcomers, Australian Jack Brabham and Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif.

Brabham, world road racing champion the last two years, challenged the race's 14-year domination by Offenhauser-powered cars built especially for the 2½-mile brick and asphalt track. His English Cooper Climax also was built especially for Indianapolis, but it departed from the American style by having a smaller engine installed behind the driver and a shorter, lighter chassis.

Small Track Ace.

Jones, a terror on smaller American tracks in recent years, had sustained his reputation with fast, heady driving in practice and qualifications. The 27-year-old rookie will pilot a year-old Agajanian Special, an A. J. Watson creation in which Lloyd Ruby of Houston placed seventh in his first start.

Ruby this year has the new Epperly car originally assigned to veteran Tony Bettenhausen, killed May 11 testing another car. This would have been Bettenhausen's fifteenth Memorial Day race.

The favorite—as much as there can be a favorite in this car-smashing contest—is 1959 winner Rodger Ward of Indianapolis. Ward, a former U.S.A.C. national champion, has been running easily at 146.5 miles an hour practicing in a new type Watson.

Jim Rathmann of Miami set the race record of 138.767 last year in the same Watson he is driving this year. He and Ward have finished only a few seconds apart in the last two 500s.

Rathmann in Fourth Row.

Rathmann is back in the line-up with his winning car but will have to start back in the fourth row because of his relatively slow qualifying speed.

The third former winner in the field, Troy Ruttman of Dearborn, Mich, who took the 1952 title, has to start in the eighth row, but isn't likely to be there long. He started in sixth place last year and had passed early leaders Ward and Eddie Sachs before the 50-mile mark. His rear axle gear failed later in the race.

Ruttman and two other starters, Gene Hartley of Indianapolis and rookie Bob Marshman of Pottstown, Pa., are second generation race drivers. Hartley's amazing father, Ted, still is racing midgets at 59 years of age.

Ah, Spring

Quipsters long have substituted the word "baseball" for "love" in the phrase, "In the spring, a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," but a young couple at Crosley Field in Cincinnati managed to embody both phrases. The score was Cincinnati 4, Philadelphia 2, but the couple probably didn't care.

Illinois-Breds In Cahokia Race Tonight

The first of five Monday night thoroughbred racing programs at Cahokia Downs will be held tonight, with a six and one half furlong race for Illinois-breds as the feature. The race will be for three-year-olds and up. The secondary will be a five furlong event for two-year-olds in which Moody Mary, a winner last week, as the probable favorite. Moody Mary paid $3.40 for $2 in the victory last week.

The Memorial Day Handicap and the Speed Handicap are down as the features for tomorrow's afternoon program, beginning at 2 o'clock. Big Burma, a two-time winner, trained by Fred Roenigke and owned by Vorginia Stables, Inc., is the likely favorite for the Memorial day race. The race is at six and one-half furlongs.

Horses expected to give Big Burma a battle for honors are Buster's Bud, Shoot Lad and Son Pat. A total of 14 nominations have been received for the feature.

Four of the nine events will be at a mile or over.

Raymond Turner Rolls 701 in Tournament

Raymond Turner of the Earrings bowled a 253-190-258—701 scratch to boost his team into eighth place in the Last Place Teem Handicap tournament at Golden Eagles Lanes. It was the only major change in the standings after two weeks. The tournament will end June 25. The top three leaders in men's and women's divisions:

Ford Tops Palmer In Playoff

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 29 (UPI)—Doug Ford beat both a mental and a physical opponent in overtime to successfully defend his golf championship and win $9000 in the Speedway Open tournament yesterday.

Ford dropped a birdie putt from 12 feet on the second extra hole to defeat Arnold Palmer.

Afterward, Ford confessed he hadn't been exactly confident he could win when the two of them teed off on the playoff.

"He was driving," he said. "After all, he'd just sunk a 30 foot putt for an eagle to get into the thing. I had thought that all I had to beat was Gary Player and if there was any playoff, it'd be against him. Not against Palmer. And then here he is."

Ford came to the last hole knowing that Player, the leading money winner, had finished his 72 hole test with 274, 10 under par. Ford knew that he needed a birdie to win and he thought he could get it.

Overlooked Palmer.

"But I overlooked the fact that Palmer never gives up," he said. "I knew he could win with an eagle, and I knew he could get to the green in two to have a chance for one. But I didn't expect him to get it. So when he did, and I had to play him, I knew he thought he would win."

They played the first extra hole in par, but on the second, Ford drove with a 3 iron although Palmer used a driver, and they were even going to the green.

Then Ford put in the clincher. Twelve feet from the pin, he rammed the putt home. That put the pressure on Palmer, and he made a valiant try, but his effort rolled off to the right and stopped inches short.

Ford's victory was his first since he won this same tournament in its inaugural last year. The sixteenth tournament win of his career boosted his earnings this season to $15,518, jumping him from thirty-fourth to tenth place in the money winning list. He was been in the top ten money winners every year since 1951.

Ford and Palmer were tied at 273, 11 under par after 72 holes, and Palmer, losing the playoff, still picked up $4600 second money to increase his earnings this year to $46,085. Player got third money of $3000 to increase his earnings to $51,954.

Player's Lament.

Player said a "blown" two-foot putt "cost me about $11,000."

Player missed a three-way tie for first place when he carded a par five on the 72nd hole.

But it wasn't the last hole the South African lamented about. It was the first of the final 18, a 445-yard par four on which he took a bogey five.

"I hit a right good second shot and left myself about 20 feet from the stick," he said. "The birdie putt was a bit on the short side, about two feet.

"And then at the last instant of my next putt, the ball seemed to curl around the hole without dropping in. I was stunned."

"I might have won the playoff and the tournament which would have added $6000," Player said. "And for winning, I would have gotten another $5000 as a bonus from some people who sponsor me. That's $11,000 out the window."

GRAIN TRADE LIGHT, NO MATERIAL CHANGE

CHICAGO, May 29 (AP)—Grain futures prices showed no significant trends today in generally light dealings on the Board of Trade.

In the early afternoon, trade became somewhat more active and several contracts moved up to the plus side of Friday's closes after having been slightly easier most of the day. The late demand was credited mainly to commission firms.

Brokers said speculative trade was of little influence in the market since many of them preferred to stand on positions acquired Friday in view of another holiday tomorrow. A good many speculators were absent from the pits.

Drop in FHA Interest Rate Likely To Spur Cut in Other Mortgages

Decline May Not Be Immediate—Stronger Competition Among Lending Institutions Is Cited.

By William H. Kester
Post-Dispatch Business Correspondent.

The reduction today of ¼ per cent in the maximum interest rate on new FHA-insured mortgage loans increases the pressure to reduce the interest rates on conventional mortgage loans, officials of lending institutions here say.

Friday, President Kennedy ordered the second ¼ per cent reduction in three months in the maximum interest rate on new FHA-insured home loans. The move is part of the Administration's drive to stimulate the pace of home construction and, thus, the entire economy.

W. H. Kester

Although most mortgage loans made are not insured by the FHA, the reduction increases the pressure on rates for conventional loans. When the first ¼ per cent cut in FHA-insured mortgages was made in early February, conventional mortgage interest rates also were reduced by savings and loan associations, banks, insurance companies and other lenders.

The maximum interest rate on FHA-insured mortgages now is 5¼ per cent, compared with the 5¾ per cent rate that was in effect until early February.

However, the reduction may not be accomplished immediately, one lending official pointed out. He expects the rate for most conventional mortgage loans to be 5½ per cent, with some loans made at slightly higher or lower rates, depending on the quality of the loan. The top rate is expected to be between 5¾ and 6 per cent. The prime rate is expected to drop from the present level of 5½ per cent to about 5¼ per cent.

Stronger Competition.

The lower interest rate on new mortgage loans is expected to result from stronger competition among lending institutions. Savings and loan associations that formerly advanced money on homes in the immediate St. Louis area recently have enlarged the area in which they make loans. Banks and savings and loan associations have received large volumes of savings in recent months, giving them adequate funds to lend.

The reduction will be encouraged by the increased volume of FHA-insured mortgages to be purchased at higher prices by the Federal National Mortgage Association. The increase in prices on mortgages reduces their effective yield. Lenders can sell their existing loans to the FNMA at the higher prices to obtain funds for additional mortgage loans.

Other Influences.

Several factors mitigate the forces tending to reduce mortgage interest rates. Long-term Government bond yields have not been reduced significantly in recent months. A reduction in mortgage rates would make bonds more attractive to investors than mortgages, unless bond yields are reduced proportionately.

A reduction in interest rates on mortgage loans would increase the pressure on savings and loan associations to reduce their dividend rates. But they are reluctant to do this because of the competition for savings. This is especially true of associations that have made a large proportion of their loans at advanced rates and are paying a 4¼ per cent divided rate, compared with 4 per cent paid by others in the area.

Furniture Sales Off.

Dollar volume of reporting furniture stores in the St. Louis metropolitan area in April was 6 per cent less than in March and 7 per cent less than in April 1960, the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis reported today. Both cash and credit sales were down 7 per cent from those of a year ago.

As a result of lower sales during most of the last 12 months, accounts receivable of the furniture stores at the end of April were 4 per cent less than at the end of April 1960. Collections last month on accounts receivable were down 5 per cent from collections in April 1960.

William B. Martin, executive vice president and secretary of Public Service Savings and Loan Association, has been elected president, succeeding Maurice Keily, who has retired.

Frank J. Hoffmann, treasurer and assistant secretary, was elected secretary and treasurer of the association.

Henry J. Carr has been appointed assistant vice president-rates for the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad Co. with headquarters in St. Louis. L. E. Mitchell has been named general rate manager, succeeding Carr.

SHORT-TERM BILL RATE TO U.S. RISES

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—The government's short term borrowing costs rose again with current weekly offering of treasury bills.

On $1,000,000,000 of 91-day bills, the average yield was 2.438 per cent. This represented the third straight weekly increase and compared with last Monday's rate of 2.354 per cent.

The bill auction was held Friday instead of next Monday because of many financial communities will be taking a long weekend due to the Memorial day holiday.

The rate on the 182-day bills increased for the fifth straight week to an average of 2,593 per cent. Last week's rate was 2.470 per cent.

These rates were figured on the basis of a 360-day year. On coupon-bearing securities of the same length, the equivalent rates would be 2.49 per cent for 91 days and 2.66 per cent for 182 days.

STOCK EXCHANGES WERE CLOSED MONDAY; ALL TO OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP).

ONLY a handful of U. S. commodity markets remained open today as most major securities and commodity marts shut down in anticipation of Tuesday's observance of Memorial day.

All will suspend operations tomorrow.

Among those doing business as usual in New York were the produce, cottonseed and soybean oil and foreign exchange markets. The Chicago Board of Trade was open.

The New York Stock Exchange and the American Stock Exchange, the nation's largest securities markets, closed to provide a long weekend for some traders and employes and give others a chance to catch up on an unprecedented backlog of work accumulated in recent busy weeks.

NEW YORK CENTRAL APRIL LOSS PUT AT $4,845,131

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP)—The New York Central Railroad ran another $4,845,131 in the red in April, raising its deficit for the first four months of 1961 to $22,335,085, the road reported.

In April, 1960, the Central had net income of $1,250,585. Its four-month total a year ago was $4,545,390 on the plus side.

Alfred E. Perlman, president, said Thursday he expected the Central to switch into the black in the July-September quarter, although a loss might be suffered in the vacation month of July.

BUSINESS USED MORE GAS; RESIDENCES LESS IN MARCH

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP)—Industrial plants used 5.5 per cent more gas in March than a year earlier, but a 20 per cent drop in residential, commercial and other sales left a net decline of 11.8 per cent, the American Gas Association said.

It attributed the net decline almost entirely to warmer weather, which cut house heating demands. March sales were 9.1 billion therms. One therm is equivalent to 100,000 british thermal units and can keep a home oven going at 375 degrees for 16 hours.

STEEL OUTPUT RATE RISES ANOTHER 2 PCT.

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP)—The pickup in steel production last week continued at about the same pace as the previous two weeks.

Output topped 2,000,000 tons for the second week in a row and posted the eleventh straight weekly increase. Production totaled 2,077,000 tons or 2 per cent above the previous week's 2,037,000 and again the most since the week ended May 9, 1960.

However, there were conflicting viewpoints on what the future will bring in this critical indicator of the nation's economy. Some industry sources expect this week to show the start of a leveling off process while others think the trend is still headed upward.

For the year to date output totaled 35,089,000 tons or 32 per cent below last year's 51,880,000, the American Iron and Steel Institute reported.

The institute's index, based on average weekly output for 1957-59 was 89.7 for the first 21 weeks of the year compared with 132.6 for the corresponding 1960 period. For the latest week the index was up to 111.5 from 109.3.

The index by districts: Northeast coastal 106, Buffalo 120, Pittsburgh 98, Youngstown 103, Cleveland 122, Detroit 142, Chicago 115, Cincinnati 118, St. Louis 123, Southern 108 and Western 121.

LOCAL AREA STEEL RATE DROPS BACK 3 PER CENT

Steel output in the St. Louis area last week was 37,905 tons, a decline of 3 per cent from the 39,207 produced in the preceding week, but 9 per cent above the 34,844 poured in the comparable week last year, the Federal Reserve Bank reported.

COMMODITY PRICE INDEX SLIGHTLY LOWER ON WEEK

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP)—The Associated Press index of 35 commodities dipped slightly last week, mostly because of a sizable downturn in the livestock component which slid nearly three points to 164.50, a low for 1961.

Besides livestock, only the industrials segment was down. The food, grains and cotton, textiles and nonferrous metals components all rose, with the metals section climbing to a new high for the year of 195.64, up .03.

U.S. GOVERNMENT BONDS HOLD STEADY; VERY SLOW

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP)—United States Government bond prices held steady late today in extremely slow, semi-holiday trading.

Over the counter dealers in Treasury securities said they had made no price changes on the few transactions completed. One dealer said, "if a large deal came up we would try to put it off until Wednesday."

Most security dealers specializing in bonds over the counter were manned only by skeleton office staffs. The New York Stock Exchange was closed so there was no corporate trading there.

The weekly auction of Treasury bills brought an increase in the average yield for the third straight week. The sale was held Friday instead of today because of the holiday.

In recent months yields have moved narrowly at about their present levels.

The holiday will cut sharply into this week's new financing activity. There are still more than half a dozen offerings in the sizable class, however. Most are municipals, not corporates as they have been for the past few weeks.

CONSUMER CONFIDENCE MEANS SALES

By J. A. Livingston

Don't rule out the possibility of an industrial boom. Not a financial boom in the stock market, but a sustained increase in production and employment.

So much publicity has been given to the high level of unemployment, to the difficulty of reducing joblessness, that the American consumer has been underrated as a steady, dependable economic force.

J. A. Livingston

The American family withstood the recession fine. Not those families in which income was shattered by unemployment, of course, but the majority of families.

The unemployment was high, more than 90 per cent of United States workers had jobs. Many families had more than one income-maker. In some families, in which the husband was laid off, the wife worked, or a son or daughter brought in money.

As a result, family income last year reached an all-time high—both in terms of dollars and in terms of real purchasing power. People could buy more food, clothing, shelter, conveniences, recreation, education, etc., than ever before—notwithstanding (a) unemployment and (b) slowly persistent price advances.

According to the Department of Commerce, America's 56,000,000 families (including 10,000,000 unattached persons) averaged $6900 in income. This was nearly 3% better (in real terms) than 1959 and about 7% above 1958. Only briefly during the recession did aggregate personal income (wages, salaries, dividends, government payments, etc.) dip. And already the income trend has turned up again.

This, it seems to me, has laid the base for a substantial rise in consumer purchasing. The continuing recovery in automobile sales in the second ten days of May supports this. So does a survey of Newsweek magazine, supervised by the National Industrial Conference Board, which concludes: "Consumer confidence has reached a three-year high."

Since the end of the war, the number of families in the U.S. has increased 29% and the income per family has risen 21%. Going back to 1929, the number of families has increased by 55%, but real income per family has risen 65%.

That is the heritage of the present generation, the generation that is just beginning to find out what it means to reach for a job instead of having the job reach out for it. It's a heritage which also makes for an abiding faith in prosperity.

Big Auto Year Ahead.

The brevity and shallowness of the recession also reinforce confidence. The "rolling adjustment" didn't roll the economy into the gutter. The decline did not feed on itself. And now the pickup in auto sales may be followed by a rise in sales of household appliances. Indeed, 1962-model autos could have a bumper year. The 7,200,000 1955-model cars, after seven years, will be tired and need replacement. More importantly, the trend toward compacts has set in. This should encourage turn-ins of longer, heavier models.

Test Ahead for Kennedy.

The test of the recovery will come this fall. Will consumers be scared off by another round of price increases? Steel manufacturers at the annual meeting of the American Iron & Steel Institute sent forth thought waves about a prise rise in October. Then, wages will go up 3% to 4% under the terms of the contract which Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg negotiated when general counsel to the United Steelworks of America in early 1960.

And this summer, Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers will begin negotiations for a new contract with General Motors, Ford, and Chrysler. The present contracts expire on August 31. A long strike in autos or another turn in the price-wage spiral, to my way of thinking, will abort recovery.

Consumers have had enough inflation. When prices rise rapidly, they see their savings shrink (in terms of purchasing power), so they hoard—buy less. Only when they fear shortages do they rush to buy. And shortages aren't what we're long of.

Besides, in terms of competition with the rebuilt industries of Europe and Japan, the United States can't afford inflation. President Kennedy—with Goldberg's help—will have to use the full persuasive power of the government to see if, at long last, we can't have a year of prosperity without inflation.

LONDON IS BUOYANT; U.S. LIST IRREGULAR

LONDON, May 29 (AP)—The stock exchange opened the new trading week on a buoyant note today. Industrials were in especially good demand and moved upward on a broad front.

Gold mining shares were very firm on the strength of buying attributed to Johannesburg interests. Diamonds also forged ahead.

OVER-THE-COUNTER INDEX UP ON WEEK

By ALEXANDER R. HAMMER
© New York Times News Service

NEW YORK, May 29—Trading in the over-the-counter market last week was the lightest in more than two weeks. Prices generally declined in the middle of the week but rebounded sharply in the last two days of trading.

The price declines reflected profit-taking and were influenced by the drop in stock values on the big board. The recovery later in the week was the most evident in the space age and defense issues, which were buoyed by President Kennedy's proposal to Congress on Thursday to increase appropriations for such items.

The week's price action was reflected in the national quotation bureau's price index of 35 industrial issues. The index rose to 124,02 on Monday, dropped to 123.27 on Wednesday and closed on Friday at 124.51, the high for the week and up 0.77 point from the preceding Friday's close.

Mo. Pac. "B" Feature.

The week's star performer was the B stock of Missouri Pacific Railroad, which climbed. The rise was influenced by the disclosure that MoPac is studying merger possibilities with the Illinois Central. The Alleghany Corporation Holding Company owns more than half of the road's outstanding 40,000 shares of B stock.

Sealed power, which rose more than 2 points in the preceding week, gained another 2 points in active trading. The rise apparently was helped by a brochure on the company by a brokerage house.

Other strong performers included American Express, which gained 2 points; Itek, up 10 points; Investors Diversified Services, which is controlled by Alleghany Corporation, up 28 points, and Diebold, Inc., up 4 points. Diebold, which makes filing equipment and safes, has moved ahead more than 25 points since the start of the year.

However, many issues fell sharply during the week. Russ Togs was off 5½ points; Beryllium Corporation dropped 5½ points; Clifton Precision declined 3½ points and G.D. Searle dipped about 4 points.

Bank Stocks Strong.

Many of the electronic issues had a hectic week. They opened mostly lower and then rebounded energetically. A good example was Radiation, Inc., which lost almost 5 points in the first three days of trading and then recovered most of the loss.

Bank stocks were especially strong with practically no sellers evident. Morgan Guaranty rose 7 points; Chemical Corn and First National City each gained 3½ points and Long Island Trust Company added a few. The Long Island bank, which is the third largest bank in New York's Nassau county, last week announced plans to merge with Chemical. There was not much interest in the out-of-town bank issues.

St. Louis bank clearings for May 29 were $108,500. A year ago was a holiday.

AEC ANNOUNCES PRICE CUTS IN URANIUM LEASING, SALE

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission today announced it will charge less for selling uranium to foreign governments and leasing it to commercial users in this country.

The AEC said also it is studying the desirability of lifting the ban on the sale of special nuclear materials to private organizations in the United States.

AEC Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg said the net effect of several changes in price schedules would be to lower the cost of nuclear power—the reduction varying from one reactor to another. Also, he said, it would bring into better balance AEC's charges for enriched uranium as compared with current market prices of natural uranium. The lower price is made possible, the AEC said, by decreased costs of natural uranium.

STATUE TO HONOR SCULPTOR

NEW YORK, May 29 (AP)—A statue of the French sculptor who created the Statue of Libery will be unveiled Oct. 28 near the base of his most heralded work.

Like the Statue of Liberty, the statue of Frederic Auguste Bartholdi will be a gift from the people of France, the Department of the Interior said yesterday. The presentation ceremonies will mark the seventy-fifth anniversary of the unveiling of the State of Liberty.

MAN HELD IN HOLDUP ADMITS FIVE MORE

Four other recent holdups were admitted earlier by Howard after his arrest, police said. Howard, 35 years old, and two other men, Carl E. McLittle, 51, of the 4500 block of Newberry terrace, and Roy Rodgers, 30, of the 5100 block of Page, were captured after allegedly committing their second market holdup in two hours Friday afternoon.

Two police officers caught Rodgers in a yard near the Big Chain Market, 3901 Page, after Sol Bader, the operator, was robbed of $100. Bader fired two shots at two robbers as they fled, attracting the officers' attention. McLittle allegedly drove an automobile used in the holdup. Rodgers named the other two men who were arrested a short while later. Howard admitted he took part in the Big Chain holdup and a holdup earlier of the Euclid-Page Market, 4900 Page, in which $285 was obtained, police said.

Police said the latest robberies admitted by Howard were at Fashion Cleaners, 4273 Olive street, where $30 was obtained March 24; Jack's Food Shop, 5101 Minerva avenue, $50, April 18; Harry's Market, 914 Pendleton avenue, $98, April 22; Becker and Berk's Market, 4071 Washington avenue, $200, May 11, and Baumgarten's Market, 927 North Newstead avenue, $85, May 19.

Howard previously admitted another robbery on May 11, an $8 holdup at the Wedge Hardware store, 1038 North Sarah street. He told police he obtained $150 last Monday in a robbery of the Londe Market, 933 Walton avenue. He said he lost all of the money while riding a Hodiamont streetcar after the holdup.

WOMAN KILLED, TWO HURT IN CRASH IN SOUTH MISSOURI

One woman was killed and two others were seriously injured yesterday when their automobile overturned in attempting to avoid hitting a small truck on U.S. Highway 67, three miles south of Greenville, 120 miles south of St. Louis in Wayne county.

Mrs. Florence Elizabeth Chilton, 29 years old, Oroville, Calif., driver of the car, was killed. The injured passengers are Mrs. Artie Ellen Wallace, 72, of Mill Springs, Mo., and Mrs. Ora June Lawrence, 65, of Tulsa. They suffered serious cuts and bruises and leg injuries.

State Highway Patrolmen said Mrs. Chilton apparently pulled onto the highway from a side road, saw the truck coming and turned sharply to avoid hitting it. Her car overturned, police said. The truck, which was not struck, was driven by H. M. Aldridge, 4401 Bridgedale drive, Berkeley.

RUSSIA MAKING MAPPING FLIGHTS OVER PAKISTAN

WASHINGTON, May 29 (AP)—The Soviet Union is conducting extensive reconnaissance-mapping flights of the northern borders of Pakistan and Kashmir, it was learned from diplomatic sources yesterday.

The high-flying photographic missions are similar to the American U-2 flights over Russia which ended a year ago when United States pilot Francis Powers was brought down inside the Soviet Union.

The informants said the Soviet flights extend to the frontier between Communist China's Sinkiang province and disputed Kashmir.

American, Pakistani and Indian military authorities have been aware of the Russian photographic missions, but the information has been closely held, sources here said. Indian concern in official quarters has been rising. Pakistan officials also have been keeping a close watch.

Tower

Blakley was that "he is a conservative of convenience—I am a conservative of conviction."

He was born Sept. 29, 1925 in Houston, the son of a Methodist minister. His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Joe Z. Tower, live in Texarkana.

Right after graduating from high school in Beaumont in 1942, he enlisted in the Navy, and served for three years on a landing craft in the Pacific.

He was graduated from Southwestern University, Georgetown, Tex., in 1948, with a major in government; got a master's degree in political science at Southern Methodist University in Dallas; and took additional postgraduate work at the London School of Economics, while there doing research work for Britain's Conservative Party.

After a short time in business, he joined the Midwestern faculty in 1951. A year later he married a Wichita Falls girl, Joza Lou Bullington. Mr. and Mrs. Tower have three daughters.

Reston

The Times and the Manchester Guardian, as usual, gave a full and accurate account of the President's foreign aid bill, but most of the others—not only the Daily Express, the Daily Mail and the smaller tabloids, but serious papers such as the Daily Telegraph and the Yorkshire Post — took the message for granted and relegated it to the inside pages.

IF THIS WERE merely a matter of news judgment, which is highly capricious in all countries, including our own, it would be of little importance, but it reflects what is undoubtedly a general European assumption: That the old West, once the leader in world affairs, is now merely a spectator in the battle of the Goliaths.

This attitude finds expression in the official policies of the Allies as well. They attend the meetings of the alliance. They speak eloquently of the principle of collective security and talk about the need to increase conventional forces, but outside of the Germans, they show little practical evidence of putting the principle of collective security into practice.

The ignorance in this part of the world of the long-term political dangers in the United States of this posture is remarkable. It is widely assumed here and in western Europe that Britain can end the draft while the United States continues its draft; that France can keep its forces out of NATO and glorify French nationalism; that the rising pacifist spirit in Britain can express itself against American nuclear bases in Scotland—all without political repercussions in the United States.

WASHINGTON ITSELF, of course, is partly responsible for this attitude. It has imposed its policies on the Allies, often without adequate consultation. It has insisted on policies beyond the power it was prepared to use, as in Laos—this against the advice of both Britain and France, which are convinced that Laos is a lost cause. It has squandered the confidence of its Allies by clumsy diplomacy, as in Cuba.

Nevertheless, the alliance is out of balance mainly because Europe is not doing what it could do, and it is not doing what it could do partly because it has abdicated, and partly because the United States has been willing to carry the load, long after Europe was able to do much more in self-defense.

These are hard things to say, but somebody has to say them publicly because they are being said by influential American officials and Congressmen in private, and in due course they are bound to influence American policy in ways Europe will not like.

Talk By Joseph Chary.

Joseph Chary, director of Israel's Institute of Productivity, spoke on the need for peace and water in Israel at a convocation yesterday in Gospel Assembly Church, 500 North Kingshighway boulevard.

TRUMAN HOME AFTER ILLNESS IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, May 29 — Former President Harry S. Truman returned home to Independence, Mo., yesterday showing the effects of a severe stomach upset with which he was stricken at the big Democratic dinner in Washington Saturday night.

Truman was stricken when his meal was being served at the Saturday night dinner. He became pale but managed to conceal his condition from all except those seated next to him. He did not eat his dinner, but managed to deliver an off-the-cuff speech. He left the National Guard Armory immediately after the dinner and was driven to the hotel where friends remained through the night. He said yesterday he had a fairly restful sleep.

The former President passed up his customary morning stroll yesterday and ate no breakfast. When he departed for the airport for the flight to Missouri, his color had returned but he appeared fatigued.

Despite his illness, Truman said he would carry out another busy schedule this week. Tomorrow, accomplanied by Mrs. Truman, he will go to New York for a visit with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. Clifton Daniel, and their two children.

He will confer at New York with broadcasting company exexecutives on a projected series of educational telecasts featuring history lessons delivered by Truman from the Truman Library at Independence.

FTC EXAMINER RULES ON SANDPAPER SHAVING AD

WASHINGTON, May 28 (UPI)—A Federal Trade Commission examiner has ruled that a television commercial showing the shaving of sandpaper is harmless exaggeration.

Examiner William L. Pack issued an order which would dismiss an FTC complaint against Colgate-Palmolive Co. and Ted Bates & Co., Inc., of New York, the agency which prepared the commercial.

Pack's order is subject to final action by the commission, the FTC said yesterday. The examiner said sandpaper actually is not used in the commercial and the shaving is not done as quickly as it would appear in the commercial. He said a plexiglass mockup is used only because sandpaper does not show up well on television and sandpaper can be shaved if the cream is allowed to soak on it long enough. He said the language of the commercial is sufficient to indicate that the soaking process must take place.

COUSIN OF MRS. KENNEDY KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

LYON, France, May 29 (UPI)—Mlle. Danielle Bouvier, 19-year-old distant cousin of Mrs. John F. Kennedy was killed in a highway accident today.

Miss Bouvier was reported on her way to Paris in hopes of meeting her American cousin. President Kennedy and his wife are due in Paris Wednesday.

The accident occurred shortly before dawn between Saint-Georges de Reneine and Belle Ville. The girl's father, Marcel Bouvier, was seriously injured, police said. The driver, Restin d'Amboise, also was hurt.

The Bouviers come from Pont-Saint-Esprit. They claim kinship to Mrs. Kennedy through an uncle who settled in Philadelphia and was, they say, Mrs. Kennedy's great grandfather.

EAST ST. LOUISAN STABBED, SERIOUSLY INJURED BY WIFE

Dall, 42 years old, was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis. Mrs. Dall, 36, told police she stabbed her husband with a butcher knife when he refused to tell her where he spent the night. She was held in the East St. Louis city jail without charge pending an investigation.

CHRISTIAN HOSPITAL PROJECT TO BEGIN

Construction of a six-story addition to Christian Hospital will begin this summer, Charles W. DeWitt, chairman of the hospital's building committee, announced today.

The addition, part of a $1,200,000 expansion program, will be to the west of the present building at 4411 North Newstead avenue. It will provide 50 beds for patients with chronic ailments, two operating rooms, two delivery rooms and out-patient facilities.

The present building, erected in 1924, will be remodeled to enlarge administrative offices, modernize the lobby and provide new facilities including a solarium for chronic patients. The entire plant will be centrally air-conditioned.

A federal grant of about $380,000 has been approved for the expansion program under the Hill-Burton Act, which provides federal funds to pay half the cost of certain hospital improvements. Christian Hospital serves a heavily industrialized area, and a number of labor unions have contributed to the development fund.

Clarissa Start

Charm Style Show For Eighth Graders

THERE COMES A TIME in every girl's life, usually at about eighth grade age, when she can use some advice on the most charming way to make the transition from child to woman. Usually she'll take this advice—from practically anybody but her mother.

CLARISSA START

With this in mind, the Collinsville (Ill.) Women's Club started, back in 1951, to sponsor a charm school tea and style show for eighth grade girl graduates of that city. The event has grown and grown and this year, 292 girls attended the tea and watched a dozen of their number model clothes with a poise and grace that this girl graduate of the olden days envied.

"This has become a big thing," explained Mrs. Stephen Wright, general chairman of the event, "because the schools in Collinsville do not have graduation ceremonies at the end of eighth grade and this has become a sort of milestone marker."

Long before the appointed hour of 1 o'clock, the girls began arriving at the First Presbyterian Church hall. There were all sizes, shapes and types of girls. Girls with smooth brown hair and sleek black wings of hair and blond Alice in Wonderland ponytails halfway down their backs. Tiny girls, statuesque ones, slim, shapely and those who hadn't lost their baby fat. Girls with smooth baby skins and some who showed evidence of too many French fries and malted milks compounded with adolescent nerves. Girls who could give advice on charm and girls who needed it.

Mrs. Robert J. Greaves, president, and Mrs. D. R. Kamm, incoming president, greeted them. Mrs. Otis Banes, beauty operator, demonstrated with Jessie Wright as model, giving advice on appearance.

From Mrs. Banes the girls solemnly accepted ideas they might have scorned from mothers, such as: Loveliness comes from within. The magic word is cleanliness, inside and out. And, "The quality of the soul illuminates the face." Mrs. Banes also had practical suggestions: Don't tweeze the eyebrows to a thin line, don't use mascara at your age, don't waste money on preparations which promise to remove freckles in five days (powder over or wear them with pride); beware of brush rollers if you have fine hair, use pumice stone for rough elbows and heels.

With Mrs. Howard Cole as commentator, the models, coached in modeling technique by Mrs. Dave Knoble, paraded bathing suits, shirts, shorts, skirts, daytime and date dresses from a Collinsville store. The other girls oh-ed, ah-ed and applauded.

Following the fashion show, Mrs. Wright spoke to the girls, again giving advice that is corny from parents but words of wisdom from an attractive older woman who is the mother of someone else. It's fun to grow up was the theme of Mrs. Wright's talk, but growing up has its responsibilities, too. She suggested that girls consult the library's display table of books on problems of adolescence, such books as "Mind Your Manners," "All About Boys," "Guide to Dating."

The program over, the girls received their gift lipstick (courtesy a St. Louis department store) and merged into a gay and giddy group, young ladies at the tea table but not too far removed from childhood.

Ann Landers

Tax Chiseler at Work

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I work in a drug store. I've been asked to do all sorts of favors for customers and I don't mind, but when customers ask me to help them cheat the Government, I think this is going too far.

ANN LANDERS

A certain woman comes in often and buys lots of cosmetics, perfumes, suntan lotion, candy and so on. Then she buys a bottle of vitamins and an occasional prescription and wants me to describe it all as "medicinal supplies." I know she does this so she can take it all off her income tax, since medicinal supplies are deductible.

Yesterday she bought $21 worth of cosmetics and a bottle of cough syrup. When I gave her an itemized statement she was furious and said I was only an employe and that I should do as I was told.

She claims that what SHE does is none of my business. How about this? WORKING GIRL.

Dear Girl: What she does IS none of your business—but when she asks you to help her do something dishonest it becomes your business, too. You were right to refuse to be a party to her penny-ante chiseling. Furthermore, if her income tax returns are ever checked, the phony deductions will be disallowed. The Internal Revenue experts are wise to all the rinky-dinks.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My son who is away at college phoned and asked if he could bring three classmates home for the weekend. One guest was a fellow 20 years of age. The other two were girls both 19. I said it would be just fine since we have a large home and can accommodate three extras easily when our daughter is not at home. (She is away at school.)

They all arrived in good spirits, seemed to have a very fine time, and left this morning. I was surprised to find that the girls left their beds unmade and the room in a mess. My daughter's belongings were scattered all over. The girls had used her cosmetics, nail polish and remover, combs, brushes, hair clips, and they emptied a bottle of cologne.

My son will be wanting to invite them again. What shall I say? UNDECIDED MOTHER.

Dear Undecided: Say "Yes" . . . . if he will permit you to give the girls some advance instructions on proper behavior for weekend guests. Apparently they don't know how to conduct themselves and someone ought to tell them. If your son says he'd rather you wouldn't say anything, let him know he is not free to offer them the hospitality of your home.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for Ann Landers's booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love or Sex?", inclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the Post-Dispatch, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Youth Parade

Exercising With Jump Rope

By Reba and Bonnie Churchill

1. Skip into summer with a series of fun-to-do conditioners that benefit arms and legs. These jump rope exercises provide a jogging rhythm which fills in legs and give tonus to the body. Begin by skipping rope 20 times as young actress Jean Blake illustrates. If you're a "fancy stepper," try hopping on the ball of one foot twice before altering feet.

2. Next, stand on the center of the exercise rope, grasping the handles as though they were ski poles. Pull knobs straight ahead until fingers touch; then expand arms to the side, finally, to the rear. Routine, practiced 10 times, straightens shoulders, firms arms and benefits waistline.

3. Now, let's rid arms of unsightly flab and help pin back shoulders. Folding rope in half, grasp each end, holding cord behind shoulders. Slowly raise rope overhead; then, lower it until it is at chest level. Reverse action and repeat four times. The closer the bonds are to the center of the rope, the greater the pull. Work up to 10 repetitions.

P.S. If you would like the Terry Hunt Four Day Diet, on which the average person loses a pound a day, send for our illustrated leaflet "Diet-Exercise." Inclose 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to "Youth Parade," in care of the Post-Dispatch.

What Many High School Students Don't Know

By Walter D. Jacobson

By United Press International.

OF 213 AVERAGE American high school students:

—111 knew that the initials CIA stands for Central Intelligence Agency.

These figures, collected by United Press International in a 20-city survey, indicate former President Harry S. Truman was right when he said recently: "The younger generation doesn't know enough about the Constitution or current events."

Asked what is Warren's correct title, most students said "Chief Justice of the Supreme Court" or "Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court." A variety of answers ranged from the correct title to "Head Marshal of America" or simply "Your Honor."

The students knew more about the fifth amendment — or at least that part of it dealing with protection against self-incrimination. In one way or another, about 71 per cent of them said individuals "don't have to testify against themselves."

Only 10 of the 213 also knew the amendment guarantees "due process of law."

A senior at New Trier High School, Winnetka, Ill., said "it probably covers quartering of soldiers," and added, "It is not very important to know about the fifth amendment." He said he was going to Princeton University next fall.

Several students apparently would have been better off pleading the amendment than trying to explain it. A 16-year-old Atlanta, Ga., boy thought it concerned "slavery and suffrage." Another said the amendment "states we may not incriminate (sic) ourselves while giving testimony."

Definitions from a class of 32 students in Belleville, Ill., included, "The part of the Constitution that discloses a secret governmental investigation organization" and, "Knowing what you may say and still claim the Fifth Amendment." Half the 32 definitions were incorrect.

More than 66 per cent of the youngsters could name at least five "Cabinet" positions, and many also knew officeholders' names, but a number of new positions were created, including "Speaker of the House," "Chairman of Health, Wealth and Education," "Ordinary" and "Coroner."

The answers differed radically from the generally accepted list of Cabinet officials: Secretaries of State, Treasury, Defense, Ariculture, Commerce, Interior and Health, Education and Welfare, and Postmaster General and Attorney General.

Nearly half the students could not name the two United States Senators from their states. Of those who knew both, few could say which party they represented.

The question most often answered correctly was, "What are three provisions in the Bill of Rights?" Eighty-one per cent of the 213 students were able to do so, the great majority saying, "Freedom of the press, religion and speech."

Answers included "guarantees against double jeopardy," right to trial by jury," and "guarantees against unreasonable searches and seizures." Many claimed "peace and security," "equal representation," "happiness" and "love."

Asked what the CIA was, a student at the nation's oldest public high school, in Boston, said "an espionage organization." He was better informed than his classmates who said "Congress of Industrial Associations" and "Communistic Investigation Agency."

Many explained it as "something to stop Communism" or "a group to report on Cubans." One of four students questioned in Washington, D. C., had "no idea" and a 16-year-old junior student from San Francisco said it was a "labor union."

Truman said he was "appalled at how ill-informed the teen-agers are. I have talked to a quarter of a million young people since I left the White House," he said. "I know they need more studying."

Two Replacements Join 'Golden Dozen'

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD, May 29,(AP).

THE GOLDEN DOZEN has lost two of its members, but two new stars have come up to keep it a glittering 12.

Three years ago, this writer pointed out that there was a round dozen of film stars who virtually ruled the film industry by their ability to write their own ticket in deals. They were:

Today, Gable and Cooper are gone. Though their box-office draw was off from their prime years, both were drawing top money when they died. Gable was paid $750,000 for "The Misfits," plus $48,000 weekly overtime for three weeks. Cooper did "The Naked Edge" for $275,000 plus half the profits.

Neither Gable nor Cooper will ever be replaced. But the tides of film fortunes have provided two new members to again make it the Golden Dozen. They are: Jack Lemmon and Rock Hudson.

Hudson would have made it to the top ranks sooner, except for his restricting contract with Universal; now he is better able to cash in on his vast popularity. Lemmon, long Hollywood's most underrated actor, established himself with "Some Like It Hot" and "The Apartment."

The industry situation has not changed with regard to the Golden Dozen. I pointed out in 1958 that the 12 men were the real rulers of Hollywood, since they were the only names on which producers felt they could rely. If anything, the dozen stars hold even more power today.

To acquire the services of these stars, film companies have to make concessions that would have been unheard of in the era when the Cohns, Mayers and Zanucks were absolute monarchs. Nearly all the actors have their own companies with which the studios must deal, usually as partner.

Thus we have seen Universal and Paramount stand by as Kirk Douglas and Marlon Brando spent millions making and remaking "Spartacus" and "One-Eyed Jacks."

The production picture is further complicated by the fact that many of the Golden Dozen choose to work less often. Most are millionaires and don't need the jobs. They prefer to do only those films that excite them.

No one begrudges the stars earning their worth, which is considerable. But many observers see the growing danger of relying on a tight group of stars, some of them mature men with declining draw. The need for new stars is greater than ever, but little is being done about it.

There is one hopeful development: The return of the woman star. A few actresses have grown in importance to threaten the moneymaking abilities of the 12 males. They are led by Doris Day, Elizabeth Taylor, Debbie Reynolds, Shirley MacLaine and Marilyn Monroe.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
4 ♦	Pass	4 ♠	Pass

TERRENCE REESE and Boris Schapiro, of England, have been playing together for many years and are generally acknowledged to be one of the outstanding pairs in the world.

In addition to being fine players individually, they enjoy a wonderful partnership — having similar ideas about bidding — and avoid, except on rare occasions, partnership misunderstandings.

They were once playing together in a pair event when the accompanying hand came up. Apparently there was no meeting of the minds in this particular deal, because they reached a contract of six diamonds on the bidding sequence shown.

Obviously, this was a poor contract on the cards they held. Schapiro opened with a pre-emptive bid of four diamonds and there is no doubt that Reese read it as such.

But Reese, holding the North hand, thought there was a good chance for game and bid four spades. Schapiro misread the meaning of the bid, despite their extensive partnership, and decided that Reese was suggesting diamond support and encouraging him to bid a slam. So Schapiro accepted the invitation and jumped to six diamonds.

West had no clear-cut opening lead to make and decided to play "safe" by leading the jack of diamonds. This unfortunate lead proved to be very unsafe, as matters turned out, because Schapiro proceeded to make the slam.

He cashed the A-Q of diamonds and A-K of clubs, discarding a spade, and then ruffed a club. After entering dummy with the queen of hearts he ruffed another club, thus establishing the seven as a trick.

Schapiro then led a heart to the ace and discarded his last spade on the seven of clubs. The only trick he lost was a trump.

If West had led a spade, Schapiro would have gone down three. Against a heart or club lead Schapiro would have been down two. But West led a diamond and Schapiro made the slam.

All's well that ends well!

Civil War Battle, Jet-Age Version

AFTER WATCHING a re-issue of the Civil War battle at Lexington, Mo., this month I had some second thoughts on the centennial. I expect the thoughts to be my last on the matter through 1965, and to hold up for the duration of the centennial.

JACK RICE

A dime store will mount a public address system on the store-front. A recorded message will announce the management's generosity. "A free picture of the battle is being given away at the back of the store." You can't miss the back of the store. The for-free picture is just beyond the for-sale toys, candy, dishes and souvenir girdles. Between messages the P.A. system will play "Dixie" until the spirit of Robert E. Lee rejoices that the South lost the war.

An enterprising merchant will hawk camp-stool seats at $1.88 a copy. He will sell out. His customers will not sit on his bargains. His customers will stand on the seats, to see over the heads of earlier arrivers. Half of the customers will fall off their camp-stools.

Air Force jets will do a fly-past, wing tips swapping paint, over the town's main street. The jets will have special permission to fly at 300 feet, low enough to shake a sniper out of a tree. Somebody toting a musket will raise it at the jets and shout, "Bang! You're dead."

Somebody will say the Civil War was a national disgrace and should be ignored, a line that beats trying to bring back Prohibition, but not by much.

The current United States Army will make friends. Full colonels and one-star generals bucking for two stars will say "Sir" to strangers, respecting their uniforms, taxpayer-civvies. The Army will run the battle noises, the simulated cannon fire and field explosions, and will be careful not to lose a taxpayer.

Army Military Police will run the traffic, likely as not. Their commanding officer will say to another army man, "Look at those hand signals. If the civilian police handled traffic like my kids do, there wouldn't be two-horse jams in one-horse towns." A retired Pfc., nursing a 20-year grudge, will choose to ignore an MP's signal and go against it, at the busiest intersection in town. The ex-Pfc.'s children will stare in horror at the MP's holstered .45, the driver's wife will give him hell, and the MP will quickly, efficiently, halt other traffic to oblige the idiot and give him a military smile that registers as "I know your type: Yardbird, class of '42."

The battle-centennial town newspaper will issue a souvenir edition. The star newsboy will shout, "If you can't read it, sit on it at the battlefield."

Four United States Marines will lead the parade, as a color guard. The Marines didn't do much in the Civil War but they seldom lose first place in a parade.

One mother will call the Chamber of Commerce. She will say, "Do you have a baby-sitting service for the battle?"

More for Your Money

PICK-UP-AND-GO-SAILING: Something new for sailing enthusiasts in an inexpensive (about $100) 12-foot, unsinkable sailboat that weighs only 45 pounds. Because of the buoyancy of the foam plastic hull, it can support over 600 pounds in the water. Despite its light weight and buoyancy, the hull is rugged and shock-resistant. Equipped with brass fittings, the boat has a 41-inch beam, self-draining well, 10-foot aluminum boom, 12-foot aluminum mast, and sails made of plastic film. It can be completely dismantled in a few minutes for cartop transportation and requires only inches of storage space.

BATTLING RUST: One of two noteworthy new developments is a solution to help simplify the job of removing rust and oxidation from all metal surfaces. You wipe it on, then rinse it off. And, because it thoroughly cleans and etches, it's useful, too, for preparing unrusted metal, including aluminum and galvanized iron, for painting, assuring better paint adhesion . . . The second item is a rust preventative paint designed for use on either brand-new or rusted metal. A specially formulated enamel-like coating, it's said to penetrate into metal pores and provides a highly adherent protective surface. According to the maker, it offers better gloss and gloss retention as well as improved weather and heat resistance.

HELPS FOR THE HOUSE: A new mat for portable sewing machines should prolong machine life and make sewing more pleasant, less rackety. Hundreds of air pockets in the ⅜-inch sponge rubber base absorb sewing noise and cut vibration. A waffle design in the base makes the machine slip-proof, too . . . Newest adhesive bandage strip has hundreds of tiny pores over the entire surface. By allowing more air to reach an injury, the bandage is said to speed healing and also reduce skin wrinkling and whitening. An unusual cross-hatch pattern makes the bandage blend with the skin so it's much less noticeable.

NEWS FOR THE CAR: A new battery illuminated compass does extra duty—the lighting unit can be slipped out of the compass case to serve as flashlight for checking the engine compartment, signalling, and other emergency uses . . . Add a 3-in-1 car cleaning aid—a 12 by 14-inch reinforced sponge cloth which, the maker promises, will wash like a cloth, absorb like a sponge, and wipe like a chamois . . . To blot out sun glare that gets by the regular visor, there's a 5 by 10-inch plastic panel with a suction cup at the top edge. It can be mounted anywhere on the windshield and when necessary, on a window as well.

If you'd like further information on any of the above items, write Lawrence Galton in care of the Post-Dispatch, identifying item, giving date of appearance and inclosing stamped and self-addressed envelope. Inquiries must be sent no later than two weeks after the appearance of the item.

AN INTERESTING question with regard to space travel —when you reach a condition of weightlessness, does this mean that you no longer notice the butterflies in your stomach because they are floating free?

"AFTER ALL," Walter Tippy grandly informs his wife, "I've been driving an automobile for 35 years." To which, sweetly, she replies, "And you've been sleeping for 51 years but you still snore."

Western Heroes as Seen by Gary Cooper

He Grew Up Among Authentic Ones and TV Versions Shocked Him; Learned Not to Kid the 'Institution'

Second of a series from "I Took a Good Look at Myself—and This Is What I Saw—I'm No Actor," the late Gary Cooper's own story which appeared in the January issue of McCall's.

By Gary Cooper

As Told to Leonard Slater

OCCASIONALLY, THESE DAYS, someone calls me an institution. When I tell him that where I come from, friend, that usually refers to a bank or a penitentiary, they start explaining.

What they usually say, more or less, is that I've become so identified with the Western hero on the screen that I've become a prototype. I'll buy that compliment.

Even though I've played lots of roles on the screen—French Foreign Legionnaire, Bengal Lancer, playboy in top hat and tails, baseball hero, and World War I doughboy—the roles I feel most comfortable in are those in which I get up on a horse, and, sooner or later, do some shooting. I've been a Western fan since childhood.

As a boy in Helena, Mont., I used to know a few of the old pioneers. They had a flair. All the people who came to the frontier were individualists, seeking the kind of excitement they couldn't get at home.

I grew up with a Western concept of what a hero was like. He was a fellow who didn't say very much or do very much; but the little he did, he did well. Two of the things he did best of all were riding and shooting.

As an authentic institution, so attested by authorities in the field, I think I have a right to be shocked by the average Western hero shown on TV, and in some movies, nowadays.

When I was a kid going to the movies, a movie actor had to be careful about the equipment he used, how he mounted a horse and got off a horse; it had to be pretty real, or we'd start hooting. But no more.

In the typical TV Western today, everybody in town wears a six-shooter. So if a man is to be any kind of hero at all, he's got to have two six-shooters. If those two six-shooters aren't impressive enough, or a hero on another network wears them, then he's got a rifle strapped to his leg.

In plain truth, if a fellow went around fully armed all the time in the old West, he'd be considered an eccentric or a braggart. If a man did carry a gun around town, he carried it inconspicuously under his coat.

I learned my lesson in Western tomfoolery from an expert. I plead guilty to a picture several years ago called "Along Came Jones," a Western in which the cowboy couldn't hit his hat while he was wearing it.

The hero wasn't too bad, I'll say that; he had won third place as a bronc rider in a rodeo. But he was all thumbs when it came to shooting, and we played that up for laughs.

The picture made money. But Cecil B. DeMille, the late producer and director, whom I admired so much, raked me over the coals for it. "You shouldn't do that sort of thing," he said. "Playing a man on the screen who can't shoot. You are the guy who is supposed to know how to do such things."

DeMille's next words made me feel better about being an institution:

"Never play anything that lets the public down, your public. If you kid a Western, if you kid a hero, you are doing yourself damage. People who come to see you— they want to see a fellow who can do no wrong and come through in the tough spots."

Nine years ago, I made "High Noon" which won me my second Academy Award (the first was for "Sergeant York") and which was hailed as the "first of the adult Westerns." A lot of people considered that an indorsement that it was the genuine article.

Well, I hate to disappoint a lot of customers, but "High Noon" wasn't new or especially genuine. There was nothing especially Western about it.

It was a story about a phase of life, more current today, I suspect, than years ago—namely, how tough it is for a man to buck the apathy of the crowd even when he is trying to do something for their own protection.

Actually, "The Virginian," the first big outdoor talking picture, which I made in 1929, was more genuine as a Western story. It had been written by a man who had lived in Wyoming, Owen Wister, in the 1880s, when that was raw frontier.

It had a hero who said "When you call me that smile," a gentle schoolmarm and heavies who were inexcusably villainous. Yet it contained a lot of historical truth, and its characters represented real Western types.

That climactic scene in "High Noon," in which the hero walks up the road alone to face the enemies sworn to kill him, got a lot of attention in 1952.

Actually, this was not much different from the ending of "The Virginian," when the Virginian and the heavy walked toward each other. My impression is that "The Virginian" used that particular scene for the first time.

Since then, it's been done thousands of times. It's now a stock gag for comedians, too.

I suppose incidents like that happened in real life. But it's hard to believe that any man in the West was ever so completely alone as the marshal was in "High Noon."

I don't think any Western town had that many cowardly people among its citizens. Even in the roughest of communities, there were always men of integrity.

I know in my own home town, Helena, there was a man named Colonel Sanders, with whom my father studied law. Colonel Sanders had been educated in Europe and was a student of Greek. He was a quiet, scholarly man. Yet when road agents began holding up the gold shipments in Montana Territory, often killing the guards, Colonel Sanders saw his duty and became one of the leaders of the vigilante organization.

I learned about men like Colonel Sanders while I was being dandled on my father's knee. In 1901, the year I was born and christened Frank Cooper, the frontier was still pretty close in Helena.

My father had come there from England in 1885, aged 19, with his brother, Arthur, looking for adventure and opportunity. He found both in the law.

It used to be said of my father that he was a little too honest to make a really successful lawyer. I also heard people say some things about him that other people would say about me later on: He was not enough of an extrovert, not the forward-pushing, hard-swinging type of fellow who made a colorful lawyer—or a good actor.

Mother had emigrated from England, too. When she married my father, the Indians were no longer on the warpath, and folks in Helena, like the Coopers, lived in brick houses.

But she never considered it properly civilized. Not even when Helena got its own local theater company, of which my father became secretary. Neither he nor my mother ever showed more than a patron's interest in show business.

My father detected signs of artistic talent in me. We all knew and loved the paintings of Charles Russell and Frederic Remington, whose subject matter was the West. He thought I might become a painter like them. True, I could draw caricatures pretty well; but I yearned to become a rancher.

That ambition only spurred my mother's conviction that brother Arthur and I should go to England to be educated as proper gentlemen before we ended up as wild men.

She finally got her way in 1910, when I was 9. I left the third grade and, with Arthur, went to Dunstable, a public school in Bedfordshire, for three years.

I remember that when we came back to Helena, our former cronies took offense at our clothes—all we had were English public-school duds—and the way we pronounced some words! So we had to fight our way to and from school for some days, until we merged imperceptibly with the gang. The teachers in Helena thought so little of my English education that they put me back in the third grade.

However, I forgave everybody everything when my father bought the Seven Bar Ranch, about 60 miles from Helena, as a summer place and an investment. Part of our ranch lay in the Big Belt mountains, a range that mostly runs parallel to the Rockies.

It was my first taste of high country and I took to it like candy. I could hardly wait for each summer to come around, so that I could work on the ranch. I dreamed of working there all year 'round. Then World War I came, and I got my chance. Brother Arthur went off to fight; Dad was busy in the state government; beef was essential to the war effort; there was a manpower shortage.

Nothing to do but for me to quit school and go live at the ranch with my mother. We ran 500 head of cattle for two years. The life suited me so well that I grew an inch a month for 13 months.

Memorial Day Dialogue Under Headstones

By Hal Boyle

DIALOGUE under the headstones:

Jim (vintage '17): Who cares?

Charley (vintage '63): Me neither. It's been a long, long, long time for both of us. But restful.

Joe (vintage '43): I'd like to see my folks again.

Frank (vintage '50): I never had no folks — unless you can call an orphan home Daddy But Edith, my girl, she said she'd never forget. But she only came here once to see me.

Jim: I had folks once a long time ago, but I ran away young, and I wasn't the kind of kid they'd exactly want to remember.

George: Stella! When I kissed her goodby she said if I didn't come back she'd never marry again. That was what? —38 years ago. She looks so old and tired and lonely. Does she really think that's the way I wanted it? If I could only have left her a son.

(Four people, an elderly couple and a young couple, came to Joe's headstone, decked it with flowers, and spoke of him lovingly as they sat down on the grass and opened a picnic lunch.)

Joe: Mom! Dad! And my kid brother. How big he is! The girl with him must be his wife. Imagine Harry being married. How fast things change — up there.

(A delegation from the Sons of the Confederacy arrived, planted a waving flag (the stars and bars) by Clem's grave, listened to a brief speech, then departed.)

Charley: I don't know what happened to the Sons of the Grand Army of the Republic this year, Johnny Reb, but your side remembered you.

Clem: Why shouldn't they, Yankee? Who do you think won the war? But it was a mighty turrible, short speech.

George (musingly): Wars and speeches . . . speeches and wars. I wonder if we all had it to do over again, whether we'd . . .

Jim (testily): Had what to do over again? All I did was to get kicked by a mule in a training camp in Missouri. All my buddies thought it was funny . . . until I keeled over. I never even had a chance to laugh.

Clem: I was crying for water in a Yankee prison. . . . I had the fever bad . . . and suddenly I was taken with a coughing fit and . . .

Charley: I was thirsty, too, Reb, on that third day at Gettysburg when I lifted my head, and a bullet came and . . .

Jose: I wanted wings, and I was guiding a bomber over Germany when we ran into a flak burst, and—well, I won my second pair.

Frank: I was in the Marines, just turned 20, when we landed in Korea. Didn't even have time to hate anybody. Five minutes after we started up the first hill, a mortar hit at my feet. . . . Aw, who cares now? Where's Edith? She was only 18 when she promised she's always . . . Couldn't she come just this once?

Charley: Never mind, son. You'll get used to it. Anyway, maybe she misses you in ways you don't even know.

Frank: But Edith was the only girl I really ever knew, the only one I ever had a chance to know.

Joe: Mama . . . Mama . . .

(The cemetery guard closed the gates behind the last departing visitor. Memorial Day was over. A meadowlark, hidden in the darkling grass, sang a requiem to a silent camp.)

Variety of Travel For St. Louisans

By Margaret Allen Ruhl

MRS. WARREN GODDARD, 505 West Polo drive, Clayton, will fly to Aurora, N.Y., for commencement festivities at Wells College from Friday through June 9, and the sixtieth anniversary of her class, that of 1901. Mrs. Goddard, member of an old St. Louis family, was Miss Louise Augustine.

She will be joined at Wells, situated in the Finger Lake country of upper New York State, by her daughter, Mrs. Boyd Charter of Billings, Mont., the former Miss Anne Goddard, also a Wells graduate. Mrs. Charter will accompany her mother home and remain for a visit.

After their return Mrs. Goddard plans to have a meeting of the St. Louis Wells Club at which she and Mrs. Charter will give a joint report on commencement activities.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Atwood III have returned to their home, 9528 Park lane, Ladue, after a seven-month trip around the world. Traveling by ship, train and plane, they concentrated on little-known areas, beginning in Egypt. A photographic safari in Kenya, and a stay with actor William Holden and his wife at their club 125 miles north of Nairobi were highlights in Africa.

Later they spent several weeks in the Holy Land and six weeks in India. From a boat on the Ganges, they watched religious ceremonies practiced by the natives. The Atwoods rented another boat in Bangkok and saw floating markets take their wares to houses along the shore, then went up to the River Kwai. At the border of Communist China they saw armed guards.

In Japan at cherry-blossom time, the travelers toured the country by automobile. Through the Empress's lady-in-waiting they were invited to the grounds and buildings of the imperial palace. Singapore was next on their itinerary.

After 10 days in Australia they sailed on the Mariposa from Sydney for New Zealand, the Fiji Islands, Samoa, Hawaii and San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. McNally Jr., 7112 Wydown boulevard, Clayton, will go east in a few days to attend commencement exercises at the United States Military Academy, West Point. Mrs. McNally's son, Cadet John J. Neiger III, will receive a degree and will be commissioned as a lieutenant. Cadet Neiger, who is at West Point by presidential appointment, is the son of Maj. John J. Neiger Jr., who was killed in World War II.

The McNallys will see her younger son, Henry M. Neiger, a newspaper man in New York, where he shares an apartment with William A. Borders Jr. of St. Louis.

DR. AND MRS. CARL F. CORI, 500 South McKnight road, Ladue, will go east for commencement at Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N.Y., from which Mrs. Cori's daughter, Miss Carroll West Jones, will be graduated. Miss Jones will study in London next fall.

MRS. THOMAS CORI
. . . To Move Here.

Dr. Cori's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cori, who have been teaching at the Chadwick School, near Los Angeles, will arrive June 15 to live at 1080 North Berry road, Glendale. Mr. Cori will teach at John Burroughs School next year. They have one child, Gerty, named for her paternal grandmother, the late Dr. Gerty Cori, Nobel Prize winner.

Dr. and Mrs. Eugene M. Bricker of 43 Briarcliff, Ladue, with their daughter, Cynthia, a ninth-grade student at John Burroughs School, will depart June 7 for a motor trip east, stopping en route at Wooster, O., where they will be joined by their son, Robert, a student at the College of Wooster. Their ultimate destination is Amherst, Mass., where the family will attend commencement weekend festivities at Amherst College. Dr. and Mrs. Bricker's elder son, Daniel, will receive a degree.

Soon after their return, Cynthia will depart for Camp Greystone, Tuxedo, N.C. Daniel will attend graduate school at Johns Hopkins University in the fall.

Mrs. Alfreda Prince Gale, 9701 Tobin drive, Sunset Hills, will spend the summer in Europe. Accompanied by her grandsons, Donald Gale, son of Dr. and Mrs. Philip R. Gale, Webster Groves, and John G. Gale Jr., whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Gale, live in Tullahoma, Tenn., she will sail on the United States June 8.

Graduating Class to Be Honored.

THE 54 MEMBERS of the senior class of St. Louis Country Day School will be honored at a commencement luncheon June 8 at the home of Headmaster and Mrs. Ashby T. Harper, 5 Maryhill, Ladue.

The luncheon will be on the lawn of the Harpers' home beginning at 11:45 o'clock after graduation exercises at the school and a reception in McDonnell Gymnasium.

Annual Party for School of Nursing Friends.

THE FRIENDS of the School of Nursing, St. Louis City Hospital, will give their annual benefit party June 22 in a French setting. The event, to be entitled "The Spirit of St. Louis," will be in the Louis IX Room at Union Station. French flags and provincial banners will be hung about the room and boutiques, or stalls, lining the walls will have unusual gifts on sale. The salesgirls will be in gay dresses.

Mrs. Ralph Cole Hall is general chairman for the affair for which invitations will be mailed late this week. Guests will be asked for 6 o'clock. After dinner, there will be dancing, entertainment and cards. Free parking will be available on the Union Station parking lot.

Assisting Mrs. Hall will be Mrs. Bernhardt W. Klippel and Mrs. George Sterling Elliott, vice chairmen, and Mrs. Thomas M. Sayman and Mrs. Tobin Carlin, honorary chairmen. Other committee heads will be Mrs. Thomas L. Croft and Mrs. Alfred C. Waldemer, entertainment; Mrs. Rudolf Czufin and Mrs. Drennan Bailey, decorations; Mrs. George Wyatt Greene, menu; Mrs. Ben J. Frederick, Mrs. Henry Frost Chadeayne and Mrs. James M. Macnish, tickets; Mrs. Bernard F. Dickmann and Mrs. Donald Gunn, prizes; Mrs. Henry M. Van Hook and Mrs. Jerome I. Simon, invitations; Mrs. Joseph E. Dodson and Mrs. Elliott, refreshments; Mrs. Klippel and Mrs. Eugene A. Erker, boutiques, and Mrs. Carlin, reservations.

Mrs. Whittington joined the travelers as they motored to Wilmington, Del., where they toured Winterthur, the DuPont museum. After a tour of other eastern points of interest, including Williamsburg, Va., Mrs. Whittington returned home and the others came here. Mr. Whittington's mother, Mrs. John S. and mail to CASH-CROSSWORDS, Box 648, Central Station, St. Louis 88, Mo. Or bring it to the puzzle box in the Post-Dispatch lobby, 12th and OLIVE Streets. Contestants who DRIVE to 12th & Olive will PLEASE OBSERVE PARKING REGULATIONS.

NOTE: The Associated Newspapers, originator of this puzzle, have mailed the correct answers directly to the Mercantile Trust Company, St. Louis, where they will be kept sealed in the vault until after 9 a.m. Thursday. The St. Louis Post-Dispatch did not prepare this puzzle and does not have the answers in advance. The Official Rules of the contest are as follows:

1. Solve this puzzle as you would work any crossword puzzle, printing in the blank spaces the missing letters to form the word which you believe BEST fits the definition.
2. Fill in your name and complete address on the entry form, and print the first letter of your last name in the square indicated. Then cut along the dotted lines and paste the complete entry on a 3-cent postcard. Address the postcard to CASH-CROSSWORDS, Box 648, Central Station, St. Louis 88, Missouri.
3. All entries for Puzzle No. 38 must be received not later than 9 A.M., Thursday, June 1st. Entries may be mailed or may be delivered in person to the Cash-Crosswords box in the Post-Dispatch lobby, 12th and OLIVE Streets.
4. $29,500 in cash will be paid for the correct solution to Puzzle No. 38. If more than one contestant submits the correct solution, the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If no correct solution is received, the cash award for Puzzle No. 39 will be $30,500.
5. Only correctness of solution will count, not decorations. There is only ONE answer that in the judges' opinion is the BEST word to fit the definition of each clue. Decisions of the judges are final, and all contestants agree to accept those decisions as a condition of entry.
6. There is no limit to the number of entries a contestant may submit, except that no more than five facsimile copies of each puzzle will be accepted from any contestant. All facsimiles must be accurately hand-drawn directly on the backs of 3-cent postcards. No carbon copies or reproductions made by mechanical processes will be accepted. It is not necessary to buy the Post-Dispatch to compete in this contest.
7. Any resident of Missouri, Arkansas or Illinois (excluding Cook County) may enter the contest except (1) employes of The Pulitzer Publishing Company, its advertising agency and members of their households; (2) any person who has won $1,000 or more in any previous newspaper contest. No more than one prize will be awarded to the residents of any one household.
8. Names of winners if any, and the correct solution to Puzzle No. 38 will be published in the Post-Dispatch Sunday, June 4. A new puzzle will appear on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, June 4, 5 and 6.
9. Each contestant who submits the correct solution to a Cash-Crosswords Puzzle agrees to certify (1) that the answers were not obtained from any source outside of the contestant's household and (2) that the contestant has not acted for or in collaboration with any person who is not eligible to compete in this contest.
10. The Post-Dispatch is not responsible for entries that are lost, that arrive too late, that are incorrectly filled out or illegible. It also reserves the right to correct typographical errors and to discontinue the contest at its discretion.
11. A $100.00 BONUS WILL BE PAID FOR THE CORRECT SOLUTION IF IT IS SUBMITTED ON A POSTCARD AND NOT INCLOSED IN AN ENVELOPE. If there is more than one winner the $100.00 bonus will be equally divided.

Martha Carr's
OPINION

Dear Martha:

SOME MONTHS AGO I wrote to you for a girl friend and your advice was wonderful. You suggested that she not go through with a divorce which she had planned. My girl friend is now back with her husband who says he loves her and wants to stay with her and their children, but he is still seeing "the other woman." Of course, he does not admit it but she knows it. She wants to stay with him but she tells me it pains her to see him apparently unable to break away from this woman who seems to have some sort of a hold on him.

MORE ADVICE PLEASE.

Your friend should tell her husband at this point that she has been as patient as a wife could be expected to be and that the time has come for the husband to put this other woman out of his life. His children deserve a father with more principle and considerably more backbone. A clean break with the other woman is the only way for this man to regain his self-respect.

Dear Martha:

THE TRUTH of the working-wife situation is that too many men simply cannot support their wives. Women marry just anything to get a husband and then pay for their marriage by going to work. They'd rather work than stay single.

ONE WHO ERRED.

We've had enough about working wives for a while. Let's get on to something less controversial like recipes for getting along with mothers-in-law.

Dear Martha Carr:

VERY OFTEN you have letters in your column from new people who have come to St. Louis to work and want to find a club to join. We'd like to say that there's a new club at the County Branch Y.W.C.A., 140 North Brentwood boulevard, for single young men and women with college training who enjoy discussing interesting topics and meeting new people. It's called "The College Exes Club" and meetings are held on the first and third Thursday of each month at 7:45 p.m. We have all sorts of activities and the programs for summer will have an outdoor aspect. Anyone interested in joining or visiting may call the County Branch Y.W.C.A., PArkview 5-7203, for further information.

COLLEGE EXES CLUB.

Dear Martha:

I AM PREGNANT and unmarried. The father refuses to marry me. Can I make him pay the doctor's bills? Could you tell me what unwed mothers like myself can do?

IN TROUBLE.

Never mind worrying about making the father of your child pay the doctor's bills. The important thing now is to see that you receive adequate care. I would suggest that you contact either the Catholic Family Service, 4140 Lindell boulevard, phone FRanklin 1-4980; or the Salvation Army Booth Memorial Hospital, 3740 Marine avenue, PRospect 3-0980.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DISILLUSIONED ATTENDANT": Please again contact Martha Carr at the Post-Dispatch. Phone MAin 1-1111. I need your help.

Joseph G. Molner, M.D.
Tuberculosis Treatment

DEAR DR. MOLNER: Can you briefly outline the presently accepted treatment for tuberculosis?

In addition: Is there any test that produces a definite 'yes or no' as to whether a person has tuberculosis? Who in the medical field is best qualified to decide? A radiologist? Lung specialist? Diagnostician? Can tuberculosis be successfully treated in the home, with progress monitored by some state or other agency?

M. D.

I'm glad to see questions about TB because, from where I sit, I can see so clearly that this may be an "old-fashioned" disease but it is still a dreadfully important one, too often a deadly one, and not still taken seriously enough by the public.

2—Treatment for the germ itself. Usually the drugs are streptomycin, para-amino-salicylic acid (known as PAS) and isoniazid. These are used in pairs, two at a time, because there is a danger that the TB germ can develop resistance to one. If this occurs, a different pair of drugs is used. If there is resistance to all three, then we must resort to other drugs, such as pyrizinamide, cycloserine and others.

3—Treatment is prolonged from nine to 12 months generally. I wish that everybody in the world would realize and believe that a patient can't safely be allowed to go home—for his safety and that of his family and acquaintances— as soon as he "feels better."

4—Surgical removal of a lung or part of a lung (parts that have been too severely penetrated and damaged) is wise, and sometimes necessary. Likewise collapse of a lung (to let it rest) may be required. Today, this is done by removal of ribs; injecting air into the chest cavity is seldom done now.

5—Treatment of any other conditions, ranging from poor nutrition to diabetes, heart conditions or other chronic troubles, is a must.

6—And after treatment, the patient MUST—and this is an important MUST—be observed at regular intervals. Under average circumstances, even after good treatment, one patient in 20 will have a relapse. This must be discovered at once.

For the other questions: There is no single test that will give a "yes-or-no answer" as to whether TB is present. But with whatever variety of tests may be necessary, you can depend on the ultimate answer being correct. Sometimes this involves tests to rule out the presence of other ailments that superficially are similar.

A lung specialist would be the best qualified person to judge—but some lung specialists are outstanding X-ray specialists (radiologists), too—and both are diagnosticians of high order.

Most authorities agree that a hospital or sanatorium is the right place for TB until a case is under control. It could be done in the home—if the home has all the equipment, skills and conditions afforded by a hospital. But what home does?

Modern treatment has materially shortened the period of confinement for tuberculosis with effective results.

Kennedy's Birthday—On the Run

By Merriman Smith

WASHINGTON, May 29 (UPI)

PRESIDENT KENNEDY REACHED his forty-fourth birthday today with the driving motion of a man about to slide for home plate.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY

Mr. Kennedy, youngest man ever elected President, probably feels considerably older as he contemplates the emotional and physical labors immediately ahead.

His birthday consisted of a few hours at Hyannis Port and an afternoon trip into Boston for another gargantuan birthday party staged by the proud, fund-raising Democrats of his native state. Political duties over, he'll fly back to Hyannis Port after the Boston affair for a few hours sleep.

Tomorrow he moves on to New York for a late afternoon talk with Israeli Prime Minister David Ben Gurion and a long-promised speech that night for the Eleanor Roosevelt Foundation for Cancer Research. And again, it will be a matter of rushing from the speech to Idlewild airport for the jet plane and a night flight to Paris.

Then follows his debut in the major leagues of personal diplomacy—three days of talks, banquets and parades with French President Charles de Gaulle; two days of probing, tightrope conversations in Vienna with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev; a day in London divided between the christening of a sister-in-law's baby, lunch with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and dinner with Queen Elizabeth at Buckingham Palace. Then home. Theoretically.

The doubt concerning the implied pleasures of returning "home" to the White House is based on the probability that the 44-year-old President will have no surcease from his grinding pressures when he gets back from Europe.

MEN OF HIGH STATION live lifetimes without encountering the crises that have buffeted Mr. Kennedy in the little over four months since his inauguration. The recession at home . . . Congo . . . Laos . . . South Viet Nam . . . Cuba . . . Montgomery, Ala.

His physician, Dr. Janet Travell, says he has withstood the pressures well; that his basic health remains excellent. She would, however, like to see him get more rest, relaxation and exercise. Which is rather like saying it would be nice if the Washington summers were much cooler.

Long before Mr. Kennedy reached the White House, he was anything but a relaxed person. Today, even while slouched in the famous office rocking chair, his fingers drum constantly on the arm of the chair. When he's riding in an automobile, his hand can be seen constantly tapping the top of the back seat. When he's delivering a speech, he frequently taps one foot, then the other.

He plays golf in the same sort of hurry. At times he seems to hit tee shots without standing still. He plows through numerous newspapers, magazines and books as if he feared an oncoming curfew on reading.

The President is constantly on the move around his office. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower went through eight years in the same office, using only the chair at his desk. Mr. Kennedy may pop in and out of as many as six chairs in an hour. He frequently signs his mail standing up.

Staying more or less in motion during most of his waking hours does not, however, seem to diminish or hamper the intense concentration with which he attacks his work. Nor does his constant game of non-musical chairs interfere with his surprising powers of retention and his ability to seize quickly not only the sense, but much of the detail in complicated, laboriously written Government reports.

HE WORKS LONG HOURS not entirely as a matter of necessity, but what seems to be zest for the attack on ever-mounting problems of the Presidency. Physically, the work load does not seem to bother him, but there are some slight changes in appearance of which he's possibly not aware.

He put on weight during the election campaign and in the pre-inaugural period in Palm Beach, Fla. Friends say he seems about 10 or 15 pounds heavier than last July at the Democratic nominating convention.

There are times when new lines around his eyes seem quite noticeable, but this frequently is in the morning. He does not like getting up early and can be seen on some mornings rushing for his office shortly after 9 o'clock with the furrowed dedication of a scholar late for class.

Blessedly for him, the ceaseless bumps of the Presidency do not seem to have harmed Mr. Kennedy's sense of humor. He can gibe at himself, his problems and his Administration and there's frequent laughter among the closer White House staff members as they relay some of his wry quips about tribulations of his job.

This is not to say that he has been without dark moments in the Presidency. He was shocked and angered by the fiasco in Cuba. The race riots in Alabama produced a monstrous problem, but there was some assurance in his knowing that he was tackling the volatile racial flare-up shoulder-to-shoulder with a man in whom he has utmost confidence, his brother, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy.

His birthday would for most men of his age be a time not only for celebration, but reflection. He'll probably have little time for either form of observance. Even sitting on the sunny porch of his graceful old Cape Cod home, Mr. Kennedy will be a man in motion.

IT DOESN'T? THE SOVIETS DON'T WANT PEACE IN SOUTHEAST ASIA. THEY WANT SOUTHEAST ASIA. NEARLY HALF THE WORLD'S POPULATION LIVES THERE.
THE AREA AROUND SOUTH VIETNAM IS THE RICE BASKET OF THE ORIENT, AND OF VITAL STRATEGIC IMPORTANCE. IF IT GOES TO THE COMMUNISTS, SO MAY THE REST OF ASIA... THAILAND, INDIA, JAPAN, EVEN AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND.

Uncle Ray's Column

The Warming Space Race

Awards of the World Book Encyclopedia to classrooms will be renewed in September when classes reconvene. Meanwhile, teachers and pupils who send in sets of questions during the summer months will have their questions considered by Uncle Ray for World Book awards after the vacation period.

By Ramon Coffman

THE WORLD is in a space race that grows "warmer" with passing time. Russia is ahead right now, but the United States may go to first place during the next few years.

The United States has been the only western nation to enter the competition so far. It is possible that other nations, say Great Britain or France, will take part in the future.

It is said that the Space Age opened in October 1957 when Russia sent the first artificial satellite, Sputnik I, into orbit. A second satellite was launched by the Russians the next month.

The United States put a satellite into orbit less than four months after the launching of Sputnik I. Since then, the United States has made a greater number of satellite launchings, and several of these have carried more advanced scientific instruments than any satellite launched by Russia.

Two years ago, Russia sent a rocket into space, and stated that it went into orbit around the sun. The United States performed a similar feat a few months later.

Russian photographs showing the "other side of the moon" have been accepted by scientists. The Russians aimed a rocket at Venus, and a few weeks later reported a manned rocket trip around the earth. This was followed by a successful, televised American ascent to a height of about 115 miles by Comdr. Allan Shepard Jr.

Q. How can the United States pass Russia?

A. In my opinion, the United States should do the necessary things to send a rocket to circle Mars and return to earth. Then, perhaps, American astronauts could go to Mars for a landing.
